Grand prize for most original pet in any classification went to Bernard Slade whose fox terrier was dressed like a nobleman on parade. All the awards were made on the basis of most applause received and the applause was clocked for accuracy.

Wednesday night a large crowd turned out for the pan cake supper put on by the Grange. Several persons later took part in the square dance contest. Thursday night the attraction is a radio quiz show under direction of Howard Haggstrom and Paul Sisson. Friday night the High School Band will play and the 'Year of Decision' Arrives for U.S.

America Alone in Struggle To Save Western Ideologies

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator

WASHINGTON.—Cartoonists and others have titled 1948 "the year of decision." It is a pretty good title. The only trouble is that America's most important decision has already been made, and nobody seems to realize it. We know that the British empire has broken up, but, aside from the fact that there is some grumbling about losing money to the British, it doesn't seem to concern us very much.

In the current issue of the United Nations World magazine, the British historian and author, D. W. Brogan, has an article entitled "The British Sheds No Tears for Their Lost Empire." In it, he says:

In the nineteenth century, the progress of English was in close association with the spread of a general political and economic religion of all sensible men. The Bank note, the free trade, parliamentary government all increased in their range of influence together. And the English looked on what was largely their work—and their profit—and found it good. They were satisfied with what they had accomplished.

"It is natural enough, today, when this world situation has changed in the take pretty calmly the decline of England's historical position of English ideas, land. If the spread of English ideas, practices, and profits has ceased, why worry—unless you are English."

Temporarily, at least that much of the carefully-planned Soviet program failed. But new steps are being planned. A part of the pattern of communism is Communist alliance with the left-wing non-Communists. The Reds cooperate with the non-Reds, help them bring about their objectives, then slowly dominate and absorb them. One method used by Reds to get rid of non-Communist left-wing government is to help a reactionary government into power. Such a reactionary government suppresses the non-Communist left-wingers, and pushes those surviving deeper into Communist toils.

That is where the Wallace third party fits into the Kremlin design. The Reds hope it will split and weaken the liberals in this country, increase the friction between them and the conservatives as much as possible, and the conservatives to get into power. Then when the reaction sets in, the conservatives will be thrown out, and the well-organized Communists can take over easily.

Greece is a testing point in the Russian-American struggle. The only way in which the Communist internal aggression there could be checked was for Britain and the

NEWS REVIEW

Slump Possible: Truman; Cite Air Power Need

In this season of presidential reports to the nation the alarm bells were jangling for everything, from the state of the entire world to the frayed condition of John Doe's back pocket.

And through his "Semi-Annual Economic Report of the President," Mr. Truman sounded the gong ominously on a new note: The impending peril of economic disaster in the U. S.

The nation's economy, he said, is operating on borrowed time and inflation-ridden Americans are operating on borrowed money in a situation flirting with depression.

Millions of persons in the low-income groups, his report pointed out, now are keeping the inflation carousel whirling by liquidating their savings, reducing their current savings and by extensive use of consumer credit.

"Such use of savings for current living expenses is an ominous sign serious danger of atomic attack will exist."

On that premise the group recommended that the government start now to spend on the air force in 1948 1.3 billion dollars more than the 2.85 billion currently scheduled for this calendar year, and that in 1949 the total be raised still another 1.3 billion dollars.

For actual air strength the commission said that by 1942 the U. S. should command a total of 12,000 first-line planes, plus more than 6,000 held in reserve.

Although it was extremely unlikely that the air policy commission's recommendations would be adopted in toto by this or any other peacetime congress, where emphasis belonged. Everyone has been aware that air power is mandatory if the U. S. is to have any degree of national security in an era of feverish atomic bomb production, and the

Milk Products Help In Conserving Grain

Better Rations Result When Proteins Are Used

With a world grain emergency and a national drive to conserve grain used in feeding, and with grain prices high, milk by-products are more important than ever in poultry feeding.

Balanced rations probably can do more to conserve grain used in feeding than any other single measure. Milk nutrients found in skim milk, buttermilk and dried cheese whey have been found highly effective in building balanced poultry rations. These milk by-products provide animal proteins of unusual quality. The milk proteins, lactalbumen and casein, have a high growth promoting value and contain all the essential amino acids. These proteins give balance to the lower quality vegetable protein in grains normally fed poultry.

Milk by-products are rich in lactose, or milk sugar, a natural laxative which helps poultry maintain good intestinal health and minimizes the hazards of intestinal parasites. These milk by-products also provide minerals, particularly calcium and phosphorus and contain the water soluble vitamins of whole milk.

And today, another and stronger force is gaining power, and there is nobody to stop it but the United States.

When a British official in London said "every means short of war" would be used "by the British and American governments to keep Greece within their own strategic and ideological orbit," it didn't make much of a ripple outside of Washington. But it was a statement of tremendous import, for it means that the Truman doctrine was not just a phrase, that its implementation is now certain. It means that the people responsible for the destiny of the United States know that the year of decision is here, the decision having been made not in Washington, but in the Kremlin, just as the decision to fight Japan was made, not in Washington, but in the office of one squat little man now awaiting a death sentence in Tokyo, one Hideki Tojo, former premier of Japan.

Partisans Succeeded in Soviet Sphere

Today it is fashionable to make funny cartoons about the "third party" announced in December by Henry Wallace. Yet that third party fits neatly into a plan to wreck our way of life, the plan, another part of which was the careful coaching by the Kremlin of the "partisan" fighters in World War II. The partisans were formed, first to help beat down one of the Soviet's enemies, but they also were groomed to destroy representative government in their respective countries.

The partisans were most successful in the countries nearest Russia, in territory where the Red army, in the guise of allies fighting a common enemy, gained a foothold which they kept when peace came, and which was used to put their trained stooges into power.

In Italy and France, they were unable to capture completely the partisan or resistance movements. But they did get a grip on both countries which neither France nor Italy dared throw off until the United States made a tacit condition of aid. The expulsion of the Communist parties from both governments.

unless the Russians are driven back to their old borders, and the Balkan states, Poland and Finland are freed of Russian domination. They say there is only one thing that will have effect: A threat by the United States to use force.

