G.L.F. News

Following the 7th Sept. 17th North-south farmers today are expected to begin planting, including those that provide the 100,000 bushels of corn in their area with a letter that, for low relative costs, they are found in any other country. Milton S. Harris, G.L.F. District Manager, explained tonight.

At the annual Villagers G.L.F. go home meeting at Central School here, Harris said "A recent survey showed that the same kind and quantities of food that our citizens are 75 to 80 per cent of their gross income during World War I and 80 per cent of their income in 1935-39, and only 10 per cent of their income during World War II. Since mid 1945, food prices have gone up but even today a family's food expenditures represent only 20 per cent of their gross income before taxes, which is the same percentage as before the war and less percentage of income available to the war."

Only through the all-out production high to meet America's war and post-war needs, as well as the needs of countless foreign nations, have food prices been able to remain as low as they have," Harris continued. "That it has been for this wonderful job done by farmers, retail food prices would be from 12 to 20 per cent higher today."

North-south committee and producers alike benefit from G.L.F. operations, Harris stated. G.L.F., he added, was built by farmers 10 years ago to insure a steady flow of food of farm production supplies and to provide an adequate market for their farm products through G.L.F.

"Ag." Days Suspended

The past several years school days and clubs have been suspended from school as help with farm work. But since an early start since school has been closed during the week. The practice has now been discontinued by the State Education Department. Parents who keep their children out for the purpose of school hours to work for someone else are violating the law. Such absence from school is illegal except in special cases.

Preparations for Seal Sale, November 21st Christmas, Also Well Under Way
With the arrival last week of the 1947 Christmas Seal at the head of the Allegany Health and Welfare Administration, here, Mrs. [unclear] says preparations will get underway immediately for the November 21st and Christmas seal sale. The funds from the sale will support the association's health program.

The 1947 Seal features a pair of men pulling a sled loaded with Christmas trees. They symbolize the generous spirit which enabled Progress to conquer a wilderness and which enables them to work together to fight a relentless battle for better subsistence, says Mrs. [unclear].

JUDGE HOPKINS FREES MAN THRU TECHNICALITY

A juror who has served nearly ten years of a 30-to-50 year term in Clinton Prison, Connecticut, has a few more months to go in a result of his own research into legal procedure of his trial. The juror had failed to qualify on what could be called a technicality, whether he robbed a small or large store.

Brought back for a new trial, Ferdinand Baumgart, 71, of Niagara Falls, was freed by County Judge Ward M. Hopkins, holding court at Lockport, Niagara County, when William E. Miller, assistant district attorney, moved dismissal of the indictment.

Miller stated that, after ten years, it would be "practically impossible to obtain witnesses" necessary for retrial of the case.

The defendant has absconded and he does not intend to pay the cost of the crime, Attorney Miller added.

G.L.F. News

Fillmore, N. Y., Sept. 17—North-eastern farmers today are specialists who convert raw materials into highly-palatable, nutritious foods that provide the 26,000,000 consumers in their area with "a better diet, for less relative cost, than is found in any other country." Milton E. Harris, G.L.F. District Manager, declared tonight.

At the annual Fillmore G.L.F. patrons meeting in Central School here, Harris said: "A recent survey showed that the same kind and quantities of food that cost consumers 29 to 30 per cent of their gross income during World War I and 23 per cent of their income in 1935-39, cost only 16 per cent of their income during World War II. The railroads may have by-passed us or passed us up—the bus-lines may by-pass us and the county seat left us—but after 103 years the Allegany County Fair is bigger and better than ever.

Each year in spite of five warm, bad weather conditions, and the many vicissitudes which might deter, the succeeding secretaries and directors have done their best to put on the best Fair possible.

Not perfect—what is? I think I speak for a large majority of the good citizens of Angelica, and of Allegany County when I hand orchids to the secretary and members of the Fair Association for keeping Angelica on the map in such a splendid way.

G.L.F. has become a real part of farm-market operations of the 150,000 Northeastern farmers who make up its membership, Hurris said.

State's Grain Crops Estimated As One-half Of Last Year's Total

A light crop of oats and barley, a reduced corn crop, and buckwheat that may be a little more abundant than last season comprise the 1947-48 grain situation on farms throughout New York State.

Those crops add up to a little more than 400,000 tons, says a Federal-State crop report issued from the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets. This total is slightly more than one-half of the abundant production of about 800,000 tons in 1946, and two-thirds of the

The 41st annual Christmas Seal Sale will be conducted throughout the nation from November 24 until Christmas. Of the money raised in this state, 95 per cent will be used within the state for local and statewide tuberculosis control projects, Mrs. Manis states, and the other five per cent will be forwarded to the National Tuberculosis Association to support research and other services on a national scale.

In this county Christmas Seal funds are the sole support of the Allegany Health and Tuberculosis Association in its tuberculosis prevention and control program, which includes such projects as: Health teaching service through talks, motion pictures, exhibits and literature, and case-finding program, offering free X-rays to every resident of Allegany county, 15 years of age and over, in an effort to find unsuspected and early tuberculosis.

At an X-ray survey recently conducted by the Allegany Health and Tuberculosis Association 63 persons were X-rayed at the Allegany County Home, Angelica, this including infirmaries, residents and staff, an employees of the Public Welfare Department; 949 were X-rayed at Angelica County Fair and 302 at the Home Coming Celebration at Rushford, on Labor Day, making a total of 1,314 X-rayed. At the 150th anniversary program held last Saturday at Geneseo State Teacher's College in honor of the signing of the Big Tree Treaty that led to the colonization of the Genesee Valley, Mrs. Lee Newman of Angelica was elected president of Allegany County Historical Association and Mrs. Lewis H. Thornton of Wellsville was elected third vice president. About 500 historians and Indian tribes were present.

By the treaty about 6,000,000 acres were sold to Robert Morris, financier of the Revolutionary War. The tract of land reaching from the Genesee River to Lake Erie excluding 337 square miles retained by the Indians for reservation was purchased by Morris for $100,000.

This was invested in bonds of the Bank of the United States and this gives the Indians a perpetual income which Freeman Johnson a Seneca Indian said amounted to $1.90 for each adult in 1946.

than last season comprise the 1947-48 grain situation on farms throughout New York State.

Those crops add up to a little more than 400,000 tons, says a Federal-State crop report issued from the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets. This total is slightly more than one-half of the abundant production of about 800,000 tons in 1946, and two-thirds of the ten-year average of about 600,000 tons. These are the basic home-grown feed grains. While more precise estimates will be available later, especially when it is known with certainty how much corn will actually be husked, it is not believed that the picture will change much. The July 1, 1947, carry-over of these grains on New York farms was larger than a year ago and above average, and this will help the situation a little but will still leave these supplies for the 1947-48 season not more than 60 percent of those a year earlier.

The wheat crop in New York, part of which suffered from too wet weather at early harvest time, adds an optimistic note, particularly for poultry producers. About 280,000 tons were harvested this year compared with 169,000 a year ago, and 218,000 tons, the ten-year average. However, the demand for wheat for human food is strong and worldwide. New York wheat is especially in demand for breakfast cereals and pastry flour. The market quality of considerable wheat was reduced by wet weather during the ripening and early harvest period; this will be suitable for feed, however.

An X-ray survey recently conducted by the Allegany Health and Tuberculosis Association 63 persons were X-rayed at the Allegany County Home, Angelica, this including 100 employees of the Public Welfare Department; 949 were X-rayed at the Angelica County Fair and 302 at the Home Coming Celebration, Randolph, on Labor Day, making a total of 1,314 X-rayed. Since May, 1947, the association has X-rayed 4,820 residents of Allegany county. Plans are underway now to X-ray students at Alfred University and Houghton College next month.

Christmas Seals which have been sold in the United States since 1907 have supported the work of voluntary tuberculosis associations for 40 years. Without the Christmas Seal the Allegany Health and Tuberculosis Association would have been unable to carry on this vast program of X-raying this past year.

's Grain Crops Rated As One-half Last Year's Total

Light crop of oats and barley, and corn crop, and buckwheat may be a little more abundant this season comprise the 1947 situation on farms throughout New York State.

Crops add up to a little less than 400,000 tons, says a State crop report issued by the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets. It is slightly more than one-half abundant production of 800,000 tons in 1946, and two-thirds the ten-year average of 1,200,000 tons. These are the best-grown feed grains. Precise estimates will be available later, especially when it is with certainty how much actually be husked, it is

Of the money raised in the State, 95 per cent will be used within the State for local and statewide tuberculosis control projects, Mrs. Manis states, and the other five per cent will be forwarded to the National Tuberculosis Association to support research and other services on a national scale.

This county Christmas Seal fund is the sole support of the Allegheny Health and Tuberculosis Association in its tuberculosis prevention and control program, which includes such projects as: Health teaching service through talks, motion pictures, exhibits and literature, and case-finding program, of seeing free X-rays to every resident of Allegheny county, 15 years of age and over, in an effort to find unsuspected and early tuberculosis.

At an X-ray survey recently conducted by the Allegheny Health and Tuberculosis Association 63 persons were X-rayed at the Allegheny County Home, Angelica, this including infirmaries, residents and staff, and employees of the Public Welfare Department; 949 were X-rayed at the Allegheny County Fair and 302 at the Home Coming Celebration, Rushford, on Labor Day, making a total of 1,314 X-rayed. Since May, 1947, the association has X-rayed 4,822 residents of Allegheny county. Plans are underway now to X-ray students at Alfred University and Houghton College next month.

"MATTER" is the Lesson-Sermon subject for Sunday, September 21. GOLDEN TEXT: "Little children, keep yourselves from idols" (I John 5:21).

SERMON: From the King James version of the Bible (Deut. 6:4, 5; I Cor. 8: 5, 6): "Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord: And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might. For though there be that are called gods, whether in heaven or in earth, (as there be gods many, and lords many.) But to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him."

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "We bow down to matter, and entertain futile thoughts of God like the pagan idolater. . . Divine Science deals its chief blow at the supposed material foundations of life and intelligence. It dooms idolatry. A belief in other gods, other creators, and other creations must go down before Christian Science" (pp. 214, 535).

Those crops add up to a little more than 400,000 tons, says a Federal-State crop report issued from the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets. This total is slightly more than one-half of the abundant production of about 800,000 tons in 1946, and two-thirds of the ten-year average of about 600,000 tons. These are the basic home-grown feed grains. While more precise estimates will be available later, especially when it is known with certainty how much corn will actually be husked, it is not believed that the picture will change much. The July 1, 1947, carry-over of these grains on New York farms was larger than a year ago and above average, and this will help the situation a little but will still leave these supplies for the 1947-48 season not more than 60 per cent of those a year earlier.

The wheat crop in New York, part of which suffered from too wet weather at early harvest time, adds an optimistic note, particularly for poultry producers. About 280,000 tons were harvested this year compared with 169,000 a year ago, and 18,000 tons, the ten-year average. However, the demand for wheat for human food is strong and worldwide. New York wheat is especially in demand for breakfast cereals and pastry flour. The market quality of considerable wheat was ruined by wet weather during the thinning and early harvest period; it will be suitable for feed, how-

THE FICTION CORNER

OUT OF THE EMBERS

By NORMAN STANLEY BORTNER

"LET'S talk this thing out," Janice had said. "For good and all." And he had agreed. Not enthusiastically. He thought he knew what it would be like. She was going to be very calm, very noble, very much the long-suffering, patient wife who will go no farther. All right, my dear. If you want one more talk, I'm game. Just so it doesn't end in another row.

He became slightly noble himself. Now that it was all over with them he was suddenly courteous. He spoke to her in a tone he might have used toward any good-looking woman not his wife: "Where would you like to sit while you pronounce sentence?"

She knew at once. She must have been thinking about that. "Not here," she said. "Would you mind if we went down to the cabin?"

The cabin. How long had it been since he had seen the inside of that two-roomed affair had lived there — he and Jan — for a while after their honeymoon. The big house was too big. Too many people around. Too many distractions from each other. So they had moved to the cabin. . . . They had changed a great deal since then. Not in looks. Ten years wasn't very long. In themselves, somehow.

But the cabin had not changed. It was precisely as it had been then. Seemed a bit smaller, but then time always does that to distances and dimensions. He busied himself with the kindling. There was only one big chunk of wood. Enough for a little while. The fire caught nicely.

Jan held her hands to the growing flames. "Feels good," she said. And carried me through the doorway, you held me in your arms, while girl could have been happier than I was at that moment. No two people were—don't laugh, please—we were like that fire is now. Just one con- suming blaze of love for each other."

He couldn't help smiling at that. Jan really was in a state, to talk like that. But it disappeared when he turned toward her. She was so close to tears.

"And now, Will, look at us. We've made a wretched mess of things. Haven't we?"

"Damned if we haven't." He was nearly noble enough to admit, furthermore, that it had been almost entirely his own fault, but he didn't. She might have agreed with him, and then the row would start. He was quiet for a long while, and then he said: "But fires do go out eventually, and I guess ours has."

"Yes. And what's the use of blowing on cold ashes? . . . But that's why I brought you here to the woman not his wife: "Where would you like to sit while you pronounce sentence?"

She knew at once. She must have been thinking about that. "Not here," she said. "Would you mind if we went down to the cabin?"

The cabin. How long had it been since he had seen the inside of that two-roomed affair beside the river? And what could have made her want to go there, of all places? "Not in the least," he said. "We'll need wraps."

They dressed for the raw December day and went out the west door. Crossing the lawn she took his arm. That was unexpected. And also a little uncalled for, he thought, under the circumstances. Why should she make a game out of splitting up? Thinking that, he stiffened and she felt it. But she did not release his arm. "Remember the first time we came down here together?" she asked.

"Can't say I do."

"You mean you don't want to. It was after our honeymoon. And you held MY arm." Her voice was low and uneven and somehow queer.

"Oh," he said. "What's the matter? Getting a cold?"

"No. Not used to fresh air, I suppose. It'll be all right soon."

"In the Nevada climate, you mean?" She did not answer. Maybe she hadn't meant that. To speak of the advantages of Reno while he when the chill had been taken from the room she sat on the sofa and asked him, with a restrained, almost fearful little gesture, to sit beside her. He did, and waited—again very nobly—for her to begin this last talk she wanted.

At last she did. "This is where we started, Will," she said. "Here in this little two-by-four. Do you ever think about that time?"

He shrugged.

cabin, Will. I had the wild idea that somehow we could patch it up. Try again. But we've done that too often, haven't we?"

"Too often, Jan."

