I wonder if we all realize who's the key man at all times, in connection with our hunting, trapping and fishing? He is imposed upon many times, in many low down dirty ways, he is usually a 99% true sportsman, and is no other than the farmer. He feeds and shelters our game; we trespass on the farmer, when we hunt, also when we fish. He puts up with much abuse, disrespect, etc. from many so-called hunters, without saying very much. The key man farmer should be respected at all times, so please not forget it. He doesn't like to see hunters sneak away from him. He would much rather have the hunter come to him, and say something like this, "How's your salt pork keeping? How did your potatoes yield? Is your family

Baptist Church Elects Officers

The annual business meeting of the First Baptist Church was held Thursday evening, January 8, 1948.
 A service of song, Scriptures and prayer was conducted before the business session.

The business meeting was opened by Glenn Fuller, after which Rev.
 John Phillips was nominated as chairman and Mrs. Eva Norton as clerk.

Reports of various officers were read showing a marked advance over the previous year. The following officers were elected:

Church clerk, Mrs. Raymond Mott; financial secretary, Mrs. Ruth Mott;
 treasurer, Mrs. Myrtle Messenger; benevolent treasurer, Mrs. John Lytle. Two trustees were elected for the term of three years, Albert Schoonover, and Guy Schuyler who was re-elected.

The Angelica Conservation Club

Yes, lady club members are welcome to attend the club meetings.
 It's also a great time and place for non-members to come and join.

I wonder if we all realize who's the key man at all times, in connection with our hunting, trapping and fishing? He is imposed upon many times, in many low down dirty ways, he is usually a 99% true sportsman, and is no other than the farmer. He feeds and shelters our game, we trespass on the farmer, when we hunt, also when we fish.
 He puts up with much abuse, disrespect, etc. from many so-called hunters, without saying very much. The key man farmer should be respected at all times, so please not forget it.
 He doesn't like to see hunters sneak away from him. He would much rather have the hunter come to him, and say something like this, "How's your salt pork keeping? How did your potatoes yield? Is your family in good health? Or what have you to sell this fall?"

Sportsman, to dry your boots, cut two boards 3 or 4 inches longer than your boots. Stand a board in each boot, the air currents strike the boards and follow down into the boot, thereby drying it.

This conservation club of ours has one of the best local talent. So why not develop a quartet with a name like "barber shop quartet"? Who knows, it may be possible in a few years to have one of the radio sponsored by some bird seed company.
 Meetings of our club will not get monotonous, and arguments start if they have a little good music to mix in with it. Therefore we are asking, and mean it, for Angelica to see us decorated in music, piano, guitar or any other instrument better than mu-

The regular Grange meeting held Saturday evening was preceded by a turkey supper. The business meeting was presided over by the Master, Charles Seely, who discussed plans for the year ahead. It was decided to unite with the Fire Department in serving a pancake supper at the Grange Hall, January 25th.

This conversation club of ours has one of the best local talents. Be why not develop a quartet with a name like "The Four Stone Quartet"? With names it may be possible in a few weeks to have one of the radio shows devoted to music. The club members are: Mrs. Lila Bullock, piano, guitar and accordion. What is better than music in the home, or at the club? Many people in the club, as well as many who will be joining later, are having or have had a good deal of benefit, by playing in the school band, and with that start, with a little help, learn to play well in a short time, try it, if you have rhythm, you will keep it up.

Here are a few remarks, in regard to music, made by great men, taken from The Penny Magazine, published weekly in New York City, January 1836, one hundred and twelve years ago. "Dancing and music is what the world wants." "There's nothing so useful in the government of a great nation as music." "Without music no government can carry on." "Therefore, if all men learned music, wouldn't that be the sure means to make them agree, and keep time with one another, to bring about universal peace?"

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH
BASSWOOD HILL

We are told that when Christ was being dragged through the streets of Jerusalem the night before His crucifixion, Peter followed "afar off." Every community has its share of people who follow Christ afar off. They approve the church's program, they "wouldn't think of living in a town without a church," and yet they keep a convenient distance between themselves and the church.

Christ minced no words when He spoke to the irreligious of His day. He that is of God heareth God's words; ye therefore hear them not, because ye are not of God." To follow Christ "afar off" may be as fatal as to go in the opposite direction. Our eternal destiny depends upon fellowship with Him, intimate, close, enduring. How far are you from Him today?

February Has Five Sundays

February, though the shortest month in the year, has five Sundays this Leap year of 1948. This occurs about four times in a century. The last time was in 1920 and the next one will be in 1975. This was called to the attention of the writer by Mrs. Charles Dean.

THE FICTION CORNER
THE LEOPARD'S SPOTS
 By WILLIAM C. FORD

"The bank examiners were coming Monday. And Blake needed to check over some of his personal papers again as he sat in the accountant's office of his bank. No matter how long he could realize on his feet in two months. I told him to speak with you."

"You're looking fine, Doris," he greeted her.

"Good morning, Mr. Blake. Oh, I'm feeling first rate, thank you," she said.

"Let him renew it," said Blake. And he hung up.

He ran the pencil down his private papers again. No use. "Got to do something," he told himself.

He picked up his hat and hurried out.

On the street in front of the Lawyers' building he met Carter's daughter. A slender girl, she was, with fine hair, and skin, and a flush on each cheek that heightened as she came toward him.

"pen to need it in a hurry - The bank examiners are coming Monday."

"The bank examiners," said Ernest softly, and Blake saw the lines harden round his mouth.

"What I mean, Ernest - I'm not in a position to tell you the details. I tell you I need it - that ought to be enough."

Ernest straightened. "Of course. But right is right, I've got my prim-

"That daughter of Carter's - I saw you from the window when you first met her last night. She's crazy enough to be her father. She's crazy about you. Everybody knows it."

Blake smiled. "I feel a bit flattered, of course it's only a passing notion, if it's there at all."

"Well, Ernest, if it's there at all, she'll get over it mighty quick. Ernest she's a fine young woman, and she's taken great care of her mother since her mother died."

"She's too good to him," Ernest snapped. "Better if she tried to get him to work out of his rut and make something of himself."

Blake got up.

"Don't be so righteous, Ernest."

"He said from the doorway. He walked back to the bank. It she said.

 He looked at her. "Not over-

 tell you this time?"
 The girl set her mouth into a smile. "Oh, he was all right," she said. "Always has that silly notion about my going away for a while.
 But I told him I couldn't leave father. He says I'm doing fine." Blake tapped her shoulder. "Cheer up, Doris. We'll fix it," he said.
 "Take it easy, as he told you."
 Blake waved goodbye and swung into the doorway of the Lawyers' Building where his foster son Ernest practiced law.
 Blake had brought up Ernest and educated him and started him out.
 Now Ernest was building a reputation as a two-fisted, hard-fighting jury lawyer.
 "Hello, Governor," said Ernest.
 "What can I do for you?"
 "Plenty," said Blake. "Plenty today. You know that I've thousand dollars in the bank? Well, I want it for a little while — need some money in a hurry."
 Ernest stopped on his way to the swivel chair behind his desk.
 "That five thousand!" he exclaimed. "Why governor — you gave me that outright! I've made my plans on that — I — What do you want it for?"
 "Does that make any difference?"
 "Well — it might — the way I'm fixed."
 "All right then, if I must say it.