How important is it that the U. S. have a potent, efficient air force? Virtually a matter of life or death. The President's air policy commission which recently reported on the status of the nation's air strength.

Immediate and substantial enlargement of the air force for "survival in the air age" was urged by the commission; and, January 1, 1953, was set as "A-day," or the ultimate date when the U. S. might consider itself relatively secure against atomic attack.

After "A-day," the commission intimated, it will be anybody's ball game as far as airborne atom bombs are concerned. "The air force is hopelessly wanting in respect of the future... when a

Productivity Depends Upon Organic Matter

The soil's ability to produce crop yields needed to feed millions depends on its organic matter supply. Soils rich in organic matter are good "sponges" soaking up and holding water. Organic matter helps soil structure, improves soil fertility, helps plant roots get more from the soil. Use lime, containing phosphorus and potassium, to get good catches of legumes.

Plan African 'Disease Safari'

Armed with microscopes instead of 16-inch guns, naval medical scientists are preparing for a new sort of African safari on which they will study some of the diseases native to the dark continent.

The navy medical group will accompany the African expedition being sponsored by University of California, hence will have the duty of providing medical service to the university paleontologists and anthropologists who will cover most of Africa this year seeking traces of primitive man and apes.

For their own purposes the navy doctors will study such native diseases as African sleeping sickness, bilharzia or snail fever, plague, scrub typhus, yellow fever and malaria. They also will scrutinize a number of parasites which inhabit human beings, for instance the particular form of hookworm in Mozambique, Portuguese East Africa. To pursue their studies the group will have to trap and shoot animals which are the disease carriers. Among these are the rodent-carriers of bubonic plague, the zebra, deer, gazelle, elan and possibly lions, tigers and leopards which are believed to be reservoirs of African sleeping sickness.

Most of these animals have not been used in research by American medical scientists before because animals which are potential disease carriers are not allowed to be imported. If they should escape captivity they might introduce an entirely new series of diseases into the United States.

There are particular regulations, for example, against the fruit bat, a known carrier of malaria, which, if once established here, would destroy citrus fruits. The fruit bat, however, is highly regarded by medical scientists as a laboratory animal because it can be easily raised in captivity. It is possible that certain phases of the malaria cycle now entirely understood could be worked out through study of it.

THE FICTION CORNER

WILL OF THE WIND

By WILLIAM BRANDON

MRS. HACKETT found her in the bedroom crying. She stood in the doorway and said grimly: "I came in to borrow some sugar, Sylvia. The door was open so I just walked in. Now what on earth's wrong with you?"

Sylvia sat up and dried her eyes. Her starched gingham skirt was wrinkled and her black hair was tangled and disordered. A curling strand of it hung down beside her nose like an ink stain. A pin had come out of her imitation lace collar and it had fallen down to catch in the red buckle at her waist. She said shakily, "Hello, Mrs. Hackett. Nothing."

Mrs. Hackett drew down the corners of her mouth. "Nothing, my foot. It's because of Chip wanting to pull up stakes and go to Canton. Isn't it? Of course it is."

Sylvia slapped the lock of hair out of her eyes. "I won't be a boomer's wife!" she flared. "I won't!"

"Mm," Mrs. Hackett said sourly. "'A boy's will is the wind's will.' That's a poem. It's the truest thing in the world. Don't do no good to fight against it. Remember that and you'll have it easier."

"I won't be a boomer's—b-boomer's wife! I won't drag around to one mill after another all my life, and never have anything, no home, and no—no nothing! I won't!"

"Well, it's his job, if he wants to throw it away."

"It isn't! It's just as much mine as it is his! I don't believe in that old idea that a woman's just a—slave, to follow a man around at whatever he happens to want to do!"

"Oh, you don't," Mrs. Hackett said. "And just what can you do

"Why?" Sylvia wailed. "What did you do?"

"Well," Mrs. Hackett said, "you can take it for what it's worth, Sylvia. It worked with Mr. Hackett, I know that."

"But what was it?"

"Whenever he worked himself up to a pitch about cutting loose and chasing away some place after something he thought was better, I simply gave him his way."

Sylvia looked disappointed and puzzled. "Oh."

"But," Mrs. Hackett said profoundly, "he didn't know it. I took him on a trip. Just a week or so. And I kept him on the jump every minute of it. I always liked little trips around, anyway. Well, by the time that man would get home again he'd be so tired of jumping

They were gone six days. Each day Sylvia had them up and driving at daylight and she kept on the job, circulating the tickets at the next stop until late at night. She called upon Chip to stop often at roadside stands where she purchased carved ornaments and bumpy pottery.

She piled him with hot dogs, soft drinks and had coffee. She was surprised and delighted at the glazed look that appeared in his eyes on the third day.

Mrs. Hackett came over the day after they returned. She said, "Well!" and paused expectantly, holding the cup of sugar in both hands.

"He went back to work today," Sylvia said. There was a listless note in her voice. "He hasn't said anything about going to Canton for days."

"Mm! And what did he say when he got home?" She pursed her lips. "That he never thought it would look so good to him!"

Sylvia nodded. She sat down on a kitchen chair and swung one foot and watched it pensively. "Just exactly," she said.

slave, to follow a man around at whatever he happens to want to do!"

"Oh, you don't," Mrs. Hackett said. "And just what can you do about it?"

Sylvia bowed her head and scrubbed unhappily at her cheeks with her handkerchief. "I don't know," she sobbed.

"Of course you don't. You're nothing but a child," Mrs. Hackett sniffed. "You'd be twenty years finding out what to do and by that time it's too late to do you any good. Unless there's somebody around to tell you to begin with. Somebody who knows."