The room was hushed, after that, for many minutes. Hushed, except for the crackling of the one big chunk and the rush of air through the chimney. And even that slowly decreased. The fire he had built and not replenished was butting out. Burning out. It was a simple thing to throw more

To speak of the advantages of Rene while he was present would have had been the important small niceties of conversation between them had been forgotten, giving way to bitterness and recrimination. But he admitted she had never been crude. To cover his own remark he said: "Has the cabin been kept clean?"

"Quite. It's always in good order. No telling when someone might want to use it. There's some wood here, I'm sure. And you remember how that fireplace heats, Will?"

"That's right. I do remember." The worst of it was that he remembered too well, all at once. They ever think about that moment when they were happy then, weren't they?"

HE SHRUGGED. "Suppose we were, Jan. But I'm afraid we haven't been very happy since."

"No, not very. . . . And why, Will? Do you know? How did we lose what we had then? Not that it makes any difference, of course. Here we are, and how we got here doesn't really matter, or even who's to blame. . . . Right, Will?"

"Right." He stared into the roaring fire and considered that she was being exceptionally calm. Better than he had hoped.

"The first day we came here you not replenished was burning out. Just like the fire Jan had been burning out. It was a simple thing to throw more wood on the fire. But was it so simple to replenish their own flame? He decided he was getting morbid.

There were only deep red embers between the andirons when she rose. "I told you last night that nothing would keep me from Rene," she said. "I meant, it, then, but—Will, I'll stay if you want me. I'll do my best to make us happy. We were once. Maybe, in some way, we could be again." She waited. He did not move; did not raise his eyes. The embers glowed.

"Will, I said I'd stay if you want me to."

Glowed.

"Must I get down on my knees to you? Is that what you want?"

Glowed dullly.

"Too late, then. . . . All right, dear, I'll be packed and on my way in an hour. Would you—do you mind if I kiss you goodbye? Just for old times sake. I—won't bother you any more."

He permitted it quite nobly, and when she had leaned and kissed him full on the lips he turned away from her and toward the fire once more. The door closed behind her.

Pilgrims Did Not Land On Rock, Nor on Dec. 21

America's oldest legend, still widely believed, is that the Pilgrims aboard the Mayflower made their first landing in this country on December 21, 1620, on a rock in what is now Plymouth, Mass., says Collier's. Actually, they first came ashore on Cape Cod the previous November 11.

The story is not substantiated.

more, the door opened. Well, he would wait that long before going back to the house. No use having more farewells.

He did not stir for a long while, frowning at the fireplace. The one big chunk had only a tiny bit of redness along one edge. The rest was cold gray ash, smoking fitfully and not pretty to look at. She had been right. They had been exactly like the fire, blazing up for a time and then cooling to drabness.

"I won't bother you any more." What had she meant by that? Never see him again? He realized suddenly that he WANTED to see her again. It wouldn't be right not to. You can't live with a person ten years and simply forget it, like that. Maybe they could even be good friends, after the divorce, and have some of the fun they missed before. Without the ties of marriage, or the restraints—

He knew he was being very foolish, thinking things like that. It was all over, and she would be strange and distant whenever—IF ever—they met. Friends? Hardly. Jan was out of his life for good—that was settled.

The cabin was getting cold. He had no idea how long he had been sitting alone. Was the hour up? He rose to stir his aching legs and considered hurrying more wood for the fire. With the tongs he probed at the ashy big chunk and at his touch the wood which had seemed so cold—so lifeless—jumped into flames, warm, surprising, beautiful.

A single touch had done that. HIS touch.

He gazed open-eyed, and then in quick, bounding leaps he ran up the hill and into the house. Up the stairs. Through a door he had not opened for so very long. The hour was not yet gone.

"Jan," he said. "Jan. You're as slim as you ever were. I'll carry you over, again."

Pilgrims Did Not Land On Rock, Nor on Dec. 21

America's oldest legend, still widely believed, is that the Pilgrims aboard the Mayflower made their first landing in this country on December 21, 1620, on a rock in what is now Plymouth, Mass., says Collier's. Actually, they first came ashore on Cape Cod the previous November 11.

The rock story is not substantiated by any historical records and did not start until 121 years later.

...He permitted it gently, and then she had kissed him away from her and toward the fire once more. The four clung behind her.

A N HOUR she had said. Well, he would wait that long before going back to his tent. No use having more foreplay.

He did not sit for a long while, frowning at the flames. The one big chunk had only a little bit of redness along one edge. The rest was cold gray ash, smoking fitfully and not pretty to look at. She had been right. They had been exactly like the fire, burning up for a time and then cooling to drizzle.

"I won't bother you any more." What had she meant by that? Never see him again? He realized suddenly that he WANTED to see her again. It wouldn't be right not to. You can't live with a person ten years and simply forget—like that. Maybe they could even be good friends, after the flames and have some of the fun they missed before. Without the ties of marriage, or the restraints—

He knew he was being very foolish, thinking things like that. It was all over, and she would be strange and distant wherever—IF ever they met. Friends! Hardly. Jan was out of his life for good—that was settled.

The cabin was getting cold. He had no idea how long he had been sitting alone. Was he stir up? He rose to stir his aching legs and considered hutting more wood for the fire. With the tongs he poked at the ashy big chunk and at his touch the wood which had seemed so cold—so lifeless—jumped into flames, warm, surprising, beautiful.

A single touch had done that. HIS touch.

He gazed open-eyed, and then in quick, bounding leaps he ran up the hill and into the house. Up the stairs. Through a door he had not opened for so very long. The hour was not yet gone.

"Jan," he said. "Jan You're as slim as you ever were. I'll carry you over, again."

The horse, which has been depended on by man for centuries as a dependable beast of burden in war and in peace, is gradually coming to the end of his usefulness as mechanization of farms and the army is speeded up.

Recently the army sold 58 horses at West Point, the last mount which were used in training cadets in horsemanship. There is longer any need of an officer being trained to ride a horse as they little used in modern warfare.

SHARING made this telephone call possible

Fortunately, most families seldom have to make emergency calls. But when a crisis does occur, the telephone is of supreme importance.

That's why telephone facilities are being used the neighborhood "party-line" way—to give protection and service to many more families. It makes full use of all available equipment. If this were not done, many of your neighbors would be deprived of this essential service. They would still be on the waiting list.

And, that's why in most communities, party-line service only can be supplied in homes. Individual line service is not yet available.

Telephone factories are making record progress on huge orders for switchboards, cables and all the other equipment needed to catch up with our Number One Job. We anticipate the day when anyone anywhere can have the type of service they want without delay.

Protection Against TB

Your child is growing up in a community which educates him, provides laws and law enforcement officers to protect him and, to some extent, provides opportunities which should help him grow up to be a useful, happy citizen.

But he will never be able to realize these opportunities if he falls victim to the disease which kills more young adults than any other disease, tuberculosis.

How can you protect your child against tuberculosis? One of the most important measures is to teach him to abide by simple health rules. A strong body is the best defense against tuberculosis. A child who gets plenty of sleep, a good diet, cleanliness, fresh air and exercises and regular physical examination has a far better chance of resisting disease than a child who neglects any of these measures.

Tuberculosis is communicated. The only way you can get it is by being in contact, over a period of time, with someone who has the disease. You may say, "Well, that's simple, I'll keep my children away from anyone who has tuber-

"Shiner" Scott of Belvidere Collides With Automobile Death Results Week Later

Frank Scott, 65, of Belvidere, passed away in the Wellsville Hospital September 5th last as the result of injuries suffered the previous Saturday night when he reportedly walked into the side of a car driven by Charles Havill of Avoca at the Belvidere Corners.

Mr. Scott suffered multiple fractures of the shoulder and pelvis and severe shock. Cornerer Eugene

"Shiner," as he was familiarly known, was the son of Walt and Betty Scott. His claim to fame, in early life, at least, was his dexterity away from anyone who has tuberculosis."

That would be ideal, but it's not as simple as it sounds. Since tuberculosis in its early stages is almost symptomless, people who neglect to have periodic physical examinations, including chest X-rays, may have the disease in a communicable form for weeks or months without knowing it. They are in danger both to themselves and to the community.

There are several things you must do, then, if you are to provide your child with real protection against tuberculosis. One is to help him build a strong body, able to resist the invasion of germs. But, since the strongest person may fall victim to tuberculosis if enough germs enter his body over a long enough time, your responsibility in controlling tuberculosis goes beyond your own front door. No home is safe from tuberculosis until every home is safe.

You can find out what tuberculosis prevention and control measures are being carried out by the tuberculosis association and the health department in your community.
You can get periodic chest X-rays yourself. You can urge your

Postmasters Are Warning

Postmasters are issuing a warning of a new chain letter scheme which the Post Office Department says is spreading throughout the nation.

This scheme differs from those previously encountered, the warning states, in that participants are warned not to forward the chain letter through the mails, but to keep the letter and send $2 to the person whose name heads the list of ten appearing thereon.

"It appears that the originators of this scheme have the erroneous belief that by not sending letters through the mails they will escape prosecution," the statement continues.

"The Post Office Department in-

Old Age Need Hold No Terrors

Finding Useful Work Is Formula for Happiness

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—Latest figures from the census bureau have revealed that the postwar period has produced a record baby crop—3,269,000 estimated for 1946, almost a million more than were born in 1940.

But it will take more than this belated burst of rejuvenation to keep the United States from becoming an "old" nation. Old in the sense that the average age will be high, with a heavy proportion of oldsters. There are two reasons for this: Nowadays people live much longer, thanks to medical science. And the size of the American family has shrunk.

In 1880 when the population was about 31.5 millions, 860,000 persons were over 65. In 1945 when the population approached 140 millions, 2,820,000 persons were over 65.

By 1970 there will be 16 million over that age, out of an estimated population of more than 151 millions!

This situation poses a number of problems for the nation, and also emphasizes the personal problem: The problem of growing old.

Like many of our troubles, real or imagined, the best cure is to bring this one out into the light, give it a good shaking. The result in many cases will be that it disappears or that it shrinks to unimportance (if that weren't so, psychiatry wouldn't be such a highly rewarded profession).

Like many of our troubles, real or imagined, the best cure is to bring this one out into the light, give it a good shaking. The result in many cases will be that it disappears or that it shrinks to unimportance (if that weren't so, psychiatry wouldn't be such a highly rewarded profession).

Wise men have known this for a long time and lived to a happy old age. Others (who didn't know it) have worried their friends and themselves to early deaths, by sitting down and weeping over their lost youth instead of getting up, learning to take old age in their stride and liking it.

Recently I read a very up-to-date little pamphlet called "When You Grow Older," written in straightforward English, based on modern, scientific ideas. The pamphlet outlines methods which make that famous poem by Browning, so often regarded as wishful thinking by the skeptical, ring true. Vocations Help To Retain Youth

Anybody can develop an avocation of some kind. In many cases these avocations have turned into paying vocations after retirement. In any case they are literally life-savers when it comes to making life livable.

Various skills permit varying periods of activity.

Many farmers are self-supporting at 70 or 75. Perhaps this is partly because of their environment—mental and physical. Cleero says farmers "are not hindered to any extent by old age, and seem to me to approach the ideal wise man's life."

Most jobs are of such a character that ability to perform them declines with the years. "When You Grow Older" cites as an example "speed work"—like the assembly line. Youth excels in this type of work. But age does almost as well as youth in the type classified as "power" work, the kind of job where skill is important.

There is not space here to develop the theme of "When You Grow Older" as its authors do so compactly in their 30 pages. They discuss the questions, personal and political, of old age security. They offer a host of other specific examples to illustrate the statements, some of which I have quoted here. I have attempted to review rather than a summary, moved to comment partly because of the valuable suggestions offered, and also, partly because

Farmers' Income Zooms; New Crisis Hits Europe

FARM INCOME: Great Gain

Latest round in a heavy barrage of statistics apparently destined to make the American farmer feel that he is an unbelievably fortunate man was an agriculture department report that the nation's farm owners are taking in more money than ever before.

It was estimated that total farm cash receipts during the first eight months of 1947 were 17.4 billion dollars, a 21 per cent gain over the same period of 1946, itself a record year.

The report said that the average farm operator realized a net income of $2,541 from agriculture and government payments in 1946, and this year farm income skyrocketed still higher as a result of continuing unprecedented demands for produce.

"An increase of 24 per cent in prices," was singled out by the report as the chief reason for the booming income.

But the picture has another side—that of farm expenses. Operating costs continue to increase and, although no estimate was made for 1947, the farmer's expenses went up 9 per cent in 1946. Nevertheless, if the agriculture department's estimates are accurate, the increase in farm income greatly outweighs the simultaneous rise in expenses.

"You shall know best years." The book is 1 to 10.

memories. I remembered that a gentleman who considerably predated Browning had said the same thing in his essay "On Old Age," written in the year 44 B. C. I refer to Marcus Tullius Cicero. He said (among other pertinent things) "qui autem annis a se ipse potuit, eis nihil potest videri, quod naturae necessitas auferat." Which, if you'll pardon my freedom with the text, means that those who seek their happiness from within can never regard nature's inevitabilities as bad.

Cicero wrote that essay when he was 63 years old and I have no doubt he would have lived what he preached for another decade or two if his vigorous old age had not produced the resounding "Phillipic" against Anthony which resulted in his being "purged" (Roman style) while still hale and hearty at 64.

Like Cicero, Messrs. George Lawton and Maxwell Stewart, authors of the pamphlet I mentioned above

these pertinent paragraphs of "When You Grow Older" offer a perfect example of how modern science and experience confirm the verities expressed by poets and philosophers of the past.

It is still the habit of many critics to praise the style of Cicero's "De Senectute" but to toss its message aside as wishful thinking. Even Montaigne, who said frankly that reading the essay "made one long to grow old," pessimistically limited what he considered a useful lifespan to a mere 50 years and thought it wrong to contemplate further existence.

Cicero's physical world was bounded by the frontiers conquered by Rome's plodding legions but his view was long in time. Today the men of our scientific age echo the request in the last paragraph of the great statesman's immortal essay when he prayed: "... that you put my words to practical test."

CRISIS AGAIN:

Transfusion? Life these days, Secretary of State George Marshall has discovered, is bounded on all sides by one crisis after another.

No sooner had he returned to the U. S. from Brazil with the mutual American defense treaty tucked safely under his belt than he was beset with calls for success from debilitated Europe, which, apparently, was sliding swiftly down the ways toward utter ruin.

Insiders said the European situation really was desperate. Undersecretary of State Robert Lovett had sounded the first alarm shortly before Marshall's return when he said that Europe's economic structure was cracking up faster than anyone had expected.

The fear blowing in on the winds from Europe intensified. Precariously balanced Britain remained at the heart of the trouble, but more grief was added by the news that bad weather had struck hard at crops in many European countries this year. Most nations had been forced to use their meager produce for domestic consumption rather than for export. There was no profit in that, they said.