 No one was there.
 Blake went over to the drawer by the cashier's cage, where the revolver was kept. He took it out and fumbled with it for a minute.
 Then he put it back.
 He went to his private box and took out a life insurance policy. He studied it a while and slipped it into his pocket. He started for the street door.
 Blake found Tom Martin, the insurance man, in his office. He tossed the insurance policy to him.
 "I want to surrender that," he said. "Just what is the surrender value?"
 Martin looked at it. "Five thousand dollars," said he. "A little over. But, Mr. Blake, you've been paying for this for Ernest five years and years. I couldn't advise you to surrender it now — why look — let me explain." He reached for pamphlets and tables.
 Blake stopped him. "Where do I sign?" he asked.
 "Here, Mr. Blake," said Martin —
 "If you really insist."
 "I really do," said Blake. "Ernest can take care of himself first rate now."
 On Friday Martin brought the insurance check and Blake cashed it at Carter's cage. After that he went into the vault. He came out in a minute and went to his office. Then he rang for Carter.

Carter staggered and his face whitened.

"You knew, Mr. Blake?" he faltered.

"Yes," said Blake. "I knew. Of course I knew. It's my business to know. And I saw how hard you tried to put it back, too."

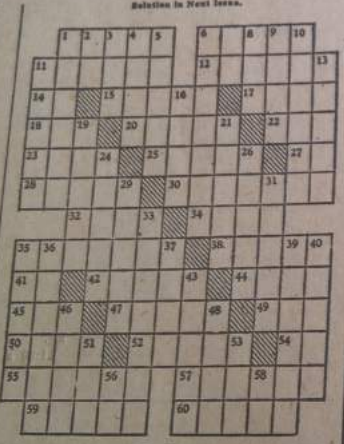

Carter held one hand in the other to stop their trembling.

"Oh, I've tried," he said. "I've prayed. It wasn't for myself, Mr. Blake. It was for Doris. She's been so — brave — The doctor said there's a spot on her lung — and she must go to a high dry place — and I thought —"

"All right, John," said Blake. "All right. I've known all about that, too. Of course you can't stay here — you can't work in a bank any more — But you'll resign after the examiners O. K. everything. "It's all right, John," he said. "Don't worry any more. I've just put that five thousand in the vault. Your cash will balance when they come."

Carter staggered and his face whitened.

"You knew, Mr. Blake?" he faltered.

"Yes," said Blake. "I knew. Of course I knew. It's my business to know. And I saw how hard you tried to put it back, too."

Carter held one hand in the other to stop their trembling.

"Oh, I've tried," he said. "I've prayed. It wasn't for myself, Mr. Blake. It was for Doris. She's been so—brave—The doctor said there's a spot on her lung—and she must go to a high dry place—and I—thought—"

"All right, John," said Blake. "All right. I've known all about that, too. Of course you can't stay here—you can't work in a bank any more—But you'll resign after the summer O. K. everything. And I've got you another kind of a job—in Arizona—I'll tell you about it later. You can pay me back when you get on your feet. And Doris will be all right now. The air's clear and dry in Arizona. In no time at all we'll be hearing she's married some fine young Westerner."

Carter's lips were moving.

"Thank you—thank you—" he was saying. "It's the—the Mercy of God. I can't tell you, Mr. Blake. I can't—"

"Sure," said Blake. He put his hand in his pocket and dropped six cartridges on the desk.

"Load that revolver again now, John," he said. "I saw you looking at it the other day, and I thought I'd better—"

Carter picked up the cartridges and turned to the door. He stopped again with his hand on the knob.

"You're a good man, Mr. Blake," he said humbly.

He went out.

Blake looked at the grease that had been left on his hand by the cartridges.

"I wonder," said he.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

Our Relationship to God

Lesson for January 18, 1948

THIS Scripture lesson for Sunday is John 4:38 and Thursday 8:12-17 and 1:18, with the 102nd Psalm as the devotional reading.

The passage in John presents an dramatic story of Jesus meeting with the woman from Samaria at Jacob's well, and the discovery of the "Water of Life."

There is no more convincing evidence of Jesus' divinity in the Bible of Jesus than the one and only approach to God. He is the One through which one must pass into the Kingdom, whether good or evil, rich or poor, ignorant or learned, high or low.

It is the truth and the life and the way.

Jesus Teaches About God

IN THIS great story we see Jesus, weary from the day's arduous tasks, sitting on the curb of Jacob's well, resting. The disciples had gone across the valley to the village to buy food. The woman comes to draw water from the historic well. She did not notice Jesus until he spoke to her. He is never too busy, never too weary, to seek to bring all men to a knowledge of God's love.

He asked for a drink of water. That was his way of making contact with her. She drew back, wondering why a Jew would speak to a woman in public. But Jesus got past the immediate wall which she threw up between herself and him, and soon was teaching her the way of everlasting life, to which she responded with gratitude.

Household Hints

When a baking recipe calls for beaten egg whites, separate the yolks and whites when the eggs are laid. Let the whites stand in a cool place for 15 minutes before beating. The volume will be greater.

When a recipe has been over the broom, hand wash you have a handy tool. An old-fashioned broom with some cotton string wrapped around the handle will work in the regular way.

To prevent dark or browned droplets from appearing on a little yellow soup or paraffin along the edges.

A tile that is clogged with metal particles should be scraped lightly on a block in order to change the flange that catches up the metal.

To avoid chafe on workmen, use a 100 or steam iron over a piece of cloth and apply a pressing action rather than an ironing motion.

When wallpapering surfaces that are to be painted, fold the wallpaper over a small block of wood.

Plaster casts may be cleaned with cold cream. Water is likely to destroy the tint and glass.

Intimate Phone Call Goes On Air in Freak Mixup

One of the queer tricks played by magnetic storms is to cause conversation on a telephone to jump to a live radio line and be broadcast without knowledge of the two persons.

This occurred in New York short time ago when such a reaction caused an intimate call to be heard on a coast program.

How We Worship God

READ John 4:26 and see how Jesus led the worship. Strange is enough, she says a woman should know the truth that "God is in Spirit," and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth.

Included in the record of how Jesus taught the women is worship was the necessity of confessing her sin, having five husbands, and living at the moment with still another man. We cannot worship God if there is unconfessed sin in our hearts.

We often miss the joy of true worship because we fail to confess our sins. God looketh upon the heart. If there is sin in our hearts, it must be forgiven.