Sylvia was not impressed. "What could you tell me, Mrs. Hackett? What could anyone do? I've argued with him until I'm almost crazy but he—he doesn't even listen any more. He's got his mind set on moving on, to something different that won't be any different at all, and then he'll want to go again, and—"

"A boy's will is the wind's will," said Mrs. Hackett. "That's what the poem says. It's just as true of a man or an old man, for that matter. The older they get the truer it gets, I reckon. Only they kind of give up trying to do anything about it after so long a time." She pushed up her lower lip and looked down her nose at Sylvia. "Like Mr. Hackett."

Sylvia looked up, startled. "You mean Mr. Hackett used to—want to—"

"He was the hardest man to hold down in this town. He got tired of everything, that was his trouble. It's a sort of laziness, that's all it is. But he stuck here. He stuck, all right."

around that he wouldn't have left for a pension. That," Mrs. Hackett said, "is something you find out about men, Sylvia. They like to start but they like getting back a whole lot more."

Sylvia said doubtfully. "It doesn't sound like Chip would—"

"Maybe he wouldn't. I'm the last person in the world to try to give folks advice, Sylvia. Nobody wants it and I guess everyone has to see his own seam anyway. But Mr. Hackett says they're shutting down for a week for the millwright's gang, and if Chip was to spend that week in a car bouncing along from one place to another, without even a chance to catch his breath . . . Well, 'a boy's will is the wind's will,' and the wind can change in a minute."

"But what if he wouldn't want to go?"

"Mm. You tell him you want a little vacation before you move to Canton. If he thinks you've given in about that he'll take you. You try it and see."

They went up into Michigan, west to Wisconsin, down through Minnesota and Iowa and St. Louis to Memphis, east to Knoxville and up through Louisville to come home.

Sylvia stopped swinging her foot and rested her chin on her hands. She sighed and said, "Only of this town, I guess. I was just thinking when my car came back yesterday and it looked so . . . so old and so shabby and dull and tiresome . . . and I thought that we'll spend all our lives here."

Mrs. Hackett drew back and regarded her and then said again defensively. "You're just tired, Sylvia."

Sylvia looked up and her eyes were sparkling. "But I'm not," she said. "I had a wonderful time."

WAS THIS THE MOST CHARMING WOMAN?

You can pick up almost any woman's magazine and read an article about the most charming woman that ever lived. One writer will select a movie actress like Ingrid Bergman. Another writer will point to the fact that the Duchess of Windsor is the most charming, magnetic woman. Imaginative writers go all the way back to Cleopatra in making their nominations.

It seems to me, however, that if everything considered, the most charming woman who ever lived was not a movie actress, an Egyptian queen, or the heroine of a popular novel. She was instead a middle-aged woman who lived in Paris around the middle of the Nineteenth century.

Her name was Madame Recamier, and although she left behind nothing but an exquisite legend "as of a rose that had bloomed for a while in a garden and vanished," men and women still praise her.

The secret of Madame Recamier's charm was that she put herself always in the other person's place. "She was an enchanting listener," one of her admirers said. She was. She rarely spoke herself. But she did something far more important—she contrived to make you say bright and witty things.

She had tremendous tact. When you called at her home, she smiled graciously, made you feel more welcome than you'd ever felt anywhere before. She wasn't flowery or extravagant about it. It was the way she said what she said rather than the words she used.

One of her friends, the great French author Sainte-Beuve, wrote on the day after her death, "She would have liked to stop everything at April—her heart remained at early Spring."

What did she offer these persons that they loved her so? Not wealth. Hers was lost. Not position. She lived in a four-room flat. Then what? The sheer charm and power of a perfect personality.

Jeanne Francoise Recamier was her full name. She lived in Paris from 1777 to 1848. To this day writers want to set up a standard of charm and personality, they choose her as their model.

Yorkshire Steak. (Serves 8)
 1 1/2 pounds brisket
 1 1/2 pounds Yorkshire Pudding
 1/2 cup salt and pepper
 1/2 cup water
 1/2 cup vinegar
 2 tablespoons catsup

Have picnic shoulder boned and rolled. Season with salt and pepper. Place fat side up on roaster pan, and bake in a moderate oven allowing 40 to 45 minutes to the pound for baking. Combine other ingredients and cook together for 5 minutes. Serve with roast.

Menu III.
Tomato Juice
Savory Meat Loaf
Green Peppers Stuffed with Corn
Browned Potatoes
Orange Rolls
Grapefruit Salad
Apple Betty with Hard Sauce
Chocolate Souffle

All the items in the above menu are extremely inexpensive, and even if you are busy they are easy to prepare.

Savory Meat Loaf. (Serves 8)
 2 pounds ground beef
 1 egg, slightly beaten
 1/4 cup minced onion
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
 1 1/4 cups condensed vegetable soup
 2 cups bread crumbs
 1/2 cup fat

Mix ingredients thoroughly in the order given, with the exception of the fat. Shape into loaf and place in a pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 1 1/2 hours. Baste meat every 15 minutes with a mixture of the fat and 1 cup boiling water.

If mashed potato topping for meat loaf is desired, swirl on top of loaf when it has finished baking, then run under broiler flame to brown the potatoes.

LYNN SAYS:
Wise Planning Saves Work

Keep a list in an easily accessible place, preferably where you do your best thinking, such as over the sink while washing dishes, and write on it as things occur.

A wise homemaker is never without staples; she replenishes these periodically and never "runs out of things."

Plan your menus when you are hungry. This adds more zest to your meals.

Yorkshire Pudding.
 1 1/2 cups flour
 2 teaspoons baking powder
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 2 eggs
 1 cup milk
 1/2 cup hot beef drippings

Mix together the dry ingredients. Add beaten egg yolks. Add milk and mix well. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a shallow dish containing the beef drippings. Bake in a fairly hot oven for 30 minutes. Cut in squares and serve around the meat.