In the U. S., it began to appear more likely that a special session of congress would be called this fall to study the situation and perhaps set up the apparatus for another economic transfusion to give strength to the weakening old world.

that is necessary is to stand the attack it to the posts as before.

How to Prevent Dale With Big Farm Fire

Thirty-five hundred farmers who lived happily on their farms a year ago are dead, largely victims of their own carelessness. They lost 100 million dollars in farm property.

In one year 10,000 fires started in newspapers, magazines and other rubbish. Flammable liquids, improperly stored or handled, caused 28,000 fires. Electric cords and other defective electrical equipment caused 31,000 fires. Dirty

This farm fire could have been prevented if proper care had been taken.

stoves, lamps and lanterns caused 13,000 fires. Some 30,000 fires started on flammable wood shingle roofs. Dirty chimneys were responsible for 40,000 fires, and 50,000 fires originated in dirty and defective heating plants.

The cures suggest themselves. If the farmers will clean up the out-buildings, farm machinery and the fields, and be careful with matches and smoking, there is little reason for worry about fire.

ISOTOPES: U. S. Offer

Radioactive isotopes—products of American atomic research—have all foreign nations for use in mankind's world-wide and unending fight against disease.

The gesture, marking the first sharing of the fruits of U. S. atomic science, honored more significantly on the uncertain frontier of global peace than any loan or economic aid so far conceived.

Described as the most important medical research tool since the microscope, the isotopes—radioactive forms of basic elements—are utilized in the same manner as machine gun tracer bullets. Introduced into the body or blood stream, they can be used to trace life processes and plot the course of various diseases.

They are of paramount importance in current cancer research and one day may provide the clue leading to control and cure of that disease.

memories. I remembered that a gentleman who considerably predated Beethoven had said the same thing in his essay "On Old Age," written in the year 44 B. C. I refer to Marcus Tullius Cicero. He said (among other pertinent things) "qui autem senescit se ipsi petunt, eis nihil potest viseri, quod naturae succedat aetate." Which, if you'd pardon my freedom with the text, means that those who seek their happiness from within can never regard nature's inevitabilities as bad.

Cicero wrote that essay when he was 63 years old and I have no doubt he would have lived what he preached for another decade or two if his vicious old age had not produced the resounding "Philippic" against Anthony which resulted in his being "purged" (Roman style) while still hale and hearty at 64.

Like Cicero, Messrs. George Lawton and Maxwell Stewart, authors of the pamphlet I mentioned, stress the psychological problems of old age. (The pamphlet is issued by the Public Affairs Committee, Inc., a non-profit, educational organization, 22 East 80th St., New York City—20 cents.)

Old age comes with a shock because we haven't prepared for it. Maybe we are ready for the "last day at the office" or at the work bench or when we sell the farm and move to the village or city, or in other ways break a lifetime's routine. But we may have failed to recognize "the need to feel important," a need which we must satisfy one way or another. Not "important" in the sense that we have somebody low-key to us, but necessary to somebody or some thing, some business, some undertaking, maybe not a big cog, but something that helps the wheels of life go round.

These pertinent paragraphs of "When You Grow Older" offer a perfect example of how modern science and experience confirm the virtues expressed by poets and philosophers of the past.

It is still the habit of many critics to praise the style of Cicero's "De Senectute" but to toss his message aside as wishful thinking. Even Montaigne, who said frankly that reading the essay "made one long to grow old," pessimistically limited what he considered a useful lifespan to a mere 59 years and thought it wrong to contemplate further existence.

Cicero's physical world was bounded by the frontiers conquered by Rome's plodding legions but his view was long in time. Today the men of our scientific age echo the request in the last paragraph of the great statesman's immortal essay when he prayed: "...that you put my words to practical test."

$3,000 FOR TRACTORS

Farmers Caught by Black Mart

Gradually deteriorating power machines and implements, plus a shortage of rural labor, are the two principal factors responsible for development of a flourishing black market in farm equipment, according to manufacturers and dealers groups who have pronounced the situation fairly widespread.

Secondary circumstances which support the existence of this particular black market are the unparalleled height of farm income and the apparent determination of the nation's farm population to advance to new levels of mechanization.

Thus, the demand for farm equipment continues to be almost insatiable. Even the heavy, uninterrupted output of the entire farm equipment industry has failed to still the clamor of the hungry market.

It has been common practice this summer for farmers to pay huge premiums on such pieces of equipment as tractors, hay balers and corn pickers, all of which have customers on dealers' waiting lists.

Tractors priced at $1,000 have sold for as high as $3,000 or $3,500. Hay balers, which are used on hay three times a season and have other farm uses, have been finding buyers at double or triple the list price.

Pointing up these malpractices on the part of individuals, one manufacturer referred to the particularly bad black market in combines.

"When one wheat farmer, for example, has his crop harvested, someone will drive up and ask him how much he paid for his combine. The farmer might say $3,000. When the stranger asks how much he would sell it for, the farmer, picking a number out of the hat, might say $3,000. Then, to the farmer's surprise, the stranger peels off 20 $100 bills and takes the combine out of his hands.

"The farmer would have got $2,500 if he had asked it, because the stranger took the combine north and sold it for $4,000."

erred, is bounded on all sides by one crisis after another.

No success had he returned to the U. S. from Brazil with the mutual American defense treaty tucked safely under his belt than he was beset with calls for money from debilitated Europe, which, apparently, was sliding swiftly down the ways toward utter ruin.

ISOTOPES: U. S. Offer

Silver-Laced Wyandottes
By W. J. DRYDEN

The Silver-Laced Wyandotte is believed to have come from crosses of Dark Brahmas, Silver Spangled Hamburgs and a French fowl named Breda.

Standard weights are: Cock, 8½ pounds, hens 6½ pounds, cockerels, 7½ pounds, pullets, 5½ pounds.

The female is round in shape, the back gently sloping. An ideal market fowl, this type also can be bred for high egg production without sacrifice of standard requirements.

Cutting Protein Loss Will Slash Feed Cost

Dairyman can reduce the size of next winter's protein-feed bill considerably by saving a greater percentage of the protein in their home-grown forage crops, say dairy specialists of the USDA. One way to reduce the protein losses and thereby actually put more of the home-grown protein in the cows' mouths next winter, is to make silage from forage crops instead of cutting in the field for hay.

Radioactive isotopes—products of American atomic research—have been offered in limited amounts to all foreign nations for use in mankind's world-wide and unending fight against disease.

How to Prevent Date With Big Farm Fire

Thirty-five hundred farmers who lived happily on their farms a year ago are dead, largely victims of their own carelessness. They neglected to clean up their barns and lost vast sums worth almost 100 million dollars in farm property.

In one year 18,000 fires started in newspapers, magazines and other rubbish. Flammable liquids, improperly stored or handled, caused 28,000 fires. Electric cords and other defective electrical equipment caused 31,000 fires. Dirty stoves, lamps and lanterns caused 18,000 fires. Some 29,000 fires started on flammable wood shingle roofs. Dirty chimneys were responsible for 40,000 fires, and 50,000 fires originated in dirty and defective heating plants.

The cures suggest themselves. If the farmers will clean up the out-buildings, farm machinery and the fields, and be careful with matches and smoking, there is little reason for worry about fire.

Insiders said the European situation really was desperate. Undersecretary of State Robert Lovett had sounded the first alarm shortly before Marshall's return when he said that Europe's economic structure was cranking up faster than anyone had expected.

The fear blowing in on the winds from Europe intensified. Precariously balanced Britain remained at the heart of the trouble, but more grief was added by the news that bad weather had struck hard at Europe in many European countries this year. Most nations had been forced to use their meager produce for domestic consumption rather than for export. There was no profit in that, they said.

In the U. S., it began to appear more likely that a special session of congress would be called this fall to study the situation and perhaps set up the situation for another economic transition to give strength to the weakening old world.

Radioactive isotopes—products of American atomic research—have been offered in limited amounts to all foreign nations for use in research against disease.

The gesture, marking the first sharing of the fruits of U. S. atomic research, looked more significant on paper than any loan or economic aid so far conceived.

Described as the most important medical research tool since the microscope, the isotopes—radioactive forms of basic elements—are utilized in the same manner as machine gun tracer bullets. Introduced into the body or blood stream, they can be used to trace life processes and plot the course of various diseases.

They are of paramount importance in current cancer research and one day may provide the clue leading to control and cure of that disease.

This farm fire could have been prevented if proper care had been taken.

Stoves, lamps and lanterns caused 18,000 fires. Some 20,000 fires started on flammable wood shingle roofs. Dirty chimneys were responsible for 40,000 fires, and 20,000 fires originated in dirty and defective heating plants.

The cures suggest themselves. If the farmers will clean up the out-buildings, farm machinery and the fields, and be careful with matches and smoking, there is little reason for worry about fire.

Silver-Laced Wyandottes
By W. J. DRYDEN

The Silver-Laced Wyandotte is believed to have come from crosses of Dark Brahmans, Silver Spangled Hamburgs and a French fowl named Brenda.

Standard weights are: Cock, 8½ pounds, hens 6½ pounds, cockerels, 7½ pounds, pullets, 5½ pounds.

The female is round in shape, the back gently sloping. An ideal market fowl, this type also can be bred for high egg production without sacrifice of standard requirements.

Cutting Protein Loss Will Slash Feed Cost

Dairymen can reduce the size of next winter's protein-feed bill considerably by saving a greater percentage of the protein in their home-grown forage crops, say dairy specialists of the USDA.

One way to reduce the protein losses; and thereby actually put more of the home-grown protein in the cows' manure next winter, is to make silage from forage crops instead of curing in the field for hay.

DRS

Caught by Black Mart

rupted output of the entire farm equipment industry has failed to still the clamor of the hungry market.

It has been common practice this summer for farmers to pay huge premiums on such pieces of equipment as tractors, hay balers and corn pickers, all of which have customers on dealers' waiting lists.

Tractors priced at $1,000 have sold for as high as $3,000 or $3,500. Hay balers, which are used on hay three times a season and have other farm uses, have been finding buyers at double or triple the list price.

Pointing up these malpractices on a part of individuals, one manufacturer referred to the particularly black market in combines.

"When one wheat farmer, for example, has his crop harvested, someone will drive up and ask him how much he paid for his combine. The farmer might say $2,000. When the stranger asks how much he would sell it for, the farmer, picking a number out of the hat, might say $3,000. Then, to the farmer's surprise, the stranger peels off 30 $100 bills and takes the combine off his hands.

"The farmer would have got $3,500 if he had asked it, because the stranger took the combine north and sold it for $4,000."

Cut a lid from one large eggplant lengthwise, scoop out pulp and in boiling salted water until soft. Drain and chop fine. Sauté onion, not brown, add eggplant, half cup of bread crumbs, cup of chopped pecans, well-beaten eggs. Mix, seasonings. Loosely add butter in which the egg cooked to make the filling thin. Fill shell and bread crumbs and bake about two hours.

Spinach I

Wash one peck of fresh spinach, then cut into small pieces. Steam with just the water for 10 minutes. Squeeze as dry as possible. Chop and press through a sieve. Into this slightly beaten egg, spoon of olive oil, spoon of butter, per to taste. Into balls, dip into fine bread crumbs, hot fat to fry.

Asparagus

Asparagus takes on a pleasing green as well as extra flavor when layers of these biscuits, topped with sauce and garnished with slices of hard-cooked eggs.

Remember when we just cooked vegetables in boiling, salted water and put them on the table without any thought as to subtle seasoning or attractive serving? Thank modern cookery experts for realizing the infinite possibilities of vegetables and for transforming them into such delicious dishes.

Stuffed Eggplant
Cut a lid from one large eggplant lengthwise, scoop out pulp and cook in boiling salted water until tender, drain and chop fine. Sauté one small minced onion in butter until soft, not brown, add eggplant, one half cup of bread crumbs, and two cup of chopped pecans, one well-beaten egg. Mix well with seasonings. Lastly add enough water in which the eggplant was cooked to make the mixture quite thin. Fill shell and sprinkle with bread crumbs and dot with butter and bake about twenty minutes.

Spinach Balls
Wash one peck of spinach in several waters, then cover tightly and steam with just the drippings from the washing for about fifteen minutes. Squeeze as dry as possible, chop and press through a coarse sieve. Into this puree mix two slightly beaten egg yolks, one tablespoon of grated onion, one tablespoon of olive oil, and salt and pepper to taste. Mix well and form into balls, dip in beaten egg, then in fine bread crumbs, and fry in hot fat to a golden brown.

300 Free Pies Lure Visitors Eureka's Pumpkin Festival

IFNU Features.
EUREKA, ILL.—Luscious, golden brown pies, like mother used to bake,—more than 300 of them—will be given away to visitors at the celebration of the fifth annual Eureka Pumpkin Festival, September 15 and 27.

The free pies and other features of the celebration are designed to assure visitors that Eureka is the pumpkin capital of the world. No city, town or hamlet in the world can boast a fancy pumpkin as Eureka, the "Pumpkin Capital of the World," canners proudly boast. The city's canneries packed a sizable crop of the 1,531,873 cases which comprised last year's commercial crop of pumpkin in the United States.

The spirit of a century-old celebration pervades the annual Pumpkin Festival, held on the outside with the festival, the small town of the pumpkin harvest. In the early 1800s, the small town of Eureka held an annual "Pumpkin Festival" which was a social affair and a religious observance. The festival was held on the first day of the month and was a social affair and a religious observance.

1880 plant called
The plant called "Pumpkin" was first introduced to the United States in 1880. It was brought from the West Indies and was first cultivated in the State of Illinois. The plant is a member of the Cucurbitaceae family and is a native of the tropical regions of the Americas.

Abandoned School Serves Community Club for 25 Years

MANKATO, MINN.—Formed a quarter century ago because a schoolhouse was abandoned, the Spring Lake Community club recently celebrated its 25th anniversary.

When four adjacent school districts were consolidated and a new schoolhouse was built at Rapidan in 1922, the little old schoolhouse which had served the Spring Lake community was to be discarded. Young men of the community, deciding that the building would make an ideal community gathering place, led a movement for formation of the Spring Lake Community club. The building has been retained as the meeting place since then.

The old school bell still hangs in the tower of the clubhouse.

No 'Daily Bread' Prayer Revised

ROME.—Catholic Eastern prayer books will have to say "bread" instead of "daily bread," a form of the "Lord's Prayer" which is most unknown to the most of the Eastern Christians. The prayer books have been revised and the word "bread" has been substituted for "daily bread." The revision is a result of the Vatican Council's decision to use the word "bread" in the Lord's Prayer.

