Can write to: Papers of Robert Morris
E. James Ferguson, Editor
100 Broadway
New York, N.Y. 10018

He is compiling information on all available Morris papers, including those at library of Congress. The papers are being published as a historical project.
You may want to write to him anyway as he would probably be interested to Library of Congress is such a big place

- takes up 3 blocks - that it takes nearly a day to find out what you might want to see. So I went there on a preorientation. The Manuscript Division (where the Morris papers are) was closed on Sunday, but before I left I called the reference librarian in that Division.

These are entries from the main card catalog and may duplicate some you already have - I just copied in batches, and you can throw out what you don't want. Does your Angeles librarian