Cocoa Sponge. (Serves 4-6)
 1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
 1/4 cup cold water
 1/2 cup sugar
 2 tablespoons cocoa
 1/4 cup milk
 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 3 egg whites
 1/4 teaspoon salt

Salted almonds
 Soften gelatin in cold water. Combine sugar and cocoa. Scald milk; gradually add to sugar mixture, mixing constantly. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add vanilla extract.

Season to please your family. It is not economical to prepare food which does not go over with the family.

When you have to make substitutions, choose foods that are the same kind such as cabbage or spinach place of lettuce; another fruit for fresh fruit.

Shop in person and early in day for best quality. Learn to read labels so that you'll know what you expect, how many the producer container serves, and its characteristics.

expensive food but dress it up, company style.

There's a pot roast, for instance, which, done to succulence and tenderness, and garnished with stuffed prunes or spiced crab apples, leaves nothing to be desired.

Or what about a meat loaf? Now there's a good old-fashioned meat dish that can be dressed up beautifully with a fluting of mashed potatoes and served with parashed carrots and glazed onions. Yes, indeed, Short ribs, meat dishes that can come up in tastiness.

Dessert can be made that are very inexpensive, but, put in a mold, they have "company manners." Here are menus to fit the smallest of pupes but they all have style and class.

Veterans' Service News

When a veteran dies, his widow, dependent children or dependent parents should immediately contact the Director of the local Veterans Service Agency or the State Veterans Council for advice and assistance. Among possible financial benefits for which dependents may be eligible are burial allowance, grave markers, Social Security benefits, government insurance, pensions, etc. For some benefits, delay in making application may effect the validity of claims or the amount which may be collected.

Veterans who have service-connected disabilities should file applications for disability benefits at once. The Administration at once will be able to support their claims at the present time than may be possible at a later date. Even though the effects of war service may be very minor and not perceivable at present, on some later date the fact that the veteran has filed a claim and has been given a "G" number will have an effect on his obtaining an award.

In the event of death of his dependent veteran, the awards to his dependents may be greater and more easily secured than those which may be obtained by the dependents of a veteran without a service-connected disability.

DEER KILL IN ALLEGANY CO. LESS LAST YEAR

The Conservation Department has added up the results of New York's 1947 deer season and announces a harvest of 17,322 legal bucks, an all time state record for antlered deer alone and a ten per cent increase over the 1946 take.

Actually the unofficial kill, estimated on the usual number of delinquent sportsmen and those who neglect to report their kills at all, was undoubtedly in excess of 20,000.

Even so, the final figure came as something of a surprise to department officials who had anticipated a much greater kill in view of general increased hunting pressure since the end of the war. Commissioner Perry B. Duryea, however, points out that deer hunting suffered a ten-day setback in the Adirondack during the fire season and that thousand of hunters had made plans which failed to materialize and which they were unable to execute.

Ninety per cent of farm dwellings in New York and the Northeast are in excellent condition or need only such minor repairs as painting or general maintenance, the report reveals. Only 73.3 per cent were in good repair in 1940. The report is based on Bureau of the Census surveys.

The rise in farm incomes and property values since 1940 has been accompanied by a great increase in the number of rural homes equipped with such modern conveniences as electric lights, tiled baths and showers and running water," says F. B. Ortman, chairman of the Council's residential construction committee.

Electricity, for instance, has gone into tens of thousands of rural dwellings in this state and others in the Northeastern area since 1940.

816 bucks were taken in Allegany county last year, compared with 893 in 1946.

plowing or snowing it into the already cleared highway presents a menacing hazard to safe winter driving. Police point out that such practices not only constitute a violation of state law, but also create serious traffic hazards. Ostrander, Superintendent of the New York State Department of Public Works, today urges all motorists to cooperate with the department in snow control activities. Two hazardous conditions result from the disposal of snow onto the pavement or plains. Loose snow, thrown or otherwise plowed highway, forms a barrier which can impair the safe operation of a vehicle. Once it has been compacted, he adds, it produces an uneven icy condition which might become an accident potential.

County's Rural Property Shows High Valuation

Farm property in Allegheny county is now worth more than $12,230,000, and rural homes here and throughout the state are in the best condition in history, according to a report just released by the Tile Council of America.

DEER KILL IN ALLEGANY CO. LESS LAST YEAR

The Conservation Department has added up the results of New York's 1947 deer season and announces a harvest of 17,322 legal bucks, an all time state record for antlered deer alone and a ten per cent increase over the 1946 take.
 Actually the unofficial kill, estimated on the usual number of delinquent sportsmen and those who neglect to report their kills at all, was undoubtedly in excess of 20,000.
 Even so, the final figure came as something of a surprise to department officials who had anticipated a much greater kill in view of general increased hunting pressure since the end of the war. Commissioner Perry B. Duryea, however, points

Ninety per cent of farm dwellings in New York and the Northeastern states are in excellent condition or need only such minor repairs as painting or general maintenance, the report reveals. Only 73.3 per cent were in good repair in 1940. The report is based on Bureau of the Census surveys.
 The rise in farm incomes and property values since 1940 has been accompanied by a great increase in the number of rural homes equipped with such modern conveniences as electric lights, tiled baths and showers and running water," says F. B. Ortman, chairman of the Council's residential construction committee.
 Electricity, for instance, has gone into tens of thousands of rural dwellings in this state and others in the Northeastern area since 1940.

Ortman notes. More than 85 per cent of such farm homes now have electric lights, in contrast to 63.9 per cent in 1940.
 More than 64 per cent of rural dwellings in the Northeastern region today have running water, and 43.5 per cent have private baths, according to the Tile Council report. In 1940, 46.1 per cent had running water and only 29.5 per cent private baths.

Conserve Grain, Prevent Waste

Preventing waste is still the best way to save grain, says Allegany County Agricultural Agent V. C. Stevenson. Feed lost through waste increases cost of production, and is an inexcusable loss of food needed for relief abroad.
 Agent Stevenson urges all Allegany county farmers to cooperate fully in the Grain Saving Program of the State Food Commission and the New York State Extension Service to prevent waste.