Remember when we just cooked vegetables in boiling, salted water and put them on the table without any thought as to subtle seasoning or attractive serving? Thank modern cookery experts for realizing the infinite possibilities of vegetables and for transforming them into one of the glamorous groups of cookery.

First of all, there are innumerable sauces you can use with "perfection cooked" vegetables to bring out all their hidden flavors. Then, if you want to forego the sauce, you can combine vegetables with other foods to make them palate-pleasing and tempting.

Which ever way you prefer to serve your vegetables, always remember that the overcooked vegetable can never be guaranteed to make friends or influence eaters to come back for seconds, as they should. Cook vegetables so there is still a bit of their garden crispness left. If cooked to this point and served immediately, you will also lose less of their lovely colors.

Club meetings feature speeches and discussions on pertinent world and agricultural problems. Potluck suppers and contests are frequent attractions.

When club repairing or cleaning must be done, the project is not considered work but a club gathering, with everyone who can hold a hammer, saw, mop or scrub brush turning out.

Gov. Luther W. Youngdahl of Minnesota was honor guest at the 25th anniversary dinner.

New York Has 41 'Century Farms' Honored by State in Past Decade

Dramatic Story of Background of Many Rural Families Is Told in New Booklet Summarizing Citations; Oldest Ownership Dates Back to 1653

A new kind of history which tells of the early days of New York State in terms of forty-one farm families, is the illustrated booklet called "Century Farms of New York State," just off the press. These are the stories of all the families which have been selected so far by the New York State Agricultural Society for enrollment in the Order of Century Farmers. The first such family was so honored by Governor Lehman in 1937. All have owned and operated the same farm for more than a century. Some have been more than 200 years on the same land; a few are approaching the three-century mark. The forty-one farms are scattered over nineteen counties. Schoharie leads with five, followed by Essex and Orange with four each, and Dutchess, Rensselaer, Saratoga, Suffolk and Washington counties with three apiece. Included in the list is the farm of Alfred Topping at Sagaponack, L. I., which has belonged to his family since 1653, a record of ownership ex-

the Jays family at Kelloggville and the Giddings at Baldwinsville. Further west are the Lounsbury farm at Barston, Webster-Utter farm near Geneva and the Rich farm at Marlon. Westernmost of the Century Farms is the Green Valley farm of the Henry S. Manley in Strykerstown, originally bought from the Holland Land Company.

Orange County is represented by the Booths at Campbell Hall, the Bulla at Stony Ford and the Hills at Montgomery and Pine Bush. Nathaniel Hill who arrived here in 1735 built two houses, both of which have been occupied by his descendants ever since.

Woven into the background of the Century Farms are the Battles of Oris-

EMPLOYEE MANAGEMENT HOLDS RESPONSIBILITY IN TELEPHONE SYSTEM

Is 'Trustee' for All Concerned - States Walter S. Gifford, President of A.T.&T.

Emphasizing the responsibility of "employee management, by from the ranks," in running the telephone business, Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, states:

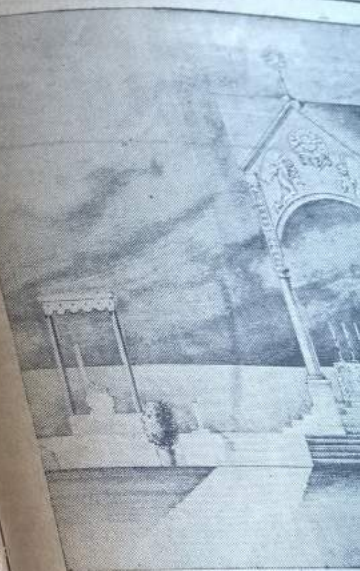

"This employee management has been trained for its job in the American ideal of respect for the individual and equal opportunity for each to develop his talents to the fullest."

"This responsibility requires that management act as a trustee for the interests of all concerned: the millions of telephone users, the hundreds of thousands of employees, and the hundreds of thousands of stockholders."

In his statement, in the current issue of the Bell Telephone Magazine, he further says:

"The business cannot succeed in the long run without well-paid employees with good working conditions, without adequate returns to investors who have put their savings in the enterprise, and without reasonable prices to the customers who buy its services. These conditions have been well met over the years in the Bell System."

Pointing out that "it has not been and is not an easy problem to solve for all employees..."

Pointing out that "it has not been and is not an easy problem to solve fairly for all concerned," Mr. Gifford said the management makes every effort to do so with the view that "our regulated business management has the responsibility together with regulatory authorities to see to it that the rates to the public are such as to assure the money, credit and plant that will give the best possible telephone service at all times."

Of the recent pay increases to Bell System employees, Mr. Gifford said "management agrees they are fair" but added that "in most cases there will result in earnings less than adequate for investors pending the time management with the approval of state regulatory authorities, secure in a reasonable return to stockholders."

"It is my confident expectation that telephone management will soon again balance fairly the interests of all the parties concerned and in forward in its great task in providing more and better telephone service at a cost as low as fair treatment of employees and a reasonable return to stockholders."

Fine Art, Museum Exhibits Shown To Growing Television Audience

Television, now "on the march" across the nation via extensive "vision" transmission facilities now planned or under construction, has become a potent educational medium for showing fine art, dinosaurs and other relics of our great museums to the growing audience of "lookers-on."

On the very first day of CBS Television in New York, in July, 1941, an art collection from the Metropolitan Museum of Art was shown. It was the first of a long series of programs done in collaboration with the museum, including showings of famous paintings, statuary, ancient and modern armor and costumes. Such showings are given with appropriate dramatic background and animation. The armor and dresses, for instance, were worn by living persons to aid visualization.

While formerly the exhibits, naturally limited, were shown from the studio, in the past year special equipment has enabled the telecasts of much larger exhibits to be made directly from the Metropolitan and also other museums in the city. Scenes from Dinosaur Hall at the Museum of Natural History, the Topham Quarry, which yielded this collection, has served the state for more than half a century. This quarry also was the site for the first television transmission and the first television program in the state. The program, which was broadcast on August 17, 1941, was the first of a series of programs which will be broadcast during the year.

License Plates Carry Lots of Color And Ads

America's automobile license plates add a lot of color to the highways and in some cases do a promotional job for the states which issue them.

Silver backgrounds are a favorite. Other tags are bright with green, rust, brown, blue, red, orange or yellow. Nearly a dozen states use plates with slogans or emblems or both accompanying the tag letters and numbers.

Idaho features a jumping skier and the words "Vacation Wonderland." Wisconsin advises the nation it is "America's Dairyland," and

Most other states, the Canal Zone and Hawaii feature their tags to letters, numbers, the dates of issue and the State seal the expiration date of the tag.

Several states, still finding it difficult to obtain metal or new tags, retain plates which are several years old and either provide a small tab indicating them for the present year or a windshield sticker.

Winter Injury to Raspberries Can Be Lessened by Taking Certain Steps

The winter injury to raspberries can be lessened by taking certain steps to hasten maturity of the year's growth. The time to act is now, according to Professor George J. Slette, small fruit specialist at the state experiment station at Geneva.

There have been many cases reported in the last few weeks where raspberries have failed to fruit, and in most of these, symptoms indicate that the fruiting wood suffered winter injury. Both red and black varieties have been infected. Some varieties are more susceptible than others, according to Professor Slette, but none are entirely immune if growth is too greatly stimulated toward the end of the season.

The chief cause of winter injury in raspberries, bearing extensively, is low temperatures, is lack of maturity of the current season's growth. If the wood goes into the winter in a succulent and immature state, it is very likely to be damaged by frost, to such an extent that it will not be able to function the next season. Although growth may start up well in the spring and fruit may be set, foliage and fruit on winter-injured canes take on a sickly appearance, shrivel, and die before much of the fruit can ripen.

EMPLOYEE MANAGEMENT HOLDS RESPONSIBILITY IN TELEPHONE SYSTEM Is 'Trustee' for All Concerned States Walter S. Gifford, President of A.T.&T.

Emphasizing the responsibility of "employee management, up from the ranks," in running the telephone business, Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, states: "This employee management has been trained for its job in the American ideal of respect for the individual and equal opportunity for each to develop his talents to the fullest. This responsibility requires that management act as a trustee for the interests of all concerned: the millions of telephone users, the hundreds of thousands of employees, and the hundreds of thousands of stockholders."

In his statement, in the current issue of the Bell Telephone Magazine, he further says: "The business cannot succeed in the long run without well-paid employees with good working conditions, without adequate returns to investors who have put their savings in the enterprise, and without reasonable prices to the customers who buy its services. These conditions have been well met over the years in the Bell System."

Pointing out that "it has not been and is not an easy problem to solve fairly for all concerned," Mr. Gifford said the management makes every effort to do so with the view that "our regulated business management has the responsibility together with regulatory authorities to see to it that the rates to the public are such as to assure the money, credit and plant that will give the best possible telephone service at all times."

Of the recent pay increases in the System employees, Mr. Gifford said: "Management agrees they are necessary and has shown that in most cases they will result in salaries less than those paid for investors pending the same management with the approval of state regulatory authorities, and the same increases in business rates. He

A gold and white canopy standing 35 feet high will cover the especially constructed altar in the Civic stadium for the Buffalo Centennial Eucharistic Congress, Sept. 22nd through the 25th, announced Rev. Julius J. Szabo, Chairman of the Decorations Committee. "The general outline of construction is based on the 1500 year old marble canopy over the main altar in the Church of St. Ambrose, Milan," Father Szabo explained. Each of the four panels of the canopy will bear the seal of the Congress, flanked by adoring angels. The canopy will be placed at the main monstrance. The platform holding the altar, 40 in. off the ground, with dimensions of 129 feet by 72 feet, is planned to accommodate 100 archbishops, and 200 chaplains, in addition to those taking active part in performing the religious rites of the Church. On the Epistle, or right side of the altar as the congregation faces it, will be a tribune 40 feet long and 6 feet wide. This will accommodate the attending cardinals and their chaplains. The throne of the presiding cardinal is situated on the gospel side. The Apostolic Delegate's throne will be placed between the main altar and

Of the recent pay increases to Bell System employees, Mr. Gifford said "management agrees they are fair," but added that "in most cases they will result in earnings less than adequate for investors pending the time management, with the approval of regulatory authorities, secures an increase in telephone rates." He then concluded:

"It is my confident expectation that telephone management will show again business ability the business of all the utilities concerned and so forward on the great task to provide money and better telephone service at a cost as low as fair treatment of customers and reasonable returns to investors."

New Bulletin Describes More Elderberry Uses

"A youngster with a scout knife or no knife at all can gather a bushel of delicious elderberries in a short time with no stooping or thorns to watch for and the satisfaction of a job quickly done."

So says a new Cornell bulletin "Introducing Frozen Elderberries," in pointing out that though elderberries are gone from the main highways, they still flourish along country roads.

"Farm wives have always canned elderberries for pies, for juice, and for eating with breakfast cereal. Many families who rent lockers in community plants and use home freezers, can successfully freeze elderberries which may be used in more ways than the canned product," says the bulletin.

Research has shown that this tasty, wild fruit is valuable also for its vitamin C. One worker, describing elderberries as richer in this respect than any garden fruit except black currants.

Lessen Winter Injury

Winter injury to raspberries can be lessened by taking certain steps to hasten maturity of this year's growth. The time to set is now, according to Professor George L. Slate, small fruit specialist at the State experiment station at Geneva.

There have been many cases reported in the last few weeks where raspberries have failed to fruit, and in most of these, symptoms indicate that the fruiting wood suffered winter injury. Both red and black varieties have been infected. Some varieties are more susceptible than others, according to Professor Slate, but none are entirely immune to growth is too greatly stimulated toward the end of the season.

If the wood goes into the winter in a succulent and immature state, it is very likely to be damaged by frost, to such an extent that it will not be able to function the next season. Although growth may start up well in the spring and fruit may be set, foliage and fruit on winter-injured canes take on a sickly appearance, shrivel, and die before much of the fruit can ripen.

According to Professor Slate, one way to lessen the danger of loss from winter injury is to do everything possible to hasten the maturity and "hardening off" of this year's growth. To accomplish this, discontinue cultivation and allow annual weeds to grow up and compete with the raspberry plants for moisture. Seeding the planting to buckwheat is also recommended as another means of accomplishing the same end.

Bureau of Home Economics Has Timely Suggestions To Meet New Hem Line

Even the clothing experts of the Department of Agriculture are having trouble over the new long-skirt styles. The experts of the department's Bureau of Home Economics are casting about for means to aid those women who can't or won't buy the new skirts.

They say that in most cases it's easy to lengthen a skirt an inch or two, but it's hard to keep the old hem crease from showing. Flared or extremely short skirts present special problems. Here's how Miss Margaret Smith, whose handiness with a needle rates her as a bureau expert would try to overcome these difficulties:

She advises taking a tip from tailors to eliminate telltale hemline creases. Wet the crease on the wrong side, turn the goods to the right side and roll the crease back and forth between the fingers. Then press on the wrong side.

Before trying to lengthen a flared or circular skirt remove the hem ribbon. The skirt bottom usually is gathered into the old ribbon a bit to taper it for the old shorter length.

When the skirt must be let out to its full extent, she advocates seam binding, facing material or both.

The Angelica Conservation Club

A fairly good turn out at the last regular meeting February 11th, but there was room for more. Listen! You lady club members, you are asked to attend these meetings.

Don't tell anyone, but I think at the next annual meeting night—March 10th—there will be a sandwich-eating contest or something. All members are eligible to join this contest by being at the next meeting—March 10th. No coupons nor empty sardine cans requested to enter this eating contest. Keep this in mind ladies, as this is one meal you won't have to cook.

At the last meeting, owing to the absence of President Ray "Pete" Handy, vice-president R. W. Lacy filled the vacancy. Many good and essential subjects were talked. "Perce" Graham gave an interesting account of the County Federation of Conservation Clubs at Belmont. Our intended by-laws composed, and read by our worthy secretary C. L. Lathrop, were very good, but will be commented upon at our next regular and annual meeting nite, at which time they will be voted upon, therefore all members are requested to be present. The club also voted to buy 3500 red pine and spruce trees for this spring delivery.

Red Cross Drive

The annual Red Cross Drive will start March 1st. Mrs. Lee Newman, local chairman announced that the quota for Angelica is $340.

Everyone knows that the Red Cross operates in peace time and does an excellent job. Two families in our branch, who had a bad fire loss have been materially helped by the Red Cross.

In addition to its regular peace time projects one great and important new service has been added—the national blood program. The Red Cross embarked upon this project in response to the urging of leading medical authorities in the U. S., the surgeons general of the Army and Navy and the chapters in annual convention. During the war millions learned what miracles, whole blood and plasma could perform. Thousands are alive today because of that service.