Our Need of God
"IF YE live after the flesh, ye shall die," Romans 8:13. Here is a solemn truth that many seem to forget — apart from God we are dead. The young person who undertakes to live with eating food will soon discover that his body is wasting away and his mind is broken and dissipated. Just so with the spirit of man. We are spiritual creatures, made in the image of God. If we live by the flesh, we die spiritually.

In the preceding chapters in Romans, Paul has shown how sin works its death. He sets forth the penalties that result from carnal thinking and behavior. But in the 13th verse he comes on to say:

"It is the Spirit himself bearing witness with our spirit that we are the sons of God, or children of God," Romans 8:16.

Strong in the Lord
OUR age has made much of might — might that expresses itself in speed. We think in terms of atomic power. This lesson would help us to understand that we may be strong in the Lord. All power is with him. "All power hath been given me in heaven and on earth," said Jesus.

And this leads us to the climax of Sunday's lesson, when Paul declares:

"For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord," Romans 8:38, 39.

Satan had the woman of Sychar completely in his power until the grace of God lifted her feet upon the Rock of Ages. She could then stand in the midst of the people of Sychar and declare that she had met One who had released her from the bondage of sin. That is what will happen in every heart that comes to God through Jesus Christ.

The cheerleaders have been work-

Her Gaze at Moon Brings Aid to Stranded Family

It was unusually quiet in a Brooklyn telephone central office after midnight, and the night operator glanced out the window to admire the beauty of the moon. Suddenly her wandering eyes stopped at a nearby elevated railway structure and two figures camped out in the cold beneath it.

A few seconds later the calm of the night was shattered. Police summoned hurriedly to the spot were confronted with tears, children's cries of alarm and a mixture of garbled speech before they learned that the campers were a man and wife and their eight children, evicted from their home a short time before, they had moved in with an aunt. Now the aunt had moved to Rochester and—here they were. The police proposal that the children be taken to a shelter met with walls and cries that the family must not be parted.

Although the minions of the law were summoned, the operator, who was an inn about half a story away, wasn't rich but he had a heart as big as all outdoors. At the operator's suggestion, to the inn the squad car went with the brood.

While Leo cooked them a meal, sympathetic customers raised a kitty of $27. Some even brought coats and bedding, and the family had a home for the night, thanks to the thoughtfulness of the girl who looked out the window.

Unwitting Revelation

A Windsor, Ontario, police officer on his nightly beat thought that his flash light revealed a man inside a cigar store. At the same time the intruder slipped quietly into the telephone booth and closed the door. And, of course, as it does in the electric refrigerator, the light automatically went on, erasing any doubt in the "eyes of the law."

An entire telephone switchboard with 12 operating positions, 28 feet long, was recently hoisted from a truck by a crane with a 75-foot boom to the third story of the Irving Trust Company building in New York City, manuevered through a window, and installed in record time by the New York Telephone Company for serving the financial organization. The board weighed 5 tons.

It was the first time the telephone company had employed this method for such a hoisting operation, and it was one of the first operations of this kind in the Bell System. The delivery by the U.S. Trucking Corporation was accomplished in one day, eliminating two or three days' time formerly required for preparation and dismantling of rigging. The installation of the switchboard was accomplished in about one-fourth the time normally required for assembly and installation in sections.

"Time and Chance," Tale of a Credo Artist-Writer Builds Self Philosophy 'for to Admire'

By BALKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—Every once in a while, I devote this column to a book. Not a review, but just my feelings about the book and its author. I couldn't help writing about "Time and Chance" by artist Cyrus LeRoy Baldridge. Not merely because the book interested me, or because it is a most attractive piece of autobiography, or because other reviewers like it—but because I happened to share some of the experiences it describes and because I lived, as he did (and you) did, through the times and chances which Baldridge interprets in terms of his own.

Also I want to write a review because of what these experiences, the fruits of the varied environments which the artist-author describes, did to form a career, a character, a philosophy, which is "for to see and to admire."

In Roy's own words, it is the story, partly done in pictures, of "how a well-meaning, but provincial farm boy got an international point of view."

He summarizes his own thoughts on this attractive 400-page volume in a note to me, this way:

"Grandfather (was a) share-cropper and vet.

"At seven (Roy) was driving a horse on mother's wagon broken heart and a sketchbook, as spurs. Unbelievably, without credentials, he wormed his way through beleaguered Belgium to the German front, where he learned to hate war. He came back to fight out a career in New York.

I'm not going to write any more of Roy's story for it is his story told far better than I could hope to recount it. I can only say that when World War I came to America he had his part in it, a fraction of which I again was lucky enough to share with him. He was a cartoonist on the Stars and Stripes, after experiences on every front with the French. I joined him in Paris after the armistice. Walking down Rue de la Paix one day with Roy I was mumbling reminiscences of riding beside my battery of 155s. Suddenly he grabbed me by the arm. "Buck," he said, "that's poetry. Let's write a book. I'll illustrate it."

NEWS REVIEW

Wallace Enters Race; Romanian King Leaves

Henry Wallace was deluding no one, not even himself, about his chances of being elected President of the United States in 1948 on a third party ticket when, with real idealism, he announced that he would be an independent candidate.

His entry into the contest, as he announced on a nation-wide broadcast from Chicago, was based upon his revulsion against "the bipartisan reactionary war policy which is dividing the world into two armed camps."

Both Republicans and Democrats he indicated, can be filed in the same political pigeon hole, because

Good Soil Increases Farm Crop Yields Tests Reveal Value Of Proper Nutrients

High crop yields per acre on the farm, like mass production in industry, are the secret of financial success, according to Emil Tripp, professor of soils at University of Wisconsin. "It costs no more for seed and fertilizer — usually the main expense in crop production — to grow a crop than a $25 crop," he said. "Wisconsin tests show that at crop yields resulting from fertilization cost only $3 per ton for alfalfa and 15¢ per bushel for corn and soybeans. The extra cost of fertilizer yield per acre lies in the

London Braces

England is full of suspense but it isn't the kind that keeps a man's trousers up.

British braces (suspenders), made under a government order limiting the elastic to three inches at the back, have been the cause of a number of London breaches falling down and finally drove Historian Arthur Bryant to reporting his plight in a letter to the London Times.

In the past year, he said, he bought four pairs of braces. "After each occasion," lamented Bryant, "the braces have broken irretrievably within three worked!)

Then he concludes:
 "All men the same, discounting the apparent differences caused by varying backgrounds caused by 'Class and chance.'"
 To reach that conclusion, Roy made an Odyssean beginning with the "cooking pots" into domains of which Homer never dreamed. He had an artist's eye trained from the age of 12 when he was tolerated in a Chicago art school with young artists who were later to achieve national reputations. Such men as Webster, McCutcheon, cartoonist;
 John T. McCutcheon, cartoonist;
 "Seal," and many others. Goudy, the great type designer, who died last year, was Roy's teacher, along with the school's director, Frank Holme, who became a second father to the wide-eyed child. At that school, Roy learned his most important lesson—self criticism.