 Careful handling of feed from the bin to the feeder can save several precious pounds of grain over a period of time, he says. And not filling feeders too full will prevent spoilage as animals or poultry eat, he says.
 Rats cause some of the most serious waste, because they spoil so much more feed than they actually eat. He recommends poisoning to get rid of rats, and rat-proofing and cleanup of premises to keep them out. He can supply full directions on use of poisons to kill rats without danger to other livestock.
 Other forms of waste to watch are insect and weather damage to stored feeds, according to Agent Stevenson.

DEER KILL IN ALLEGANY CO. LESS LAST YEAR

The Conservation Department has added up the results of New York's 1947 deer season and announced a harvest of 77,322 legal bucks, an all-time state record for antlered deer since the 1946 take.

Actually the unofficial kill, estimated on the usual number of frequent sportsmen and those who neglect to report their kills at all, was undoubtedly in excess of 20,000.

Even so, the final figure came as something of a surprise to department officials who had anticipated a much greater kill in view of general increased hunting pressure since the end of the war. Commissioner Perry B. Duryea, however, pointed out that deer hunting suffered a ten-day setback in the Adirondack during the fire season and that thousands of hunters had made plans which failed to materialize and which they were unable to change.

As in 1946, the Southern Tier and adjacent western counties reported the greatest kill, 6,482 bucks. The Adirondack area ran second with 5,094, but noted an increase of 1,197 deer over the previous year. The Catskill area was third with 4,787, a jump of 427 over 1946.

876 bucks were taken in Allegany county last year, compared with 893 in 1946.

Snow Disposal on Already Cleared Highway Pavements Creates a Menace

Disposal of snow from private roads, driveways and sidewalks by plowing or shoveling it onto the already cleared highway pavements constitutes a menacing hazard to safe winter driving. It is pointed out that such practices not only create serious traffic hazards but also in violation of state law. Ostrander, Superintendent of Highways and Maintenance of public

Disposal of snow from private roads, driveways and sidewalks by plowing or shoveling it onto the already cleared highway pavement constitutes a menacing hazard to safe winter driving. Power plows that such practices not only create serious traffic hazards but also in violation of state law.

Ostrander, Superintendent of Road and Maintenance of Public Works, today urges all motorists to cooperate with the department in snow control activities. Two hazardous conditions may result from the disposal of snow on snow onto the pavement on plains. Loose snow, the forms otherwise plowed highways safe a barrier which can impact in the operation of a vehicle. Or, it does an uneven icy condition which might become an accident.

That's a lot of wire! More than enough, in fact, to reach from your home to Australia. Yet it has all been added since the beginning of 1946.

Thousands of additional miles of wire, as well as great quantities of other items such as poles, switchboards and other intricate central office apparatus are still needed to expand the complex telephone system. But increasing supplies, reaching us daily are making it possible to move along rapidly on the biggest construction campaign in our history.

Every day we are that much nearer to our goal—to provide service to everyone when he wants it—and to make the speed and quality of the service better than ever.

Search for Mythical Gold Mine Cost $2,000,000

In 1921 in Sydney, Australia, an eccentric named Harry Lasseter told several promoters how he had discovered a chain of rocks in the back country that contained some $2,000,000 worth of gold says Collier's. Believing the fantastic tale, they organized an expedition and, led by Lasseter, set out to claim the fabulous reef. After a search of many months, the leaders realized it existed only in the man's imagination and returned home. But Lasseter went on—and died of thirst.

Despite the publicity given the hoax, attempts to locate the reef were made later by at least ten other expeditions; and their respective cost something like $2,000,000.

FROM FARM TO FOREST . . . Churches are playing an important role in the concerted effort to improve rural living. Typical are these scenes, taken at the Alpine, Tenn., mission of the Presbyterian church, which operates a forest of 1,500 acres and a farm of 100 acres. The dairy herd (left) in front of the modern barn show the strides made in better agriculture while the sawmill (right) helps make the forest a paying proposition.

Revitalized Country Church Plays Social, Economic Role

By EARLE HITCH
WNU Features.

Long on the road to decline, the country church is being revived as an integral force for re-energizing small rural communities. Acting on the principle that where the community thrives, the church also thrives, all denominations are backing a widespread campaign to revitalize the country church.

Without in any sense departing from the Christian aims of saving souls and preaching redemption, the churches simply are adding an awareness of social and economic responsibility to their mission of salvation. The concerns of the entire community — home, family, farming, health — become the concerns of the community church.

Particularly valuable and instructive as models or demonstrations for study are the community plans being carried out by missions of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches in the mountains of Kentucky and Tennessee. The Presbyterian projects are at Morris Fork and Wooton, Ky., and at Alpine and Big Lick, Tenn. The Methodists have community missions at Frakes, Ky., and Sevierville, Tenn. A larger community project at Blue Springs, Tenn., represents the combined parishes of the Methodists, Disciples of Christ and Presbyterians.

Diverse Projects. All have much in common, but in some things each is unique. Blue Springs... has a...
...who has supplied the leadership which has made Big Lick a better place to live and work.

Promote Health.

One of Big Lick's finest public services is its community health clinic. There is a building specially constructed for it, in a grove adjoining the church yard. A graduate nurse is stationed there to aid in guarding the health of the people and to assist in emergencies.

Big Lick also has a soil conservation program, and is carrying on adult education and demonstrations in fertilizing, crop rotation, better livestock breeding, introduction of new fruits and plants, and good forestry management. Homemaking and home decoration, health and child care are studied by the women. There is also a study of the cooperative movement, and committees are developing plans for future cooperative undertakings, possibly in marketing of home crops, processing and a credit union. Big Lick has its own machinery pool, including a tractor, a hammer mill and a saw mill.

Build Own Church.

Dr. Newton

...Christian-ly, but I can give you an example of it — Dr. Phillips Brooks."