This new program means that eventually this service will be available to all who need it, the entire civilian population. When you add this to the disaster relief service, service to veterans and international activities, it makes a program we feel sure you will all want to help support in the Angelica Branch of Central Allegany Chapter. If everyone will be a committee of one and take his or her contribution to the Bank, our Red Cross quota will be

Junior Red Cross

Who knows but that the contacts and little gifts of the school children of Allegany County are doing just as much, or even more, to build up friendly relations with the common people of foreign lands with the United States than the work of our country's diplomats?

Enrollment of all school children in the Junior Red Cross within the confines of Central Allegany Chapter has been completed, says Chairman Miss Mary A. Higgins, Friendship.

The schools are Angelica, Belfast, Belmont, Cuba, Fillmore, Friendship and Rushford, and contributions have been very generous. Although membership is purely voluntary, most of these schools report 100 per cent enrollment and many of the pupils made contributions over and above the sum required, 50 cents for each grade and one dollar for each high school class.

All of the schools are now filling gift boxes for the impoverished children of the war-torn countries, as well as making various articles for our own Veterans' Hospital at Bath.

This country's diplomatic leaders are having difficulty in interpreting American motives as unselfish in relation to countries where residents are hungry, and the small gift of a comb, a bar of soap, a ball or a bright hair ribbon requires no interpretation when it reaches a little one

If everyone will be a committee of one and take his or her contribution to the Bank, our Red Cross quota will be reached.

Central Allegany Chapter of the American Red Cross has been assigned a quota of $2,640 to be raised for Red Cross work during the March 1-31 Fund Drive, and this total has been apportioned among 14 communities in the Chapter, as follows:

—Town of Allegany, $16,000; B. J. Bohman, $230; Butterworth, $300; Connersville, $200; Connersville, $200; Cuba, $200; Centerville, $100; Gile, $100; Grahamsville, $100; New Hudson, $50; Ruston, $160; and Ward, $15.

Miss Mary Louise Moser, Friendship is chairman of the Fund Drive for 1948. A list of local chairmen will be announced in a few days.

James A. Young Heads Dairy Committee

At a recent meeting of the Allegany County Dairy Commodity Committee, James A. Young, Jr., of Angelica, Chairman and Milton Skull, Friendship, Secretary - Treasurer, were again named to head this committee for 1948. R. F. Frick of the State Agricultural College at Cornell was present at this meeting. Problems encountered during the 1947 season were discussed and program results noted. Mr. Frick sided in making plans for what may be done during this 1948 season. It is hoped that dairymen in Allegheny school claim.

All of the schools are now filling gift boxes for the impoverished children of the war-torn countries, as well as making various articles for our own Veterans' Hospital at Bath.

The country's diplomatic leaders are having difficulty in interpreting American motives as unselfish in relation to countries whose residents are hungry, and the small gift of a comb, a bar of soap, a ball or a bright hair ribbon requires no interpretation when it reaches a little one who perhaps has never seen such an article.

It is confidently hoped that this young generation of Europeans will realize that when the United States holds out a hand it is to give, not to take, and that these little presents are for their benefit.

Angelica vs. Belfast

On Friday, February 20, the final league games of the current basketball season will be played by the high school teams in the local gym. This evening's schedule should prove of interest to all sports' enthusiasts of the community, since it will be the last appearance of the senior and post-graduate stars on the teams, who have, through the years, worked so faithfully and well, to bring credit and victory to A. C. S. The occasion will determine whether the varsity will stand in fourth place in the league, or be tied for third. Finally, we shall have at this time, an opportunity to see our J. V.'s—champions, with no defeats in the section—as they play their final contest.

All should give their loyal support to both teams, as they bid farewell to the one, and wish the other "good luck" for the seasons to come.

CARD OF THANKS

In behalf of the Infantile Paralysis Committee I wish to take this method of thanking the Dramatic Club for their fine efforts

The counsel of the Lord standeth for ever, the thoughts of his heart to all generations.

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "Divine metaphysics, as revealed in spiritual understanding, shows clearly that all is Mind, and that Mind is God, omnipotence, omnipresence, omniscience,—that is, all power, all presence, all Science. Hence all is in reality, the manifestation of Mind." "The everlasting I AM is not bounded nor compressed within the narrow limits of physical humanity, nor can He be understood through mortal concepts" (pp. 215, 256).

World Day of Prayer

World Day of Prayer was held on Friday afternoon at the Smithville church. The Rev. G. W. Smith spoke briefly of the World Day of Prayer, and the meditation on the prayer of St. Ignace Loyola was read. The singing part were Mrs. Carrie Smith, Mrs. J. K. Thompson, M. Laura Tyler, Mrs. H. I. Newm, Miss Doris Cairns and Mrs. L. S. I men. Appropriate hymns were sung throughout the service. A coffee was taken for projects sponsored by the "World Council of Christian Women."

Red Cross Drive

The annual Red Cross Drive will begin on March 1st. Mrs. Lee Newman, chairman, announced that the total for Angelica is $340.

Everyone knows that the Red Cross operates in peace time and does an excellent job. Two families in this branch, who had a bad fire, have been materially helped by the Red Cross.

In its regular peace time work, the Red Cross has done a great and important job. It has been added to the good program. The Red Cross has been asked upon this project in the urging of leading authorities in the U. S., the general of the Army and the chapters in annual.

During the war many what miracles, whose plasma could perform are alive today because of the program means that this service will be available to who need it, the entire population. When you add disaster relief services, veterans and international makes a program we will all want to help the Angelica Branch of any Chapter. If every committee of one and every contribution to the Red Cross quota will be

Who knows but that the contacts and little gifts of the school children of Allegany County are doing just as much, or even more, to build up friendly relations with the common people of foreign lands with the United States than the work of our country's diplomats?

Enrollment of all school children in the Junior Red Cross within the confines of Central Allegany Chapter has been completed, says Chairman Miss Mary A. Higgins, Friendship.

The schools are Angelica, Belfast, Belmont, Cuba, Fillmore, Friendship and Rushford, and contributions have been very generous. Although membership is purely voluntary, most of these schools report 100 per cent enrollment and many of the pupils made contributions over and above the sum required, 50 cents for each grade and one dollar for each high school class.

All of the schools are now filling gift boxes for the impoverished children of the war-torn countries, as well as making various articles for our own Veterans' Hospital at Bath.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST SCIENTIST

"Mind" is the Lesson-Sermon subject for Sunday, February 22.

GOLDEN TEXT: "Who hath known the mind of the Lord, that he may instruct him?" (I Cor. 2:16).

SERMON: From the King James version of the Bible (Exodus 3:13, 14; Psalms 83:8, 9, 11): "And Moses said unto God, Behold, when I come unto the children of Israel, and shall say unto them, The God of your fathers hath sent me unto you; and they shall say to me, What is his name? What shall I say unto them? And God said unto Moses, I AM THAT I AM; and he said, Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, I-AM hath sent me unto you. . . . Let all the earth fear the Lord: let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him. For he spake, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast. . . . The counsel of the Lord standeth for ever, the thoughts of his heart to all generations."

James A. Young Heads Dairy Committee

At a recent meeting of the Allegheny County Dairy Commodity Committee, James A. Young, Jr., of Angelica, Chairman and Milton Scott, Friendship, Secretary-Treasurer, were again named to head this committee for 1948. R. F. Frick of the State Agricultural College at Cornell was present at this meeting. Problems encountered during the 1947 season were discussed and program results noted. Mr. Frick aided in making plans for what may be done during this 1948 season. It is hoped that dairymen in Allegheny County who plan to improve their dairy stables with a view of increasing labor efficiency will attend coming barn meetings and will feel free to call upon Extension Service agents for suggestions along the lines best suited to their individual needs. Assistant County Agricultural Agent S. Hesseltine suggests that they make no changes without first investigating the best plans available.

Angelica vs. Belfast

On Friday, February 20, the final league games of the current basketball season will be played by the high school teams in the local gym. The evening's schedule should prove of interest to all sports' enthusiasts of the community, since it will be the last appearance of the senior and postgraduate stars on the teams, who have, through the years, worked so faithfully and well, to bring credit and victory to A. C. S. The occasion will determine whether the varsity will stand in fourth place in the league, or be tied for third. Finally, we shall have at this time, an opportunity to see our J. V.'s—champions, with no defeats in the section—as they play their final contest. All should give their loyal support to both teams, as they bid farewell to the one, and wish the other "good luck" for the seasons to come.

WASHINGTON—At a recent press and radio conference, one of the reporters ribbed the President about the balcony he was building on the White House, which the Washington fine arts mission objects to as destroying the architectural beauty of the building.

Someone suggested he might conduct a "back porch" political campaign from it. Mr. Truman came right back with the remark that it was a front porch. That, in a sense, is correct, for the southern facade of the White House originally was intended as the front of the building.

Of late, the President has been given to historical anecdotes—he's was fond of slipping down to its banks for a swim as natural in the early morning hours.

There was, in those days, said Mr. Truman, a certain female journalist who had been unable to get an interview with the President. So she slipped down to the canal bank at dawn, waited until he was immersed, then sat on his clothes and stayed there until he answered her questions, decently draped in the waters.

I repeated the story on the air as Mr. Truman told it, and in the next day's mail received a letter from Mr. Daniel J. Kelly Jr., of South Bend, Ind., who is a collector of early historical newspapers.

President Truman, who seems to other one to congress, issued the preservation and protection of civil rights—and then protection of await the explosion.

It came quickly. Southern Democrats, hopping mad over at least four of the 10 controversial points, began to talk seriously of calling a Dixie convention to split away from Mr. Truman on the civil rights issue.

Focus of the current dilemma was a bill, up for approval by the senate labor committee, to create a national commission against job discrimination on grounds of race, creed or color.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender (Dem., La.) predicted that if the bill were approved in its present form the party would erupt into one warfare. Both foes and backers of the measure agreed that it will be a close thing.

The four proposals that most inflamed the southerners are the ones calling for (1) a federal anti-discrimination law, (2) a federal employment practice

Charles F. Brannan, assistant secretary of agriculture, heads the new food saving setup. Originally started by the citizens' food committee last fall, it has been carried on until now under the direct leadership of the cabinet food committee.

Major emphasis, it was understood, would be placed on meat as the pivotal item in the cost of living merry-go-round; however, other foods also would be covered in the voluntary program. Based on specific recommendations of the food industry and public representatives, it is theoretically designed to meet the twin problem of scarce food supplies and high prices.

Biggest talking point the administration had in its attempts to solicit public support was the department of agriculture's somber prediction that the nation is heading for a serious meat shortage in the spring. And by way of emphasis Brannan added that meat rationing "by price" already is in effect because many people cannot afford to

John Quincy Adams was an ardent and accomplished swimmer and he enjoyed a daily plunge into the Potomac even while President. He was also an ardent diarist, and his diary contains many a mention of his dips in the river.

"Anne Royall was Adams' Washington contemporary — a vicious writer and a malevolent journalist. In 1829 she was convicted of being a 'common scold.' Her first contact with Adams was in 1824 when she called at the White House to demand a pension as a Revolutionary war widow. Adams mentioned her in a very uncomplimentary manner in his diary.

The Tithe That Binds

Coming away from a debate on taxes I couldn't help feeling that the discussion, scholarly as it had appeared at points, and ringing with altruism at others, had offered a political potion, only slightly flavored with any essence of economics. How willing is congress to depart from the past, if such a departure affects political futures? Pondering this, I came upon a newspaper woman. Her journalistic career began two years after Adams retired as President. In 1831 she established a newspaper aptly named 'Paul Pry,' and later she founded another small newspaper, the 'Huntress.' It does not seem possible that Anne Royall could have interviewed President Adams, at least in her capacity as a journalist.

"Adams was mentioned in 'Paul Pry' just once, on July 1832. There are references to him in the August 1831, and the March 4, 1848, issues of the 'Huntress.' Mrs. Royall also mentioned Adams in her 'Sketches,' p. 166, and in her 'Black Book,' p. 126. But nowhere did the woman who was supposed to have been involved in the Potomac shore incident ever refer to any interview with John Quincy Adams.

"The supposed incident still makes a good story, and especially, I suppose, when newspaper men are interviewing the President, and when news is somewhat dull. However, I cannot believe that any of the known facts can justify the truth of this old story."

But, I insist, it's a good story and I, for one, will not disillusion any President as to its authenticity.

The four proposals that flamed the southerners ones calling for (1) the lynching law, (2) the employment production poll taxes.

Remainder of the points ad- cated by the President were: permanent commission on rights, a joint congressional committee on civil rights, a civil rights division in the justice department, tightening of civil rights statutes, home rule for the District of Columbia; statehood for Alaska and Hawaii; equalization of naturalization opportunities, and settlement of evacuation claims of Japanese Americans.

Because 1948 is an election year, and a presidential election year that, the program, which otherwise might be ignored, was certain to get hot partisan debate.

In answer to Mr. Truman's firm statement that "something must be done" about the civil rights issue, southern Democrats replied that they were thinking of calling an all-southern convention to pick its own presidential candidate.

Some thought that too drastic a step, but at Jackson, Miss., Walter Sillers, speaker of the Mississippi house of representatives, said he flatly favored such a course in order to withhold at least part of the South's electoral votes from Mr. Truman.

U. S. government has found out eggs that it bought last spring to support domestic prices.

There is one stipulation, however. Only foreign users will be allowed to buy them.

For the comfort of U. S. housewives the agriculture department was swift to point out that these eggs are not the kind that can be used readily for home consumption. They were shelled, dumped into huge containers and frozen before the government bought them in the first place.

How willing is congress to depart from the past, if such a departure affects political futures?

Pondering this, I came upon a dispatch in the London Daily Herald from Romney Marsh, Kent. It recounted how, in the lamp-lit sitting room of a six-century-old farm, a 72-year-old farmer, Archibald Edwin Waddell, complained to a reporter that he was about to be thrown into bankruptcy because he refused to pay 75 pounds and 3 shillings — some $300 — in "tithes."

"I shall probably die muttering," Waddell said, "against this wicked, anti-social custom."

For previous refusals to pay tithes, there had been four seizures from his farm: bullocks, sheep, pigs, farm implements, furniture, his clothing and his cart-horse.

"My father," the old man concluded, "who farmed for 70 years in Kent, paid 1,490 pounds in tithes, and two of my brothers were forced to emigrate. I am fighting against a rope that has tightened around my neck, and around the necks of so many others who love the soil."

Few people realize that tithing, payment of one-tenth of the product of the land, a custom which comes down from feudal days when it was collected by the parish priests, and later the Church of England, is so mod-posed. In 1936 tithing itself was abolished but the law provided that over a period of 60 years a sum should be paid yearly until the amount considered the tithe redemption fund to be the capital of the tithe on a given piece of property, had been reached.