His mother re-married, and Roy became bellhop and baggage-smasher in his stepfather's small-town commercial hotel; finally he went to college on a scholarship which, when he arrived, he found wasn't there. Utterly alone, without the social prestige of a college fraternity, he achieved campus success; became what was considered a "prominent student."

He grew to realize the emptiness of "college honors" but, still, through those who were de la Paix one day with Roy I was mumbling reminiscences of riding beside my battery of 1886. Suddenly he grabbed me by the arm. "Buck," he said, "that's poetry. Let's write a book. I'll illustrate it."

Of course, it wasn't poetry but it was verse the G.I.s of our day understood and the illustrations were art, if art is life — and death — as Roy had seen it.

We came back and went our separate ways. He now had a partner, Caroline Singer, a perfect complement. She was a California newspaper woman. They built a home, leaving it periodically to travel the Seven Seas — China, Japan, Europe
 again, India, Africa, criss-crossing out their books in perfect collaboration.

But Roy's book is his own story,
 a perfect American saga. As American as the wind that blows the Midwest corn fields; as foreign as the
 "The story of the making of a human philosophy old as the Mongolian mountains which are a part of its background, new as today.

"Left and right," writes Baldridge, "are not two evils, they are the same evil; and safety without the solidarity of class-conscious groups, screaming slogans, or party orders to lean upon, liberals must be staunch enough to walk a lonely road."

I know that Roy would like to have me conclude this review — if you want to call it that — with the following quotation which gave him his title, the biblical quotation:

"The race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, neither yet bread to the wise, nor yet riches to men of understanding, nor yet honor to the mighty of spirit, but time

 san reactionary war policy dividing the world into two camps."

Both Republicans and Democrats he indicated, can be filed in the same political pigeon-hole both stand for the bi-partisan policies which are leading the nation to war and depression.

"That menace can be met and overcome only by a new political alignment in America which requires a new political party," averred the former vice president.

Whether or not it could be created by a third party — a "peace party"

— founded on the U. S. must adopt a softer
 more co-operative attitude toward Russia and at the same time reject universal military training and preparedness in getting ready for history would not diminish domestic political significance as a third party candidate may be summed up briefly: Republicans like it, Dem-crats don't.

If Wallace can get on the ballots in one or more of the pivot states — New York, Ohio, California, Pennsylvania or Illinois — he may be able to split off enough of the Democratic vote to swing the election to the Republican nominee.

Always the eminent liberal, Wallace is angling for all or a portion of the left-wing Democratic vote;
 and if he makes his inherent devotion to Rooseveltian ideals stick, he may be able to corral a considerable section of those on the left side.

One thing was certain. Wallace would have the hearty, although somewhat onerous, support of the Communists, no matter how much he might avow his own anti-Communist principles. He would have to go through the campaign with the Reds and fellow-travelers hanging to his coat-tails.

"The Times, in a helpful mood, de-

Michael, as some romanticists would have had it, might have renounced his throne purely for the love of Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parme and Denmark, but the Com-

 of the government came too easily

 As the king himself pointed out in his abdication proclamation, he was resigning the throne because a monarchy no longer coincided with the "great political, economic and social changes" in Romania.

Nor was it logical for the Communist, grim advocates of their "international dictatorship of the proletariat," to be countenancing and cooperating with a hereditary monarchy. And Michael had acted as a sort of brake on some Communist actions in Romania.

NEW HIGH: Farm Prices

U. S. farmers continued to set new records in price levels, both for the produce they sell and the goods they in turn buy.

It was reported by the department of agriculture that the general level of farm prices rose 5 per cent between mid-November and mid-December to a record high of 301 per cent of the 1909-14 average.

Previous all-time high was 289 per cent, set last October.

additional fertility removed from the soil. But even this is partly compensated for in the case of legumes by the greater amounts of nitrogen the bigger crop supplies to the soil.

"High acre yields are also the secret of success in erosion control and soil conservation. When yields on less erodible land are doubled or trebled through adequate liming and heavy fertilization, a bigge-acreage of more erodible lands can be returned to forests and permanent grass. That means more better food for all."

Then he concludes:

"All men the same, discounting the apparent differences caused by varying backgrounds."

To reach that conclusion, the author begins with the "opening poem," the which he has translated from the work of a Chinese poet who was a Chinese in his own right. He had had his eye translated from the work of a Chinese poet who was a Chinese in his own right. He had had his eye translated from the work of a Chinese poet who was a Chinese in his own right.

His mother re-married, and Roy became her stepson. He learned to swim from his father, a swimmer. He learned to swim from his father, a swimmer. He learned to swim from his father, a swimmer.

He grew to realize the emptiness of "college honors" but, unlike Vincent Sheen who was to follow him, Roy learned to swim from his father, a swimmer.

But Roy's book is his own story, a perfect American saga. As American as the wind that blows the Midwest corn fields, as American as the American flag that flies from the White House.

"Left and right," writes Beldridge, "are not two evils, they are the same evil; and safety without the solidarity of class-conscious groups, screaming slogans, or party orders to lean upon, liberals must be staunch enough to walk a lonely road."

I would not dare to doubt the words of the Preacher (Ecclesiastes IX:11) — but I know that here was a man who grasped the time by the forelock, was able to hog-tie and saddle it, and one who took his chances if not without fear, at least without faltering.

U. S. farmers continued to set new records in price levels, both for the produce they sell and the goods they in turn buy.

Previous all-time high was 289 per cent, set last October.

REPUBLIC: Michael Quits

Communist-controlled eastern Europe cast off its last tie with a happier past when King Michael I of Romania made public his abdication from the throne.

His announcement had not yet fully registered in Romania's bewildered populace when the Communist government promptly proclaimed the nation a "popular democratic republic."

Thus, with the 25-year-old monarch's abdication, ended a dynasty established in 1866, the last monarchy of agriculture that the general level of farm prices rose 5 per cent between mid-November and mid-December to a record high of 301 per cent of the 1909-14 average. Previous all-time high was 289 per cent, set last October.

At the same time, prices paid by farmers for items for living and farm production also reached a new record. On December 15 the index of prices paid was 245 per cent above the 1909-14 average.

The farm price level in mid-December, the department said, was 24 per cent higher than January, 1947, and the index of prices paid 16 per cent higher.

Between mid-November and mid-December, average prices for virtually every group of farm commodities except fruit showed measurable increases.

Mechanized Hog Farm Makes Pig Raising Easy

A fully modernized and mechanized hog farm can be so rigged that one man can handle 100 sows and bring to market each year 1,500 to 2,000 hogs—a half-million pounds of pork on the hoof, according to Dr. Waldo Semon of the B. F. Goodrich company.