Our lesson for Sunday tells us many things about Jesus, his work of salvation chiefly. But before we can understand what he does, we must look again at who he was and is. We begin with Isaiah 53:1-12. Who can read those majestic words without tears? And then we come to Matthew 1:21. "And thou shalt call his name Jesus, for he shall save his people from their sins." Then go on to read Matthew 5:17-28, Luke 19:1-10, and Hebrews 4:15, 16.

The key verse, it seems to me, in Sunday's lesson is Luke 19:10. "The Son of man came to seek and to save that which was lost." Hold to this key, and every door will open in this lesson.

JESUS HELPS ZACCHAEUS

IN THE first ten verses of the 19th chapter of Luke we have the fascinating story of Jesus calling Zacchaeus down from the tree, forgiving his sins, and entering into his house. The disciples complained that Jesus had gone to lunch with a man that was a sinner. It was then that the Master declared, "The Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost."

Zacchaeus is but an illustration of what Jesus seeks to do for every man. He has not come to save a few, but "whosoever will." He will not force himself upon any man, but he waits in hope of saving every man.

community project at Blue Springs, Tenn., represents the combined parishes of the Methodists, Disciples of Christ and Presbyterians.

Diverse Projects. All have much in common, but in some things each is unique. Blue Springs is the oldest mission, and its area is the largest—some 400 miles square. It has seven churches and four preaching points at neighborhood centers, a cooperative store, an energetic training program in public health and a continuing series of adult education classes in current problems, such as farm machinery repair, soil conservation and home decorations.

All this represents the life work of a great country preacher. He was Paul A. Doran, who went to Blue Springs in 1917 as a divinity school graduate, and died there three years ago after 23 years spent entirely in that community's service.

One of his many lasting services was his homestead plan. He made home buying his personal concern. Through small loans from a nominal sum held in trust by him, the minister made it possible for 20 families in his community to become owners of their own farms.

The pastor at Big Lick is both ardent and articulate in behalf of better rural living. He has known essing and a credit union. Big Lick has its own machinery pool, including a tractor, a hammer mill and a saw mill.

Build Own Church. Wooton community, under the ministry of Benton Denton, has a fine community church and playground, built by the people themselves. In the recreation center the children of the neighborhood have a place to enjoy their games and the whole community has its picnics and outdoor religious gatherings.

Wooton owns a cooperative truck, which provides transportation for the farmers who want to send things to market, and have things bought for them in town. Very few of the people have cars, and their usual means of travel is by mule back.

Wooton also has a circulating library, the beginnings of a demonstration farm, and a training course in handicrafts and cottage industries, for both men and women.

Similar work, especially in health, soil saving and better farming, is going on at Alpine, Morris Fork, Frakes and Sevierville. The programs vary according to local needs and the resources that can be put to use.

Productive Enterprises.

For example, the parish at Alpine is the owner of a forest of 1,500 acres and a farm of 100 acres. A trained forester and an expert farmer make those enterprises produce earnings, and furnish examples for other farm and woodlot owners. The Alpine program is in charge of the head of the mission, the Rev. Bernard M. Taylor, and Mr. Taylor has made the mission responsible for developing the community's full resources through the activities of the citizens themselves, and their labors are being reflected more and more in better health and living.

The same can be said of the communities at Frakes, Morris Fork and Sevierville, all of which have saved a few, but "whoever will." He will not force himself upon any man, but he waits in hope of saving every man.

"The worst" boy in your community will be saved if he will do as Zacchaeus did—leave his sin and believing on the Son of Jesus Christ.

JESUS SAVES ZACCHAEUS PEOPLE

Jesus saved Zacchaeus by forgiving his sins and putting a new attitude in his heart. He had harmed many people, or at least they thought he had. They would not forgive him.

He may not have asked them to forgive him, but when he met Jesus and was changed by the redeeming grace of the Saviour, he proposed to restore fourfold wherever he may have wronged anyone. More than that, Zacchaeus offered to give the half of his goods to the poor. He gave convincing evidence that he was a changed man. So will every man who believes in Jesus.

But we must remember this, Zacchaeus bare his soul to the Saviour in repentance of his sins and believed on him as the Son of God before he manifested a changed attitude.

THE PURPOSE OF JESUS

RECALL again the words of the angel to Joseph, "Thou shalt call his name Jesus, for he shall save his people from their sins." It was to save sinners like Zacchaeus that Jesus came down from heaven and died on the cross. That was and is his purpose.

"He went about doing good, for God was with him," Acts 10:38.

We shall never understand the work of Jesus until we come to see him at work in every age and amongst all mankind to do the will of the Father in saving any and all who will come unto him in faith believing.

He has organized a Big Lick homestead project to aid young men get established on the land, and 27 families have been assisted in buying farms since 1940. An expert trained forester and an expert farmer make those enterprises produce earnings, and furnish examples for other farm and woodlot owners. The Alpine program is in charge of the head of the mission, the Rev. Bernard M. Taylor, and Mr. Taylor has made the community's full resources through the activities of the citizens themselves, and their labors are being reflected more and more in better health and living.

The same can be said of the communities at Frazer, Morris Fork and Sevierville, all of which have vastly improved their ways of living because practical economic plans for conserving the land and finding more useful employment for surplus labor have been made principal aims in the community plan. The pastors, of course, have not neglected their religious duties. They simply have added economic concerns to their other responsibilities.

The next article will tell of the important community development plan now being carried on in five counties centering around Tupelo, Miss. The Tupelo plan is one of the most ambitious that has been undertaken anywhere in the unfolding rural life movement.

Blind Girl Becomes Expert Knitter

LE SUEUR, MINN.—Despite the handicap of being nearly blind, 21-year-old Elaine Heintz can knit as fine a sweater, scarf, or mitten set as any seen in exclusive shops. Her needles click with the speed of a professional craftsman.

Miss Heintz, whose vision failed when she was stricken with spinal meningitis at the age of 5, has made a modest start at setting herself up in business.

With the help of her sister Katherine, she began looking for markets for her work at Christmas time. The search was unexpectedly successful, and she sold 200 of her knitted pieces to Le Sueur residents. Her specialty is colorful potholders.