That is what Farmer Waddell objects to. But he'll pay or get out, and he will never live to see the day when he doesn't have to support the church against his will.

Originally the tithe was paid in produce, but in 1838 it became a fixed rent still paid to the church. In 1923, the law was changed to make the tithe payable into what was called "Queen Anne's Bounty," a fund used for general church purposes.

In 1936 tithing itself was abolished but the law provided that over a period of 80 years a sum should be paid yearly until the amount considered the tithe redemption fund to be the capital of the tithe on a given piece of property, had been reached.

JOURNEY TO THE MOON

Get Your Rockets Tuned Up

Science has advanced to the point where, when you talk about taking a trip to the moon, people no longer look sorrowfully upon you as one who has been affected by the fabled light from that lunar orb.

An actual journey to the moon may become a reality sooner than one would have expected five years ago. Right now, in several parts of the world, there are small groups of earnest experts who are quite serious about the prospects of travel between the planets.

One of those organizations is the British Interplanetary society, a group of about 450 members nearly one-third of whom are rocket and supersonic research scientists. Another third is made up of mechanical and electrical engineers, radio and radar technicians.

Many researchers working on military rocket-powered weapons believe that their work on rockets can be just as important for a peaceful future as it might be for war. From the aspect of motive power they know that by the time they can send a rocket halfway around the world they are likely to be within easy reach of the next phase—interplanetary travel.

That time may not be very far distant. Present velocity of a V-2 type rocket is about two miles a second. The velocity required to send one to the most distant spot on this globe is about five miles a second; and the estimated velocity needed to get a rocket out of the earth's gravitational pull is seven miles a second.

But actual travel in space is still a secondary consideration. After man has succeeded in shaking off earth's gravity pull with his rockets, the first thing he will do is to shoot a load of scientific instruments into space.

The visionary scientist sees himself sending instruments to the moon or to Mars. Or arranging it so that part of his rocket would become a satellite to one of the planets. Thus, through a development of television, he might see such things as the secrets of the dark side of the moon.

A wealth of research—literally out of this world—would be opened up long before an attempt could be made to begin human interplanetary travel.

"Although Adams chronicled all usual incidents while swimming, had referred to Mrs. Royall in diary, he makes no mention of supposed meeting of this woman

While Adams lived in the White House, Mrs. Royall was a resident woman. Her journalistic

South Threatens Split; Self Rationing Proposed

President Truman, who seems to run to 10-point programs, tossed another one to congress—concerning the preservation and protection of civil rights—and then stood aside to await the explosion.

It came quickly. Southern Democrats, hopping mad over at least four of the 10 controversial points, began to talk seriously of calling a Dixie convention to split away from
 Mr. Truman on the civil rights issue.

Focus of the current disunity was a bill, up for approval by the senate labor committee, to create a national commission against job discrimination on grounds of race, creed or color.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender (Dem., La.) predicted that if the bill were approved in its present form the party would erupt into open warfare. Both foes and backers of the measure agreed that it would be a close thing.

The four proposals that most inflamed the southerners were the ones calling for (1) a federal antilynching law, (2) a federal anti-employment prac.

Charles F. Brannan, assistant secretary of agriculture, heads the new food saving setup. Originally started by the citizens' food committee last fall, it has been carried on until now under the direct leadership of the cabinet food committee.

Major emphasis, it was understood, would be placed on meat as the pivotal item in the cost of living merry-go-round; however, other foods also would be covered in the voluntary program. Based on specific recommendations of the food industry and public representatives, it is theoretically designed to meet the twin problem of scarce food supplies and high prices.

Biggest talking point the administration had in its attempts to solicit public support was the department of agriculture's somber prediction that the nation is heading for a serious meat shortage in the spring. And by way of emphasis Brannan added that meat rationing
 "by price" already is in effect because many people cannot afford to buy.

They praised God and had favor career began in 1831 when Adams retired as President. In 1831 Adams established a newspaper aptly named 'Paul Pry,' and later she founded another small newspaper, the 'Huntress.' It does not seem possible that Anne Royall could have interviewed President Adams, at least in her capacity as a journalist.

"Adams was mentioned in 'Paul Pry' just once, on July 1822. (These are references; him in the 1848, issues of the 'Huntress,' Mrs. Royall also mentioned Adams in her 'Sketches,' p. 166, and in her 'Black Book,' p. 126. But nowhere did the woman who was supposed to have been involved in the Potomac shore incident ever refer to any interview with John Quincy Adams.

"The supposed incident still makes a good story, and especially, I suppose, when newspaper men are interviewing the President, and when news is somewhat dull. However, I cannot believe that any of the known facts can justify the truth of this old story."

But, I insist, it's a good story and I, for one, will not disillusion any President as to its authenticity.

That is what Farmer Waddell objects to. But he'll pay or get out, and he will never live to see the day approved in its present form the party would erupt into open warfare. Both foes and backers of the measure agreed that it would be a close thing.

The four proposals that most inflamed the southerners were the ones calling for (1) the repeal of the lynch law, (2) the abolition of the employment practice outlawing poll taxes.

Remainder of the points advocated by the President were: a permanent commission on civil rights, a joint congressional committee on civil rights, a civil rights division in the justice department, tightening of civil rights statutes, home rule for the District of Columbia; statehood for Alaska and Hawaii; equalization of naturalization opportunities, and settlement of evacuation claims of Japanese-Americans.

Because 1948 is an election year, and a presidential election year at that, the program, which otherwise might be ignored, was certain to get hot partisan debate.

In answer to Mr. Truman's firm statement that "something must be done" about the civil rights issue, southern Democrats replied that they were thinking of calling an all-southern convention to pick its own presidential candidate.

Some thought that too drastic a step, but at Jackson, Miss., Walter Sillers, speaker of the Mississippi house of representatives, said he flatly favored such a course in order to withhold at least part of the South's electoral votes from Mr. Truman.

SELF RATIONING: Second Best

Manifestly stymied in its efforts to get congress to pass rationing and price control legislation that meet the twin problem of scarce food supplies and high prices.

Biggest talking point the administration had in its attempts to solicit public support was the department of agriculture's somber prediction that the nation is heading for a serious meat shortage in the spring. And by way of emphasis Brannan added that meat rationing "by price" already is in effect because many people cannot afford to buy.

U. S. government has hung out a "for sale" sign on 40.5 million dozen eggs that it bought last spring to support domestic prices.

There is one stipulation, however. Only foreign users will be allowed to buy them.

For the comfort of U. S. housewives the agriculture department was swift to point out that these eggs are not the kind that can be used readily for home consumption. They were shelled, dumped into huge containers and frozen before the government bought them in the first place.

Agriculture department decided to sell the eggs to foreign buyers when it was unable to sell them to bakers and confectioners in this country because egg production has been going up and egg prices down.

They praised God and had favor with all the people. By their daily living they were convincing the world that fellowship in Christ is not only good on Sunday while we are at the meeting house, but good every day.

The happy homes are the homes where Christian fellowship abounds, and it is equally true in every area of life.

AT CHURCH WITH FRIENDS

WHAT IS THE POINT? The word "fellowship" is not only of the Psalms, but of countless junior boys and girls throughout our land who eagerly await the sound of the church bells. Boys and girls delight to go to Sunday school and worship when the life of the church is pervaded with Christian fellowship. There they meet the finest boys and girls in the community.

BELONGING TO THE CHURCH

THE passage in Acts 2:37-47 tells us how certain people, after hearing the great sermon by Peter, asked how they might be saved. He told them:

"Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit."

When we invite intermediate friends to attend Sunday school and worship services with us, and they come to know of the love of God, they, too, will want to be saved. It is then the high privilege of Christian boys and girls to lead their friends to accept Jesus Christ as Saviour, and come into the church.

In Ephesians 4:4-6, we read these words: "There is one body and one Spirit, just as you were called to the one hope that belongs to your call, one Lord, one faith, one baptism,

Instead of water, use lemon juice, grapefruit juice, or orange juice. This makes a full cup of syrup. It keeps perfectly and tastes fine. And you'll say it's truly excellent for quick action. You can feel it take hold swiftly. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Thus it eases breathing, and lets you sleep.

Manifestly stymied in its efforts to get congress to pass rationing and price control legislation, the administration tried a new approach in the form of an appeal for nationwide self-rationing.

Greater public support of an intensified drive for voluntary conservation would have to be developed, if living costs are to be curbed, the administration decided.

As an initial step representatives of 18 consumer, producer and distributor groups met with Claude Anderson, secretary of agriculture, to map details of the nationwide program.

and worship services with us, and God, they, too, will want to be saved. It is then the high privilege of Christian boys and girls to lead their friends to accept Jesus Christ as Saviour, and come into the church.

In Ephesians 4:4-6, we read these words: "There is one body and one Spirit, just as you were called to the one hope that belongs to your call, one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of us all, who is above all and through all and in all."

ALL ONE IN CHRIST

The above passage from Ephesians teaches clearly that there is a brotherhood of man, real and abiding, when we accept the Fatherhood of God, through Jesus Christ. This is the meaning of the church. No amount of man-made creeds can save us. No amount of ritual and ceremony can save us. We are saved by grace through faith, and that is the gift of God. When we repent of our sins and believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, we are saved, and not until then.

The one adequate solvent for the crying needs of this frightened world is the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ. Just as thousands were saved on Pentecost and again on the Lord's Day when Peter preached in Solomon's porch, so today many may be saved where the Gospel is proclaimed in its simplicity and power.

We are one in Christ, of every race and every tongue. The fellowship of Christian faith transcends every barrier — racial, economic, geographic, political, religious. We have but to proclaim the universality of this good news—proclaim it in our words and proclaim it in our daily lives. The world waits wistfully for the encompassing fellowship that is in Christ and in Christ alone.

THE MOON

Our Rockets Tuned Up

Many researchers working on military rocket-powered weapons believe that their work on rockets can be just as important for a peaceful future as it might be for war. From the aspect of motive power they know that by the time they can send a rocket halfway around the world they are likely to be within easy reach of the next phase—interplanetary travel.

That time may not be very far distant. Present velocity of a V-2 type rocket is about two miles a second. The velocity required to send one to the most distant spot in this globe is about five miles a second; and the estimated velocity needed to get a rocket out of the earth's gravitational pull is seven miles a second.

But actual travel in space is still secondary consideration. After man has succeeded in shaking off earth's gravity pull with his rockets, the first thing he will do is to shoot a load of scientific instruments into space.

The visionary scientist sees himself sending instruments to the moon or to Mars. Or arranging it so that part of his rocket would become a satellite to one of the planets. Thus, through a development of television, he might see such things as the secrets of the dark side of the moon.

A wealth of research—literally out of this world—would be opened up long before an attempt could be made to begin human interplanetary travel!

There's No Limit to Work Day For Mayor of Many Interests

WOOD RIVER, ILL. — The mayor of Wood River (population 8,197) is a man of two titles, five jobs, unbounded enthusiasm and a complete disregard for the limits of a 24-hour day.

As mayor of the bustling Midwestern town, 35-year-old Lavier D. Humphrey puts on his "executive hat" and, like mayors the country over, deliberates highway improvements, tax rates, police affairs and garbage disposal.

Then he switches to dungarees and an oil worker's safety helmet for his eight hour a day job as operator in Shell Oil company's refinery in neighboring Roxana. Starting in 1933, Humphrey has worked up to his present job as an operator in the lubricating oil plant.

Donning a worn but serviceable baseball cap—symbolic of his intense interest in youth of the town—Humphrey turns to his third major interest, that of providing suitable recreation facilities for Wood River youngsters. He has established supervised playgrounds for youngsters of all ages and currently is sponsoring the conversion of a 15-acre corn field into a ball park and recreation center.

The mayor's fourth activity—the one of which he secretly is most proud—is his famed Junior G-Man club, first of its kind in the country. Humphrey and Police Chief Frank Starkey formed the club after youngsters caused $500 damage to property during Hallow-

For Quick Cough Relief, Mix This Syrup, at Home

Here's an old home mixture your mother probably used, but, for real results, it is still one of the most effective and dependable, for coughs due to colds. Once tried, you'll swear by it. It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey instead of sugar syrup. Now put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and fill up with your syrup. This makes a full pint of splendid cough medicine, and gives you relief four times as much for your money. It keeps perfectly and tastes fine. It keeps perfectly and tastes fine. And you'll say it's truly excellent. And you'll say it's truly excellent. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Thus it eases breathing, and lets you sleep. Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its quick action on throat and bronchial irritations. steps of his plan... sponsoring the conversion of a 15-acre corn field into a ball park and recreation center.

The mayor's fourth activity—the one of which he secretly is most proud—is his famed Junior G-Man club, first of its kind in the country. Humphrey and Police Chief Frank Starkey formed the club after youngsters caused $500 damage to municipal property during Halloween night festivities in 1944. Club members cooperate actively with police; they report parking violations, speeders, red light crashers; they unmasked a peeping tom always one look ahead of police, and they aided in detecting a gang of vandals who were breaking into the local high school. Since the club was organized, Halloween damage has dropped to less than $25.

Humphrey admits, however, that his fifth job is the hardest: The coordination of all his activities within the limits of a 24-hour day. Under a Shell policy encouraging employees to participate in civic activities, Humphrey often finds himself wearing the mantle of each of his jobs at once.

Between sandwich bites during lunch hour in the refinery, he may hear a citizen's complaint that his neighbor's car horn honks too long. When a report on speeders from a trusted G-Man lieutenant, review the latest set of ball park plans and even go over his own refinery reports.

Enthusiasm is this young Midwesterner's main trait—a contagious enthusiasm of rolled up sleeves, hard work and the deep satisfaction that comes from accomplishment.

Dessert lovers everywhere enjoy deep-dish, fruit puddings with their crisp crusts, their mouth-watering fragrance. The grand thing about them is that you may have them at any time during the year, but especially during the months when fresh fruit is not so readily available.

First of all, there are canned cherries, plump, red and juicy. But don't stop there, for you may like to use apples or figs, pears and apricots, and even some of the citrus fruits. All of them are happy inspiration for meals that you want to be filling and hearty.

Another thing you'll like about them is that you can make them in advance and keep them in the refrigerator until you are ready to bake them.

Special Cherry Cobbler (Serves 6)

- 1 No. 2 can jar, pitted red cherries
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1/4 to 1/2 cup milk
- 1 cup prepared biscuit mix
- 1 cup shredded American cheese

Drain the cherries and heat the juice to boiling. Blend sugar and cornstarch in enough water to make a thin paste. Gradually add this to the hot cherry juice and cook until thick and clear. Add the cherries. Place in a shallow baking dish. Add the milk to the biscuit mix and blend well. Roll out into an oblong piece, 1/4 inch thick. Sprinkle with shredded slices of cheese and roll up like a jelly roll. Cut into 1/2 inch slices and place them in a shallow baking dish.