This is possible by mechanized means of conveyor belts, chutes and other devices. Tests show, he said, that rubber-tired tractors and other farm vehicles require only 40 to 50 per cent as much pulling power on plowed ground or sod as do steel wheels, and can plow a field in 25 per cent less time and with 25 per cent less fuel consumption.

PUSHBUTTON BILL-OF-FARE

Meatball Due To Be Electrified

The pushbutton may never replace the meatball, but with the rapid ascendancy of electric vending machines it is promising to exert a profound influence on the destiny of that spherical aggregation of ground beef, as well as on many another item in the American diet.

Even cow plans have been drawn and preparations are being made by C-Right laboratories in Newark, N. J., to open a retail store in Los Angeles where customers will be able to make a variety of purchases—from food and beverages to dry goods—simply by stepping up to an electrical vending machine, inserting the prescribed amount of money in the slot and pushing a few buttons.

This unique establishment, scheduled to open its doors in April, will be operated in Los Angeles on an experimental basis. If customers indicate that they are pleased with this brave new twist in merchandising, similar electric vending machine stores can be expected to spring up in other parts of the country.

Presupposing that such a trend is established, persons living in small or rural communities can look forward to seeing these robed sales clerks in their local stores around 1950.

The experimental store in Los Angeles will feature machines overflowing with electrical impulses and ready to dispense at a touch such varied merchandise as bottled soft-foam, mouthwash, peanuts, fruit juices, bread, canned goods, yarn, blouses, stockings, neckties and other ready-to-wear goods.

Still in the developmental stage are other pushbutton marvels which will accommodate deep-frozen foods or, to go to the other extreme, complete, cooked meals that will erupt from the vending machine piping hot and ready to serve instantly or in an hour or half-hour as you wish.

The deep-freeze and cooked foods machines, however, are still too expensive and complex for widespread use; so housewives can't look forward to being emancipated from standing over a hot stove all day for at least some time.

What happens to the sales clerk if electrical vending machines sweep the country on a mass scale? That is a question for which no one has come up with an answer so far. As a matter of fact, no one has started worrying about it yet.

Additional fertility removed from the soil. But even this is partly compensated for in the case of legumes by the greater amounts of nitrogen by the bigger crop supplies to the soil.
"High acre yields are also the result of success in erosion control and soil conservation. When yields on less erodible land are doubled or trebled through adequate liming and heavy fertilization, a bigger acreage of more erodible lands can be returned to forests and permanent grass. That means more and better food for all."

London Braces

England is full of suspense but it isn't the kind that keeps a man's trousers up.

British braces (suspenders), made under a government order limiting the number to three inches at the back, have been the cause of a number of London breeches falling down and finally drove Historian Arthur Bryant to reporting his plight in a letter to the London Times.

In the past year, he said, he bought four pairs of braces. "After each occasion," lamented Bryant, "the braces have broken irrevocably within three months."

The Times, in a helpful mood, described the situation in an editorial:

Good Soil Increases Farm Crop Yields Tests Reveal Value Of Proper Nutrients

High crop yields per acre on the farms, like mass production in industry, are the secret of financial success, according to Emil Trieg, professor of soils at University of Wisconsin.

"It costs no more for seed and tillage—usually the main expense in crop production—to grow a $50 crop than a $25 crop," he declared.

Wisconsin tests resulting from heavy fertilization show that additional crop yields resulting from heavy fertilization cost only $2 to $3 per bushel for corn and oats.

"The extra cost of a larger yield per acre lies simply in the Small Towns, U.S.A. Rural Life Program Seeks Improved Standards of Living

By EARLE BITCH

Concerted action aimed to develop an improved rural life is being launched on a widespread scale in small town America. That is the underlying factor behind the rural life program, an energetic program which now is getting underway throughout America and which eventually will embrace small towns and rural communities of the nation.

Aim of the program is to make the rural life—a step toward making the country a better place in which to live and work. Rural problems have been discussed for years, and various solutions have been proposed. Experience has shown that the best results come from local action, planned by the people on their home grounds.

Aroused Citizenry Needed.
Before action can be expected, community consciousness has to be aroused. There must be determination to act. Then plans have to be made. The most good are made to fit the local situation.

All rural communities do not need the same things, nor can they go about getting what they do need in the same ways.

The rural life program is simply this—a recognition that the nation needs to add new features to its rural economy. This is because the types of rural life is changing. Machinery has changed farming, and some areas farm land has been put out. Some men who once worked at farming are having to turn to other occupations.

The present system of farming is far out of balance. Too many farmers are living on slim profits. 5,800,000 farmers in SMALL TOWNS, U.S.A.

Rural Life Program Seeks Improved Standards of Living

By EARLE HITCH

Concerted action aimed to develop an improved rural life must be launched on a widespread scale if small town America is to survive. That is the motivating factor behind the rural life movement, an energetic program which now is getting under way throughout America and which eventually will attempt to reach all small towns and rural communities of the nation.

Aim of the program is a better rural life — an attempt to make the country a better place in which to live and work. Rural problems have been discussed for years, and various solutions have been proposed. Experience has shown that the best results come from local action, planned by the people on their home grounds.

Aroused Citizenry Needed.

Before action can be expected, aroused community consciousness has to be aroused. There must be determination to act. Then plans have to be made. The plans that do the most good are made to fit the local situation.

All rural communities do not need the same things, nor can they go about getting what they do need in the same ways.

The rural life program is simply this — a recognition that the nation needs to add new features to its rural economy. This is because the types of rural labor are changing. Machinery has changed farming, and in some areas farm land has worn out. Some men who once worked at farming are having to turn to other occupations.

$4,800,000 Earned in the United States

Income from farming is unevenly divided. Only the top third of the nation's 5,000,000 farmers are reaping the present high-level incomes for agricultural products. The middle third are making about $900 a year while the lowest third average no more than $500 a year, according to estimates from census statistics based on 1944 reports.

All these organizations are agreed on general objectives. Briefly these objectives are:

1. To provide more opportunities for earning a good living in the country.
2. To establish better rural health and rural hospital services.
3. To provide more rural recreation and better uses for rural leisure.
4. To discover civic and cultural outlets that will add to a feeling of appreciation of the importance of country life and the country home.

Rural America At Stake

No. 2
 In a Series

All rural communities do not need the same things, nor can they go about getting what they do need in the same ways.

The rural life program is simply this—a recognition that the nation needs to add new features to its rural economy. This is because the types of rural life are changing. Machinery has changed farming, and in some areas farm land has worn out. Some men who once worked at farming are having to turn to other occupations.

The present system of farming is far out of balance. Too many farmers are living on slim farms. Of the 5,800,000 farmers in the United States only the top third are enjoying the present high-level incomes for agricultural produce. The lower third, about two million, are averaging no more than $400 a year. This sum does not provide an adequate standard of living for happiness and health.