Miss Heintz acquired her knitting skill at the Minnesota Braille and Sight-Saving school in Faribault, attending her first classes when she was only seven years old.

"SO SEND I YOU"

JESUS calls upon you and upon me and upon every follower of his to accept as the central purpose of our lives the mission of winning lost souls into him. "As the Father hath sent me, so send I you."

I sat in a boat with two prominent business men, fishing in a private lake one afternoon last November. Mr. A. G. Candler of Atlanta and I were guests of Mr. Carr P. Collins of Dallas. We were at his Wild Star farm, a few miles from Dallas. We were talking about the plight of the world. Mr. Collins said: "What is money worth if we think of it apart from the purpose of God? Until we come back to the words of Jesus, 'So send I you,' we cannot hope to improve the sorrowful plight of our frightened day and generation. All men are lost until they come to know him as Saviour."

Let this testimony of one of God's gentlemen be heard and heeded by laymen and preachers alike, and fear will give way to faith, and the kingdoms of this earth will become the kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

DR. PHILIP NEWTON, D.D.

LESSON: 33-44, Matthew 1:1-17; Luke 1:1-20; Hebrews 4:12, 13. READING: Isaiah 53:1-12.

His Work of Salvation

Lesson for February 1, 1948

PROFESSOR WILLIAM JAMES was once asked to give a definition of Christianity. He replied, "I don't know, but I can give you a satisfactory definition of Christianity, but I can give you an example of it—Dr. Phillips Brooks."

Dr. Newton

Our lesson for Sunday tells us many things about Jesus, his work of salvation chiefly. But before we can understand what he does, we must look again at who he was and is. We begin with Isaiah 53:1-12. Who can read those majestic words without tears? And then we come to Matthew 1:21, "And thou shalt call his name Jesus, for he shall save his people from their sins." Then go on to read Matthew 1:17-23, Luke 19:1-10, and Hebrews 4:12, 13.

The key verse, it seems to me, in Sunday's lesson is Luke 19:10, "The Son of man came to seek and to save that which was lost." Hold to this key, and every door will open in this lesson.

HOW IT STARTED

"As nice as pie," or we sometimes say something is "in apple-pie order." Some say that it is because of the way in which a good cook washes an apple pie, coring and quartering the apples and arranging the pieces in methodical order. Others say that it refers to the apple-pie being coming from the French "nappe" pies, because you can't make an apple-pie hot successfully unless you laid the dough very neatly. Some connect the phrase with the old knights who, when fully armed, were said to be armed "cap-a-pie."

SABBATH. The word is from the Hebrew "shabbath," meaning "to rest." Originally sabbath designated only the Jewish day of rest, but its meaning has been extended to include the Christian Sunday.

JESUS HELPS ZACCHAEUS

IN THE first ten verses of the 19th chapter of Luke we have the fascinating story of Jesus calling Zacchaeus down from the tree, forgiving his sins and entering into his house. The disciples complained that Jesus had gone to lunch with a man that was a sinner. It was then that the Master declared, "The Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost."

Zacchaeus is but an illustration of what Jesus seeks to do for every man. He has not come to save a few, but "whosoever will." He will not force himself upon any man, but he waits in hope of saving every man.

The "worst" boy in your community who has been saved — will be saved — only by the word of Jesus, just as he is, and so long as he is, and believing on the Lord Jesus Christ.

use. Productive Enterprises
 For example, the parish at Alpine is the owner of a forest of 1,500 acres and a farm of 100 acres. A trained forester and an expert farmer make these enterprises produce earnings, and furnish examples for other farms and woodlots in the area. The Alpine program is in charge of the Rev. Bernard M. Taylor, and the Rev. Taylor has made the mission Mr. Taylor responsible for developing the community's full resources through the activities of the citizens themselves, and their labors are being reflected more and more in better health and living.

The same can be said of the communities at Frakes, Morris Fork and Sevierville, all of which have vastly improved their ways of living because of practical economic plans for conserving the land and finding more useful employment for surplus labor have been made principal aims in the community plan. The pastors, of course, have not neglected their religious duties. They simply have added economic concerns to their other responsibilities.

The next article will tell of the important community development plan now being carried on in five counties centering around Tupelo, Miss. The Tupelo plan is one of the most ambitious that has ever undertaken anywhere in the unfolding rural life movement.

Bert Knitter

With the help of her sister Kathie, she began looking for marriage for her work at Christmas time. Her search was unexpectedly successful, and she sold 200 of her knitted pieces to Le Sueur residents. Her specialty is colorful potholders. Mrs. Heintz acquired her knitting at the Minnesota Braille and Saving school in Faribault, Minn., where she was one of the first classes when she was seven years old.

THE PURPOSE OF JESUS
 "I shall again tell you the words of the angel to Joseph, 'Thou shalt save his people from their sins.' It was to save sinners like Zacchaeus and died on the cross. That was and is his purpose."
 "He went about doing good, for God was with him," Acts 10:38. We shall never understand the work of Jesus until we come to see him at work in every age and amongst all mankind to do the will of the Father in saving him in faith believing.

"SO SEND I YOU"
 JESUS calls upon you and upon me and upon every follower of his to accept as the central purpose of our lives this mission of winning lost souls unto him. "As the Father hath sent me, so send I you."

I sat in a boat with two prominent business men, fishing in a private lake one afternoon last November. Mr. Asa G. Candler of Atlanta and I were guests of Mr. Carr P. Collins of Dallas. We were at his Wild Briar farm, a few miles from Dallas. We were talking about the plight of the world. Mr. Collins said: "What is money worth if we think of it apart from the purpose of God? Until we come back to the words of Jesus, 'So send I you,' we cannot hope to improve the sorrowful plight of our frightened day and generation. All men are lost until they come to know him as Saviour."