Self—It's School

HARRISBURG, PA.—The country doctor in Pennsylvania has returned to school to learn the latest progress in the medical field. This new venture in medical education, never attempted previously anywhere in the world, has been hailed as a "pattern for other states."

Sponsored by Pennsylvania Medical society, the project has been accorded an enthusiastic reception by some 840 physicians of small towns and rural areas.

"Students" attend one eight-hour class a week in the nearest of six centrally located instruction centers. Teaching centers at present are in Allentown, Harrisburg, Johnstown, Oil City, Wilkes-Barre and Williamsport. The course extends for 10 weeks.

Instructors are medical experts from leading training institutions of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. They lecture morning, afternoon and evening on the latest know-how in medicine. Practical phases of diagnosis and treatment are covered, instructors explaining the best techniques known to the medical profession.

Of the 840 doctors who took the opening course 580 were general practitioners, most of them from small communities and rural areas. The remaining 260 were specialists in inter-

Human, After All

Back in high school, Humphrey set a record for the mile which lasted until 1947. He has been a fast-moving man of action ever since. Rugged as he is, however, he occasionally tires from the strain at the refinery and city hall. When the pace does catch up with him, he sits in this living room chair.

- (Serves 6)
1 No. 2 can tart, pitted red cherries
1/2 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 to 1/2 cup milk
1 cup prepared biscuit mix
1 cup shredded American cheese

Drain the cherries and heat the juice to boiling. Blend sugar and cornstarch in enough water to make a thin paste. Gradually add this to the hot cherry juice and cook until thick and clear. Add the cherries. Place in a shallow baking dish. Add the milk to the biscuit mix and blend well. Roll out into an oblong piece, 1/4 inch thick. Sprinkle with shredded slices of cheese and roll up like a jelly roll. Cut into 1/2 inch slices and place them around the edge of the cherry mixture. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees) for 12 to 15 minutes or until the biscuit pinwheels are done.

(Serves 6)

- 1/2 cup strained honey
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
2 teaspoons butter, melted
1 No. 2 1/2 can sliced peaches, drained

Combine honey, cinnamon and butter. Add peaches. Place in individual custard cups. Use the following as a crust:

- 1 cup sifted flour
1 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons sugar
2 tablespoons shortening
3/4 cup milk

Sift dry ingredients together; cut in shortening until it resembles coarse meal. Add milk, stirring until mixture is damp.

1/2 cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup corn flakes
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 tablespoon grated

Arrange the apples in a shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons of sugar on top; then pour half of the orange juice over top. Work 1/2 cup brown sugar and butter together.

Add corn flakes and flour, spice and orange rind and spread on top. Remaining orange dot with remainder of butter. Bake in a hot oven (375 degrees) for 30 minutes. Serve warm thickened.

Farmers Strengthen Neighborly Tradition

EL PASO, ILL. — Strengthening a tradition of neighborliness between El Paso villagers and Woodford county farmers originally launched 33 years ago, 50 farmers aided in cleaning streets and yards of debris left in the village by a storm.

With tractors, axes and saws, the farmers cleaned up parts of fallen trees, brush and twigs, hauling the debris to a dump for burning. Then the farmers were treated to dinner in two El Paso cafes.

The neighborly tradition began in 1914, when 160 farmers hauled 700 loads of dirt into town to fill in the village parks, then being developed as a recreation center for children of the community and outlying rural areas. In 1918 the villagers reciprocated by organizing shock troop grain harvesters during a farm labor shortage.

Dessert lovers everywhere enjoy deep-dish, fruit puddings with their crisp crusts, their mouth-watering fragrance. The grand thing about them is that you may have them at any time during the year, but especially during the months when fresh fruit is not so readily available.

First of all, there are canned cherries, plump, red and juicy. But don't stop there, for you may like to use apples or figs, pears and apricots, and even some of the citrus fruits. All of them are happy inspiration for meals that you want to be filling and hearty.

Another thing you'll like about these desserts is that they are simple to make on days when you use the oven for the rest of the meal.

Special Cherry Cobbler

(Serves 6)

- 1 No. 2 can jart, pitted red cherries
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons cornstarch
- 3/4 to 1 cup milk
- 1 cup prepared biscuit mix
- 1 cup shredded American cheese

Drain the cherries and heat the juice to boiling. Blend sugar and cornstarch in enough water to make a thin paste. Gradually add this to the hot cherry juice and cook until thick and clear. Add the cherries. Place in a shallow baking dish. Add the milk to the biscuit mix and blend well. Roll out into a 12-inch piece, 1/4 inch thick. Sprinkle with shredded slices of cheese and roll up like a jelly roll. Cut into 1/2 inch slices and place them around the edge of the cherry mixture in a hot oven (425 degrees).

- *Special Cherry Cobbler
- *Recipe given.

- 1/2 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons butter, softened
- 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 quart sliced apples
- 1/2 cup strained honey
- 2 tablespoons butter

Sift flour once, measure; add baking powder and salt, then sift together. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add milk all at once; mix until all flour is dampened. Turn out on board; knead lightly, then pat into a rectangle about 1/4 inch thick. Spread with softened butter, sprinkle with apples and brown sugar and cinnamon. Roll as for jelly roll and cut in 10 pieces. Place apples in a buttered casserole. Add honey and butter. Place rolls on top of apples. Bake in a hot oven for 50 minutes. Serve warm with plain or sweetened whipped cream.

If you want to save flour in a pudding, you might try this flake pudding, made with apples:

Apple Flake Crunch

(Serves 4 to 6)

- 6 cups pared, cored and sliced apples
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 cup corn flakes
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind

Arrange the apples in a greased baking dish. Sprinkle the two tablespoons of su-tools to turn out a really professional looking job.

The full size patterns offered here provide a new, simplified method of making that's really easy to follow. Being full size, they carry many more details than the smaller patterns usually found in magazines.

Numbered patterns and numbered assembly illustrations show exactly where each piece is joined, where to sew, what size to use, and so on. All materials can be purchased at your local haberdashery at half the purchase cost of expensive ready-made.

Human, After All

Back in high school, Humphrey set a record for the mile which lasted until 1947. He has been a fast-moving man of action ever since. Rugged as he is, however, he occasionally tires he to strain at the refinery and city hall. When the pace does catch up with him, it's usually in this living room chair.

No Problem for Him

BURLINGTON, VT. — Stricken with laryngitis, Prof. Robert S. Long of University of Vermont thought of canceling his classes. Then he had a better idea. He whispered his lecture into a recording machine which he carried to the classroom and turned on full blast.

Neighborly Tradition

The farmers were treated to dinner in two El Paso cafes.
 The neighborly tradition began in 1914, when 160 farmers hauled 700 loads of dirt into town to fill in the village parks, then being developed as a recreation center for children of the community and outlying rural areas. In 1918 the villagers reciprocated by organizing shock troop grain harvesters during a farm labor shortage.

- (Serves 6)
- 1/4 cup strained honey
  - 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
  - 2 teaspoons butter, melted
  - 1 No. 2 1/2 can sliced peaches, drained
- Combine honey, cinnamon and butter. Add peaches. Place in individual custard cups. Use the following as a crust:
- 1 cup sifted flour
  - 1 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
  - 1/4 teaspoon salt
  - 2 teaspoons sugar
  - 2 tablespoons shortening
  - 1/2 cup milk

Sift dry ingredients together; cut in shortening until it resembles coarse meal. Add milk, stirring until mixture is damp.

Drop dough onto prepared fruit; spread evenly to the edge. Bake in a hot oven until crust is nicely browned. Serve warm with cream or hard sauce.

In place of peaches, apricot halves or plums may be used.

Steamed Cranberry Pudding.

- (Serves 6 to 8)
- 1 cup raw cranberries, halved
  - 1 cup finely diced pineapple
  - 1/2 cup mixed citron
  - 1/2 cup light molasses
  - 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
  - 1/4 teaspoon powdered cloves
  - 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
  - 1 1/2 cups flour
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1 teaspoon baking soda
  - 2 tablespoons cold water

Combine fruit, molasses and spices. Add sifted flour and salt. Dissolve soda in cold water, add and blend thoroughly. Turn the batter into a greased lid or doubled parchment paper tied snugly. Steam for two hours on top of stove. Turn out and serve with hard sauce or softened ice cream.

SOLONS ACCEPT MANY REPORTS MEET IN MARCH

Despite rejection of establishment of a County Health Department in this county by the Board of Supervisors February 3 by a vote of 16 to 13, its members still talked health quite a little at their recent adjourned session. What the members discussed called for no decision, except to adopt the annual report of the Public Health Nursing Service.

The county has 97 known tuberculosis patients, ten hospitalized, smallest number in some years, and the county's death rate from the disease is next to the lowest in the state. Patient care in Mt. Morris costs the county $2.50 daily, some cases running up bills as high as $5,000.

Because it has been impossible to find a third county nurse, the two have carried out a large amount of work.

That the 94 cases in Children's Court in 1947 was slightly under the number in 1946 was reported by Judge Ward M. Hopkins. Collec-

The sum of $25,000 was ordered transferred from the county road funds to the snow removal fund. The considerable quantity of machinery purchased for the county highway department was reported.

Sheriff F. Vanama Jones made detailed reports on the county jail and as dog warden. The county jail provided 2,546 days confinement for prisoners against 2,736 in 1946. His staff investigated 157 complaints and arrested 35 persons on criminal charges and 43 for traffic violations. Addressing the board in person, he said food for meals cost 52 cents per day per prisoner. Adjournment was taken until March 2.

Because it has been impossible to find a third county nurse, the two have carried out a large amount of work.

That the 94 cases in Children's Court in 1947 was slightly under the number in 1946 was reported by Judge Ward M. Hopkins. Collections on court orders amounted to $8,943.79. Coroners Dr. E. S. Webster of Friendship reported on eight deaths and E. O. Brace of Wellsville on 15. The County Civil Service Commission and the Farm Bureau annual reports were accepted.

An earnest request for construction of improved roads on links with other roads came from Centerville Grange, 116 members. It asked for building one mile between Centerville and Wyoming county line and three miles between Centerville and the Cattaraugus county line would complete improved highways from Rochester to Salamanca. Drivers for nine firms using the unconstructed portions joined in the resolutions. School buses, mail routes and milk routes go over the unconstructed sections. The request was referred to the Highway Committee.

DRIVE LAUNCHED ON ALL UNPAID HOSPITAL BILLS

Wellsville village and hospital officials are embarking on a stern drive to collect, by legal steps if necessary, over $60,000 worth of bills which have accumulated for care of patients in Jones Memorial Hospital during the past five years.

Figures submitted to the Board of Village Trustees Monday night show a total of $43,818.69 accumulated during the five-year period, but this total includes only a scattering of unpaid 1947-48 accounts. The total for the fiscal year which ends this month may approximate an additional $20,000 according to indications at the present time. This would bring the complete five-year total well beyond the $60,000 mark.

The first step in the concerted collection campaign is already under way. All those having unpaid hospital bills are being rebilled and the re-billing is accompanied by a letter asking for prompt payment.

Officials have indicated that those unable to pay the bill in full must at least make a partial payment and the necessary arrangements for regular payments on the balance.

IT'S A LONG PULL-

But Our Rural Telephone Program is Moving Right Along

All told, we've installed some 41,000 telephones for folks in New York's rural areas since the beginning of 1946. And about 2000 new rural families will receive service each month.

That's mighty important to us, for giving service to those on the waiting lists is our number one job. We realize that it's important to our new customers, too, many of whom have been waiting a long time for their service to be connected.

We are installing a lot of new equipment such as wire, cables, switchboards and other complex central office equipment. More of it is reaching us every day, and as fast as it becomes available we are fitting it into the telephone system. As a result, we're making record progress towards our goal—to provide everyone with service when he wants it, and to make the speed and quality of the service better than ever.

DEER LIKE CHILDREN'S HOME

Your little deer, so tame that they nibble on visitors' coat sleeves, are making their home at the Randolph Children's Home farm. The deer were placed in the care of Paul Benson, Home farm manager, by conservation department officials who feared that the small animals would perish if turned loose in the woods during the cold winter weather. Evidently the deer were fed last summer, so they have no fear of human beings. It is expected that the conservation department will send more deer there to be "boarded" during the winter.

SHORTY OUTMATCHES A KILLER

By JOE STEEL

"Well," I says to Shorty No-Legs, "this is it. You bust it or it busts you."

It was undoubtedly a very tough case. Sheriff Shorty No-Legs would first have to prove it accident or murder. If murder, then he'd have to catch the murderer. And if he failed anywhere along the line he'd have to resign.

But that was the way Shorty—World War I veteran—had asked for it. There had been so many unsolved murders in Dry Creek county that Shorty ran on his word that he would resign whenever he failed to solve a case.

The name Shorty had given when he first came to Scenic City came from the fact that he actually had no legs. There were barely enough stumps below Shorty's powerful body to enable him to do what he cheerfully called walking.

"I'm blowing like a winded horse," Shorty said, glancing back over the boulder-strewn way down have stayed with medicine or law. Barbers are always skinny."

I'd hunted with him many times, and seen him climb around in the mountain lots, but now he amazed even me. He was driving hard on this case. We clambered up to the highway just as the ambulance arrived.

"Take him to Doc's," No-Legs said. But we found out, after a long delayed breakfast, that the Doc didn't find any trace of drugs or liquor on the body.

"Maybe he went to sleep," I said. "Maybe," agreed Shorty. "Now just prove it and I can resume my disturbed slumbers."

"I couldn't, of course. 'Who found him?' I asked.

"Doc. Comin' back from a night call over in the hills somewhere and noticed the broken guard rail."

"What do you think?"

"I don't," he said. "I ain't got nothing to think on. There's got to be some other angles."

I should see the pressure of a No-Legs. Like everybody else—he'd just stare.

Wood on the defensive and looking angry at having to explain to the legless owl

Rhodes started again. "Maybe," agreed Shorty. "Now just prove it and I can resume my disturbed slumbers."

He came out on the train car hunt while Lefty would be today and we'd go to a stop.

No-Legs sure surprised me with his rattle in his hip holster.

rhodes' stomach. "You're a murderer," he said. Rhodes soon recovered and grinned which he had slipped and slid to where the battered sports roadster and the man's body lay. Several hundred feet above looped the narrow concrete ribbon of Blue River pass highway. The roadster had been moving on the steep down grade toward Scenic City when it failed to make a hairpin turn and jitterbugged its dance of death down the almost sheer mountainside.