Cities, Too, Concerned.
 From the standpoint of national stability there is urgent need for solutions which will prevent great numbers from being forced off the land. There is need to give those in the lower brackets encouragement and help to make them self sustaining. Growing numbers moving to cities add to job competition there, and make heavier unemployment risks in times of business slumps. Thus the cities as well as the rural areas have cause to be concerned.

Consequently leaders in public affairs are growing more disturbed

All these organizations are agreed on general objectives. Briefly these objectives are:

1. To provide more opportunities for earning a good living in the country.
2. To establish better rural health and rural hospital services.
3. To provide more rural recreation and better uses for rural leisure.
4. To discover civic and cultural outlets that will add to a feeling of appreciation of the importance of country life and the country home.

The work to be done in this broad program does not concern farm people alone. Every small town has a stake in it. Whether the town of the future grows in importance or languish depends on keeping a happy and satisfied population both in the towns themselves and the country roundabout.

Ways to do this are what the leaders of local community enterprise will have to discover. A knowledge of what has been done in other communities everywhere, particularly those in a mood to do likewise, will be of great help.

Future articles in this series will carry the program of community programs.

Seamstress Cuts Police Uniforms And Tax Outlay

CHARLESTON, W. VA.—With her fast flying sewing machine, Mrs. Adana Summers is saving money for West Virginia taxpayers. Her job is to alter and make over uniforms worn by state police officers.

Each rookie trooper before going on duty receives $225.65 worth of clothing, including a number of articles discarded by older policemen. Mrs. Summers alters these leftovers to fit their new owners, at the same time checking to see that they are completely equipped with the buttons considered so essential to a smart looking officer.

Mrs. Summers, who worked as a machinist in an industrial plant during the war, admits that her job is tedious and exacting but

Now that the former is high in price and will become more scarce, if reports are true, plan to include more vegetables in your meals.

There are some very satisfying dishes which you will be wise to try. There's enough meat to satiate the hungry and those with a weak stomach, but there are also dishes which are budget-wise.

Vegetable Pie.

4 tablespoons butter
 4 tablespoons flour
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup milk
 1 cup cooked peas
 1 cup cooked string beans or lima beans
 1 cup cooked carrots
 1/2 cup chopped leftover roast or meat loaf

Melt butter, add flour and stir until well blended. Add seasonings and the milk, stirring constantly until smooth and thick. Bring to a boil and cook for 2 minutes. Add vegetables and meat. Pour into a large baking dish; cover with the following:

 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Press peas through a sieve, cut bacon into small pieces, and combine with vegetables. Add milk, eggs, beaten egg, currants and seasonings. Turn into a greased baking dish and bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven until firm. Serve with 2 1/2 cups medium white sauce to which has been added 4 tablespoons of deviled ham. Blend thoroughly.

There are innumerable ways in which that good protein food, cheese, can stretch vegetables while substituting for meat. Here are several taste-tempting ideas.

Macaroni-Stuffed Peppers.
 (Serves 6)

6 green peppers
 1 cup cooked elbow macaroni
 1/2 pound grated American cheese
 1 cup soft bread crumbs
 1/4 teaspoon worcestershire sauce

What is the best way to save on meat? Serve smaller amounts and round the meal out with several vegetables.

When you come to consult figures on meat consumption you will realize that a great many of us actually overdo the eating on meat and take it easy on the vegetables.

Now that the former is high in price and will be scarce, if reports are true, plan to include more vegetables in your meals. Here are some very satisfying dishes which you will be wise to try. There's enough meat to satisfy the hungry and those with a taste for it, but there are also dishes which are budget-wise.

Seamstress Cuts Police Uniforms And Tax Outlay

CHARLESTON, W. VA.—With her fast flying sewing machine, Mrs. Adiana Summers is saving money for West Virginia taxpayers. Her job is to alter and make over uniforms worn by state police officers.

Each trooper before going on duty receives $226.65 worth of clothing, including a number of articles discarded by older policemen. Mrs. Summers alters these leftovers to fit their new owners, at the same time checking to see that they are completely equipped with the buttons considered so essential to a smart looking officer.

Mrs. Summers, who worked as a machinist in an industrial plant during the war, admits that her job is sometimes tedious and exacting, but insists that she prefers it to that of a secretary, taking shorthand notes or pounding the keys of a typewriter.

How well she is doing her job is shown in Capt. Harry C. Meyers' estimate that during a six-month period alterations and mending of uniforms saved West Virginia taxpayers approximately $2,000.

Farm Income Tax

To run a farm, you have to spend money and when income tax time rolls around, many of these expenses are deductible.

Such as: Cost of small tools of short life, shovels, rakes, etc.; purchase cost of feed for raising livestock, wages paid, outlays of cash for food and lodging of employees (including electric light, laundry, housekeeping service).

Also deductible are taxes on farm property, or equipment, cost of fertilizer, transportation, packing by the farm buildings, stationary and office expenses necessary for farm operation.

And, depreciation on farm buildings, entire operating costs for trucks and cars when used only for business.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR SOIL TILLERS CAUTION REQUIRED

More than the usual number of places are available for young men to get started in farming in 1948, states Prof. C. A. Bratton of Illinois. Many farmers are ready to turn their farms over to younger men, or are looking for men to work for wages on a profit-sharing basis. Farming in the years ahead will provide a good living for the young man who is well trained, properly financed, and located on good land. Education and experience will be even more important for farming in the future than it has been in the past.

Starting farming in a period of inflated prices requires caution. Unusually high prices for livestock and machinery and high land values make it important to start without heavy indebtedness. Working as a hired man in a farm partnership, or share renting are ways a young man with limited capital can become established without a heavy debt load.

Farm land values in New York State reached a peak early in 1947, which was above the high point of 1920. Land values declined slightly late in the year, but are not expected to decline much in the next few years.

The New York State Highway Users Conference, in a letter, urged that the $140,000,000 income from motor vehicle taxation be all used for highway betterment rather than increased taxes be passed on gaso line.

The Lewis county board sent resolutions asking for a better definition of responsibility for state highway development with related information received from the State Highway Association for the third meeting that $700 be made available for its work in 1948. Already, in November, $500, the same sum as for some years past, had been put into the annual budget.

Several annual reports of county departments are expected at the session of Thursday, January 15, to which the date the board adjourned.

THREE-CO. TEST OF STATE LIBRARY PLAN CONSIDERED

The district of Allegany, Cattaraugus and Chautauqua counties, with Olean its headquarters, may be selected for a three-year experiment in a state plan for library development.

Proposed for improving public library services calls for establishment of 15 regional libraries, one of which will have its headquarters at Olean to serve the three counties. It is understood the district is being seriously considered for the experiment to precede the carrying out of the full plan.

The regional libraries, according to report by the State Education Department at Albany, will be supported by the state but will

A report on the progress made in by the New York Telephone Company

To all telephone users:

Because telephone service is important to you, we believe you will be interested in this report of our activities in 1947.