Let this testimony of one of God's gentlemen be heard and heeded by laymen and preachers alike, and fear will give way to faith, and the kingdoms of this earth will become the kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

SUPERVISORS INCREASE OWN PAY ON PER DIEM BASIS

Members of the Board of Supervisors voted Thursday a 25 per cent increase in their own pay on a per diem basis. The increase will be $10 per day for attendance on regular and special sessions of the board and $5 per day for committee work. The vote prevailing for more than 20 years past, except during the depression when the rate was voluntarily a cut per cent on voluntary basis, was $5 per day for board attendance and $4 per day for committee work.

Based on the same number of days attendance and committee sessions in 1947 as were held in 1947, Clark Donald G. Perkins finds that the county pay of board members has increased $215. This is a moderate figure when compared with the $200 annual salary voted in Cattaraugus and Steuben counties, $720 in Livingston, and $400 in Wyoming. Voting the increase has been discussed often outside regular sessions but action postponed in the hope that economic conditions would change and it would not be necessary. It seems probable that the one mileage per week allowed for regular and one daily for committee work will prevail in the future, to be decided at the February session. A half dozen annual reports received without comment on and adopted without dissent. These included that of 4-H Club work, $13,067, and schedule of division of surplus among towns. Going back to Wellsville is $779.47, Cuba, $278.25, Friendship, $248.90, Bolivar, $301.96, Belfast, $169.02, Amity (Belmont), $266.49, Hume, $217.30, others under $200 per town. Surrogate's Court fees amounted to $501.10. The county clerk's office receipts were reported at $22,510 and expenditures, $20,009. The county sealer made 3,523 tests that were correct, 239 condemned, a total of 3,761. A favorable report was made on the county's 146-acre forest with the amount of additions in recent years.

Calculated based on the total and received membership increases under the provisions of the 1947 act. The increase was not applied to the 1947 act. The increase was not applied to the 1947 act. The increase was not applied to the 1947 act.

DECEMBER MILK BRINGS RETURN $5.33 PER CWT.

Dr. C. J. Blandford, market administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area, announces that a uniform price of $5.33 per hundredweight will be paid to dairymen for their December deliveries to 439 pool-approved plants in the New York metropolitan area. In December, 1946, the uniform price was $5.36 per hundredweight. Dr. Blandford at the same time announced that the December producer butterfat differential would be 4.2 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 2.5 per cent standard.

The administrator expects a drop in the average daily deliveries per dairy from 234 pounds in December, 1946, to 247 pounds last month. This, he said, combined with a decrease of 738 producers in the number supplying the pool this year, resulted in a total production 4.24 per cent under a year ago. Receipts from the 44,914 producers making deliveries last month were $43,881,945 pounds, a decrease of 11,605,359 pounds from the 358,407,234 pounds delivered by 45,672 producers in December, 1946.

Sales of fluid milk in December were 9,449,763 pounds under the same month a year ago, dropping from 306,530,827 pounds to 351,681,064 pounds, or 3.14 per cent. Fluid milk consumption in the marketing area—New York city and the counties of Nassau, Westchester and Suffolk—was 1,000,000 gallons from 280,000,000 pounds in December, 1946, to 257,000,000 pounds last month, a decrease of 23,000,000 pounds.

HELP CONSERVE GAS

Be a Friendly Neighbor and Help the Other Fellow NOW

We Request All Consumers to Conserve Gas

Due to the consistently cold weather, which is lasting for such a long time, it has been impossible to maintain the pressure in the distribution system, so that your neighbor who lives farther away from the station, who seem to have plenty of gas to share it with those who may be unable to be even comfortably warm because they live so far from the pressure control stations. PLEASE share your comfort with your less fortunate neighbors during these severe cold spells.

YOU MAY CONSERVE GAS BY:

- Using hot water sparingly.
- If you heat with gas, set your thermostat at 65°—still lower at night.
- Do not use gas range to heat your kitchen.
- Close off rooms not in use: Close bedroom doors at night; place rugs at bottom of doors.
- Postpone laundry work.

Members of the Board of Supervisors voted themselves a higher scale of compensation for their work.

Beginning with the first of this year, supervisors will be paid $10 per day for attendance on regular and special sessions of the board, and $8 per day for committee work. The rate prevailing for more than 20 years past, except during the depression years of the Thirties when a ten per cent cut was voluntarily taken, was $6 per day for board attendance and but $4 per day for committee work.

Based on the same number of days attendance and committee sessions in 1948 as were held in 1947, Clerk Dentil G. Perkins finds that the yearly pay of board members would average $313. This is a moderate figure when compared with the $600 annual salary voted in Cattaraugus and Steuben counties, $750 in Livingston and $900 in Wyoming. Voting the increase has been discussed often outside regular sessions but action postponed in the hope that economic conditions would change and it would not be necessary. It seems probable that the mileage per week allowed for Cattaraugus board, was read and received considerable intensive study in committee but without board action.

Committee work was carried on under the new 1948 assignment of members made by Chairman Francis M. Alvord, but which did not vary in any marked degree from the past year. Important committees have the same chairmen.

Frank W. Williams, Cuba, again announced that a vote on the County Health Plan, defeated in June by a tie vote of 14 to 14, will be brought up for board action. The February meeting will be held the 3rd.

In December, 1946, the uniform price was $5.30 per hundredweight.

A favorable report was made on the county's 946-score forest with the amount of additions in recent years.

County Clerk Dr. W. W. Bush appeared in person and explained something of the pressure of work in his office since the war began. A total of about 3,500 photostatic copies of the discharges of service men have been made.

Board and county officials were authorized to attend coming meetings of state groups of such workers at county expense. Harold L. Bloss, Whitesville, was re-named county representative on the District Forestry Practice Board.

Correction was made of omission from salary re-adjustments made at the January 6 meeting, adding $100 each to that paid the case supervisor and case workers. The salary of the account-clerk stenographer in the county treasurer's office was set at $2,200, and the $10,000 bond of Miss Gertrude Press, now in that position, accepted.