No-Legs mopped his face with a huge bandana and began a painstaking search of the wreckage. There wasn't much. The dead man wore a rather flashy suit. He had on yellow shoes, so new that match scratches in the instep of the left one could plainly be seen. Cigarettes, odds and ends, and a picture of the dead man and a little geezer evidently named "Chick," rounded out the inventory.

"Somebody," said No-Legs, "could have got this guy drunk or drugged, driven him to this curve, headed the roadster for the railing, and stepped out. The pavement wouldn't show any tracks," he added sadly.

"Shorty," I says, "maybe I could carry you pick-a-back back up this mountain." I could see he was ready to leave.

"Yeh," he snorted, giving me a backhanded slap in the midriff with one of his ham-hands. "Me weighing 160 without legs, and you weighing 135 legs and all. You should

 "Nothing. When you're hunting geese the first thing to do is stay in the blind. Then if they don't fly in to you after so long, you try to crawl up on them. We ain't stayed in the blind long enough yet."

He was right. Soon after dinner a smallish fellow showed up at Shorty's office. He was in hunting togs and would have looked like Little Lord Fauntleroy if it hadn't been for beetling black eyebrows and the vicious looking cigar he was smoking.

"I'm 'Chick' Rhodes," he said, "and I wanted to talk with you about the wreck out on Blue River pass. Heard about it at the cafe."

No-Legs kept Rhodes talking, then finally tossed the picture he had taken from the dead man on to the desk. Three words were under it: "Lefty and Chick."

"That's Lefty all right," Rhodes said. "And that's me," pointing to the other figure. "Taken in Chicago just before me and Lefty sold our pool hall and headed for California. Lefty was going to be drafted, and I couldn't run the place myself. Figured maybe I could handle a sandwich stand in California for the duration."

You could never tell from looking at No-Legs what he was thinking. He'd spread his stumps apart, roll his eyes up at your face and stare as unblinking as an owl. He was do-

"Let's go to Rhodes' hotel," he said, without giving me a chance to ask questions. Arrived in "Chick's" room, he began digging in suitcase. "Here they are." He said it just like he knew they'd be there. They were insurance policies on the life of George (Lefty) Ellitto. Twenty-five thousand dollars in all. "That dead man ain't Ellitto," No-Legs said. "I think Ellitto must have done the actual murder."

I still couldn't get it. But that evening No-Legs met me in the cafe and gave me the dope. Rhodes had confessed. "It was like I said. Ellitto killed him. You see Ellitto and Rhodes found a guy in Chicago that looked just like Ellitto. They offered him a good proposition to go West with them. Up on the pass Ellitto stops the car on a pretense of getting the other fellow to drive. Then, he knocks him in the head and stows him behind the wheel. I maneuvered the car over the cliff. We couldn't tell whether the fellow had been hit in the head or got a bump in the wreck."

I began to see. "Rhodes v. colled the insurance, meet in Old Mexico or some place live happily ever after." I got out the question that mented me all afternoon. "How the dead man v-

I USED to seek a crowd to find delight,
 And this they gave me—laughter and brief song,
 Bright powdered wings that dusted off in flight,
 And bubbled-beauty, nothing lasting long.
 But once I found a pathway down my heart:
 A dim, untraversed way I had not known.
 I walked it timidly, a thing apart,
 Bewildered that I found myself alone.

But now I seek that beautiful retreat,
 And find such cool, deep peace, such sheer delight:
 Cold springs of water welling at my feet, White flowers by day, white guiding stars by night.
 The old crowd's laughter falls upon my ear,
 I am exploring, and I do not hear.

Metallic Flesh and Bone Used for Artificial Ears
 Metallic flesh and bone made from tantalum are providing new ears and rehabilitating torn nerves and other tissues for thousands of persons, Dr. Clarence W. Balke reported to American Chemical society.

Artificial ears have been grown on frameworks of tantalum wire, and more than 5,000 skull injuries have been repaired with tantalum plates.
 Thousands of severed or injured nerves have been made sound again with tantalum foil, and literally miles of wire have been used for surgical sutures, Dr. Balke reported.

Tantalum is called "biologically acceptable" since body tissues adhere to and grow over the metal.
 Both tantalum and columbium are completely non-irritating to living tissues, and they are not made irritating by pathological or disease conditions within the tissues.

Implants of tantalum gauze are used where muscular or other soft tissue is either milling or has been removed. Final repair of recurhernia and closure of abdomin-walls after cancer removal are of-standing illustrations.

1. The Ohio.
2. Nevada.
3. No. Many early Egyptians and Indian gods were equipped with halos.
4. One hundred and sixty-seven feet.
5. Thirty-two and two-tenths feet per second.
6. Sixteen per cent.
7. Nine pounds.
8. Two.
9. Three and three-tenths per cent. The amount of money put into insurance by the average family rose from $20 in 1900 to $140 in 1946.
10. Yes — for when water which has been recently heated freezes, the ice is usually far more compact as it has less air in it and will burst a pipe easier than frozen cold water will.

SED to seek a crowd to find delight, and this they gave me—laughter and brief song, powdered wings that dusted off in flight, bubbled-beauty, nothing lasting long, once I found a pathway down my heart: an untraversed way I had not known, led it timidly, a thing apart, dered that I found myself alone.

ow I seek that beautiful retreat, and such cool, deep peace, such sheer delight: springs of water welling at my feet, flowers by day, white guiding stars by night, a crowd's laughter falls upon my ears exploring, and I do not hear.

Metallic Flesh and Bone Used for Artificial Ears

Metallic flesh and bone made from tantalum are providing new ears and rehabilitating torn nerves and other tissues for thousands of patients, Dr. Clarence W. Balke reports to American Chemical Society.

Artificial ears have been grown on frameworks of tantalum wire, and more than 5,000 skull injuries have been repaired with tantalum plates.

Thousands of severed or injured nerves have been made sound again with tantalum foil, and literally miles of wire have been used for surgical sutures, Dr. Balke reports.

Tantalum is called "biologically acceptable" since body tissues adhere to and grow over the metal. Both tantalum and columbium are completely non-irritating to living tissue and they are not made irritating by pathological or disease conditions within the tissues.

Implants of tantalum gauze are used where muscular or other soft tissue is either milling or has been removed. Final repair of recurrent hernia and closure of abdominal wall after cancer removal are outstanding illustrations.

SPEEDED-UP COMFORT for so-called KIDNEY SUFFERERS

Backache, leg pains, broken sleep, painful passages usually go so much quicker if you switch to Foley (the new kidney-bladder) Pills. They stimulate sluggish kidneys; then ALLAY BLADDER IRRITATION. That's the cause of most pains, aches, urges once thought entirely due to kidneys. So for quicker, longer-lasting relief, soothe bladder as well as stimulate kidney action. Do this: use Foley (the new kidney-bladder) Pills; they also have direct sedative-like action on bladder. At your druggist. Unless you find them far more satisfactory, DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK.

Record Snowfall Causes Downstaters To Flood 'Phone Offices With Calls

Unprecedented Traffic Handled by Operating Forces Who Carry on Despite the Weather Handicaps; Lines Out by Sleet, Soon Repaired

When King Winter in his fury blanketed downstate New York with 25.8 inches of snow in one day, December 26, amid the Christmas holiday season activities, he broke many records, but two notable ones. The depth of snow decidedly topped the 20.9 inches of the famed Blizzard of '88, severely crippled transportation and stranded multitudes, all of which brought about record-breaking use of telephones.

To climax the ensuing week of digging out and getting back to normal, came the big sleet which ushered in the New Year, and crippled power and communication lines as well as transportation.

Fortunately the big snow and sleet did not bring as severe conditions as did the Blizzard of '88, which continued with near-gale force for several days, brought temperatures near zero, and completely paralyzed communications. While about 9,500 telephones on Long Island and in Westchester were tem-days. In the city, Westchester and entire Long Island, calls were generally 40 to 50 per cent above normal.

Telephone operators and others helping to provide the service were in many cases stranded and greatly handicapped by the storm, but they rose to the emergency in handling the skyrocketing traffic. Some of the operators walked as far as eight miles, and as long as three hours, to man their positions at the switchboard. In many

Great Ships With Voiceways Return

An unmistakable sign of more normal times in world transportation is the more frequent appearance in New York and other great harbors of giant, palatial ocean liners, equipped with ship-to-shore radiotelephone and other conveniences.

The Nieuw Amsterdam, newly recon-ditioned flagship of the Holland-America Line (shown above), which recently arrived in New York on its first post-war voyage, is the seventh transoceanic vessel to be re-equipped for Bell System ship-to-shore telephone service since the war. A person in one of the luxuriously appointed staterooms of the 46,667-ton ship, can be connected with any Bell or Bell-connecting telephone in the United States.

Other ships having similar service include the America, Aquitania, Matsonia, Mauretania, Queen Elizabeth and the S.S. Leviathan in 19 become Mrs. Thomas Mathis. Her mother (in rear vehicle) is also an operator. Top: Yonkers operators trudge through storm to their posts. Left: Repairing telephone damage caused by sleet.

porarily put out of service by the sleet storm, greatly reinforced crews of the New York Telephone Company working at top efficiency, were able to restore the service in a few days. Thanks to modern telephone equipment, including underground and overhead cables enclosing most of the wires, the damage was held to a minimum.

Though the big snow did relatively little damage to telephone equipment, its paralysis of transportation caused people to turn to their telephones as never before. Within the big city the originating calls mounted from the previous record of 15,410,000 to 17,413,000 on the day of the storm, on Friday, the day of the storm, and on the following Monday reached 18,321,000 calls, and held near that figure for two more cases the Red Cross furnished cots for the central offices. Operators also snatched sleep at the homes of nearby friends in order to continue on the job until the emergency was over. As a result of such devotion to duty, the coverage of the switchboards was practically complete.

"We greatly appreciate the spirit of service shown by these girls in placing the needs of the community above all else," said an official of the telephone company regarding the maintenance of service.

Many sections in the eastern upstate area suffered from heavy snows during this period. Their traffic too frequently broke all-time records, and was handled by operators who carried on despite adverse conditions.

RUBY VALLEE, crooner who helps in the distribution of radios and entertainment equipment supplied to hospitalized Veterans. For some time for which the war will never end.

Thirty-seven years ago J. E. Spaid gave up a job in a Syracuse automobile factory to take one buying right-of-way for a new telephone toll line, because the work was near his home in Seneca Falls, N. Y. One result of this has been that over the years he has probably established a record for being away from home on workday evenings. He buys right-of-way throughout the New York Telephone Company's Central Division in Upstate New York.

Dean of right-of-way men Upstate, Mr. Spaid heads a force of 14 men who are buying rights to erect telephone plant on other people's property at the rate of 10,000 purchases a year. These range from buying the rights to place a wire for guying a telephone pole to the task of securing land rights for placing 75 miles of telephone cable over numerous properties.

4 Millionth Telephone Installed In New York State-wide Service

Another milestone in telephone service in New York State was reached recently when the New York Telephone Company installed its 4,000,000th telephone. The instrument was placed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Casey, 243 East 38th Street, Manhattan. Mr. Casey is a World War II veteran.

Recognizing the tremendous efforts that have been made by the telephone company to meet the heavy post-war demand for telephone service, Manhattan Borough President Hugo E. Rogers said, "These demands are indicative of the increase in population and the growth of business and industry in our city and State."

The company's 4,000,000th telephone, oddly enough, is only a few blocks

This installation, which was viewed by high officials of the city and the telephone company, came near the close of 1947, another record-breaking year in which the company added some 415,000 telephones in its state-wide territory.

"In 1948 our program calls for even greater activity to reach our goal of providing services for everyone who wants it, and making the service better than ever," said Carl Whitmore, president of the company, commenting on the 4,000,000th installation. "Throughout the territory we serve we expect to add half a million more telephones in 1948, and by the end of the year we hope that most of those now waiting for service will have telephones."

The company reached its millionth telephone in 1914, its 2,000,000th in 1923, and its 3,000,000th in July, 1943. The millionth in Upstate New York was reached last July. The present 4,000,000th figure represents an eighth of the total in the U. S., or about as many as are in the British Isles and three times the number in all South America.

Did You Forget Vets Serving Life Terms?

By ELGAR BROWN
Noted INS War Correspondent

Early in the last war I rode from the Atlantic seaboard to the Midwest on a train bringing wounded GIs from Europe to hospitals near their homes.

That was a trainload of misery.
That was the Heartbreak Special.
It wasn't all stark tragedy. Some boys were quite happy, knowing they'd soon be well. Some were buoyed by stubborn hope. But some were filled with bitter cynicism.

These last were the life-termers.
They were "jail-bound" forever-more. They wouldn't get well and they knew it. They wanted to die, many of them, but they couldn't.

And cynicism set in.
In a naval hospital on Guam,
where a hundred medical miracles happened each day, I sensed the same awful fear that had gripped the "life-termers" on the hospital train.

It was the fear of loneliness, the dread of being forgotten. This is what they talked about, the doomed ones, if they would talk at all.

"I know how it'll be," I was told by a New Jersey paraplegic who would never get off his back. "I can look up at the ceiling and see the whole dreary expanse of my life ahead.

"Folks mean well and they are careful and they want us to be twisted into a wry smile. "They'll make a guy like me comfortable as long as they can; they want me to be happy, too.

"But after awhile the war ends and years pass and they go away and live their own lives. That's just human nature. But I can't go away and live at all, really. I'm not going anywhere, ever. And after all, I'm human too."

I'm as humanly forgetful and self-centered as the next guy but I shall never forget those words. I think donating to the Hospitalized Veterans Foundation is a fine way to help me remember. Don't you?

arrived in New York on its first postwar voyage, is the seventh transatlantic vessel to be re-equipped for Bell System ship-to-shore telephone service since the war. A person in one of the sixty appointed staterooms of the 6,697-ton ship, can be connected with any Bell or Bell-connecting telephone in the United States.

Other ships having similar service include the America, Aquitania, Macbeth, Masretania, Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary.

The Bell System ship-to-shore telephone service was first introduced in 1929.

NEW PLASTIC-COVERED CABLE INTRODUCED IN BELL SYSTEM

In a move to further accelerate the nation-wide construction program, the Bell System has developed a new type of telephone cable sheath using a thin sheet of aluminum covered with a polyethylene compound, a tough, flexible plastic that looks like black rubber. The new cable will supplement the familiar lead-covered cable which is now at peak production.

The Western Electric Company, manufacturing branch of the Bell System, has begun quantity production of the new type of cable following extensive tests of its suitability. The immediate purpose is to step up the delivery of cable to the telephone companies and help to meet the continuing heavy demand for telephone service.