During 1947 telephone people were mighty busy. They were working at record speed filling backed-up orders for telephones. We wish we could tell you that all applicants now have the telephones they have been waiting for. Although we haven't as yet achieved this objective, we can say this: Last year we put in more telephones and installed more equipment than ever before in our history. This rapid progress is continuing in 1948, and we hope that all those now waiting for service will have telephones by the end of this year.

Furthermore, the number of telephone calls we handled reached new high levels, and we are glad to report that most of them went through without difficulty. Our expansion program, involving the expenditure of large sums of money, enabled us to improve service as the year progressed.

We wish to thank you for your understanding and cooperation as we move toward our goal of providing everyone with telephone service when he wants it...and making the speed and quality of that service better than ever.

President

Construction of new exchange buildings is well advanced

Unusually high prices for livestock and machinery and high land values make it important to start without heavy indebtedness. Working as a hired man in a farm partnership, or share renting are ways a young man with limited capital can become established without a heavy debt load.

Farm land values in New York State reached a peak early in 1947, which was above the high point of 1920. Land values declined slightly late in the year, but are not expected to decline much in the next few years.

Beware of farms in areas where many have been abandoned. Some of these farms appear to be giving a fair income during the present period of high prices, but in the years ahead they won't be able to compete successfully with farms on more productive land.

Proper financing is important for the young man buying land or livestock and equipment in 1948. Credit will be plentiful and easy to obtain. Debts, however, will be more difficult to pay off in the future than during the war years.

Therefore, borrow conservatively—and not in excess of 60 per cent of the value of the land, livestock and equipment. Plan loan repayment programs on the basis of lower net farm incomes, and have mortgages on a long-term basis. Pay off debts as fast as possible.

Miss Marie Grace McCarthy of Friendship and Leslie Smith of Buffalo were married recently.

The Union National Bank of Friendship has issued handsome 1948 calendars to customers in commemoration of its 30th anniversary.

PLAN CONSIDERED

The district of Allegany, Cattaraugus and Chautauque counties, with Olean its headquarters, may be selected for a three-year experiment in a state plan for library development.

Proposed for improving public library services calls for establishment of 15 regional libraries, one of which will have its headquarters at Olean to serve the three counties. It is understood the district is being seriously considered for the experiment to precede the carrying out of the full plan.

The regional libraries, according to report by the State Education Department at Albany, will be supported chiefly by the state but will place authority and responsibility with local communities. If provided, the service will supplement and strengthen, but not supplant existing library service.

The Board of Regents of New York recently approved the establishment of regional library service in one region as an experiment. If Olean is selected, the headquarters will not be in the Olean Public Library but in another building, with book trucks moving it throughout the three counties.

The station building of the former Pittsburgh, Shawmut & Northern Railroad, on South Union street, is believed ideal headquarters.

$5.29 Is Forecast For Dec. Milk Deliveries

prices to be maintained for some time. Although we have not yet achieved this objective, we can say this: Last year we had more telephones and installed more equipment than ever before in our history. This rapid progress is continuing in 1948, and we hope that all those now waiting for service will have telephones by the end of this year.

$155,000,000 was spent to expand and improve service. This is almost double in size and spent in 1946, and far more than in any previous year. Our construction program for 1948 calls for expenditures of about $170,000,000. (The photograph shows a small part of one of the 40 new central office buildings being built.)

The receivers of the Pittsburgh, Shawmut & Northern Railroad, which became defunct in March of last year, have been awarded compensation totaling $110,000 in federal court at Pittsburgh.

that the producer bottling differential would be 43 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

The Administrator said the uniform price forecast is based on an estimated production for the month of 348 million pounds. This would mean an average daily output of 247 pounds by the estimated 48,200 producers.

Handlers must submit reports to the Administrators on the use made of their milk receipts for December not later than January 10. Using these reports, Dr. Blanford will compute and announce the actual uniform price and butterfat differential for December not later than January 14. Handlers must then make payments to their producers not later than January 25.

Farm Income Tax

To run a farm, you have to spend money and when income tax time rolls around, many of these expenses are deductible.

Such as: Cost of small tools of short life, shovels, rakes, etc.; purchase cost of feed for raising livestock, wages paid, outlays of cash for food and lodging of employees (including electric light, laundry, housekeeping service).

Also deductible are taxes on farm property, or equipment, cost of fertilizer, transportation, packing costs, insurance on farm and farm buildings, stationery and office expenses necessary for farm operation.

And, depreciation on farm buildings, entire operating costs for trucks and cars when used only for business.

Government Pays Costs For Burial of War Vets

Letters of inquiry received at the Schenectady Distribution Center for the American Graves Registration Service indicate that misunderstandings exist regarding the amount of expense to be paid by the government for the interment serviceman's body to the place designated by next of kin and will allow up to $75 to cover actual interment expenses. The latter may include, but is not limited to, payment for hearse hire, church services, obituary notices, services of a funeral director and transportation to and from the cemetery.

It is explained that where the body is moved by motor hearse within a 40-mile radius of distribution center delivery will be made at government expense direct to the home or to the designated funeral director. Where the body is moved by rail transportation, however, hearse hire from the station is part of the interment expenses borne by the family, but these expenses may be defrayed from the government allowance.

When next of kin request burial in a national or post cemetery, the government arranges for transportation direct to the cemetery and for burial services which will consist of military honors, religious services, and actual interment of remains. No additional allowance to the family is authorized in the case of burials in a national or post cemetery.

When next of kin of their own volition request the body delivered to the home first, prior to burial in a national cemetery, the government will assume all expenses for transporting the body to the home, but subsequent transportation and agreed to deliver the remains from Distribution Center to the national or post cemetery and these expenses are included in the original plan.

If the expenses to the government of transporting remains from Distribution Center to the national or post cemetery are greater than the costs for transporting the body to the home, then the family is entitled to this difference in costs.

To all telephone users:

Because telephone service is important to you, we believe you will be interested in this report of our activities in 1947.

During 1947 telephone people were mighty busy. They were working at record speed filling backed-up orders for tele- phones. We wish we could tell you that all applicants now have the telephones they have been waiting for. Although we haven't entirely achieved this objective, we can say this: Last year we got in more telephones and installed more equipment than ever before in our history. This rapid pro- gress is continuing in 1948, and we hope that all those now waiting for service will have telephones by the end of this year.

Furthermore, the number of telephone calls we handled reached new high levels, and we are glad to report that most of them went through without difficulty. Our expansion program, in- volving the expenditure of large sums of money, enabled us to improve service as the year progressed.

We wish to thank you for your understanding and cooperation as we move toward our goal of providing everyone with tele- phone service when he wants it...and making the speed and quality of that service better than ever.

Record number of phones installed. The year's increase was 415,000, a new high. Although new applications for telephone service kept pouring in, we were able to reduce the waiting list from 436,000 to 276,000 during the year.

Our manufacturing and supply unit, the Western Electric Company, turned out switchboards, cables and other com- plicated apparatus in tremendous volume. 1,000,000 miles of wire in new cables were placed in service so that more telephones could be connected.

THREE-CO. TEST OF STATE LIBRARY PLAN CONSIDERED

The district of Allegany, Cattaraugus and Chautauque counties, may with Otsego be selected for a three-year experiment in a state plan for library development.

Proposed for improving public library services calls for establishment of 13 regional libraries, one of which will have its headquarters at Otsego to serve the three counties. It is understood the district is being seriously considered for the experiment to precede the carrying out of the full plan.

The regional libraries, according to report by the State Education Department at Albany, will be supervised chiefly by the state but will place authority and responsibility with local communities. If approved, the service will supplement and strengthen, but not supplant existing library services.

The Board of Regents of New York recently approved the establishment of regional library service in one region as an experiment. If Otsego is selected, the headquarters will not be in another building. Library but in another building. with book trucks moving it throughout the three counties.

The station building of the former Pittsburgh, Shawmut & Northern Railroad, on South Union street, is believed ideal headquarters.

Seal Sale Opens

Members of Allegany County will receive checks of 1947 Christmas Seals in their mail on Monday, Nov. 18. The seals, which were prepared by the Seal Sales Commission, are being distributed to the county by the State Department of Health and Public Health, the State Seal Sales Commission, and the State Seal Sales Commission.

The goal of the campaign is $6,700, the minimum needed, according to Mrs. Stout, to carry on the work of the association during the coming year.

Of the money raised in this county, 50 per cent will be used within the county to fight tuberculosis while the remainder will be forwarded to the State Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health. The state committee will send 65 to the State Seal Sales Commission, and will use the remainder for state services. Thus, of the total raised in our Seal Sale, 50 per cent will be used within the state.

In Allegany County, Mrs. Stout said, the first Seal Sale was held in 1925. Since then, she continued, Christmas Seal Funds have enabled the county associations to wage an increasingly effective campaign to eradicate tuberculosis.

Christmas Seal funds make this program possible in Allegany County. The Seal Sales Commission, Mrs. Stout, said, has been successful in carrying on and other programs of health services. Mrs. Stout said, "The earlier Allegany County residents recognized that Seals, the minimum amount

Owen Francis Duffy

The death of Owen Francis Duffy, resident of Angelica for the past 15 years, occurred Tuesday morning at the Veterans' Hospital at Duffin, following a long illness. Mr. Duffy was born at Wellsville on August 18, 1892, the son of Owen and Anna Dempsey Duffy.

Surviving are his wife, Catherine Rockwell Duffy, Mary and Angela Rita of Hornell, Jack, Owen Jr., home; three sons, Jack, Owen Jr., and James at home. Also surviving are four brothers, James, Patrick, Bernard and John Duffy, and one sister, Catherine Duffy, all of Wellsville.

Funeral services will be held at Sacred Heart Church, Angelica, at 10:00 o'clock Friday morning, November 21st. Rev. Daniel F. McCann, Pastor, will be celebrant of the Requiem Mass. Interment will be in Sacred Heart Cemetery, Wellsville.

Mr. Duffy was a member of the Holy Name Society of Sacred Heart Church, and Hill-Warner Post No. 414 American Legion. He was a veteran of World War I, having served one year and eight months in the armed forces. He was the holder of the Purple Heart, Distinguished Service Cross and Citation signed by Commander-in-Chief John J. Pershing and a Presidential Citation, given for bravery under fire at St. Juerin, France, in the rescue of a comrad and commanding officer. Military services will be in charge of the local Hill-Warner Post No. 414.

Legionnaires Win

The local quintet came from Belmont in the last quarter to beat out Post Legion Five 4-1 Tuesday evening on the local court, marking the third win in as many league games.

Handcapped by loss of Skip Felder throughout the first half, due to an injured ankle, his entrance helped change the picture, and the team came through.

However, the local Vets face a tough aggregation this Saturday when they play at Cubs. Ad-Ad-Bernard and John Duffy and one of the formidable bunch with several ex-college players which definitely stamps them of championship caliber.

Next Tuesday night Scio Post plays here and that's sure to be a close game as Scio recently beat Whitesville — which serves as a warning of itself.

Having topped Wellsville, Whitesville and Belmont for three in a row, the locals are dead set on continuing their winning ways—let's turn out and help them rack up another in the win column.

The second monthly meeting of the recently organized P.T.A. in connection with Angelica Central School was well attended. The meeting was called to order by the president Mrs. Lee Dodge.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary Mrs. Frank Coombes, and other routine business was conducted.

Mrs. Joseph Warner was the first speaker. Her topic was "to belong or not to belong to the state and national organizations". After listing the advantages of having a part in the larger group, Mrs. Warner closed by saying whatever the decision of the local organization, the close cooperation of teachers and parents would prove to be an advantage either case. The vote was taken the result was 45 in favor of the national organization against.

Mrs. Stout "wells out plans for a healthier community in 1948." "Great progress has been made in the conquest of tuberculosis," said Mrs. Stout, "but there is much work yet to be done before this enemy is finally conquered. We cannot afford to relax our efforts until we have attained final victory over tuberculosis. We must continue to be generous in our purchase of Christmas Seals in order that our tuberculosis association may continue its work in our behalf."

Grange News

The local Grange met last Saturday evening following a seven o'clock supper, served by Mrs. Hester Isaman, Mrs. Myrtle Lytle and Mrs. Bernice Hall.

Mrs. Dorothy Chaffee declined her election as lecturer, Mrs. Bernice Hall was elected but she also declined. The installation will occur at the next regular meeting, November 29th. The officers of Enterprize Grange, West Almond, will join with the local group in this installation ceremony. Walter Lytle will be the installing officer. A short program

A very interesting and dynamic speaker, Mr. Fuller traveled, just before the war, in 17 different European and Asiatic countries. The experiences and travels in the Holy Land are used often in his messages to make Bible personalities and truths live. Because of a deep interest and conviction, he has over 150,000 boys. For the past six years he was president of the Highland Lake Bible Conference located in the beautiful Catskill Mountains of New York.

The music for these meetings is under the able leadership of Dick Krueger, song leader and Merrill Dence, pianist. These two young men are recent graduates of the Practical Bible Training School, Binghamton, and have traveled in Gospel team work during the years of theological training. They have been associated with Mr. Fuller in his work at different times for over 2 1/2 years. Mr. Dence, the son of a Baptist minister, comes from Corinth and beside the piano plays an accordion and trombone. Many instrumental and vocal numbers will be given nightly by this musical team.

The meetings are under the auspices of the "Christ For America", a nationwide fellowship of associated evangelists. These meetings are open to the public, and Rev. John Phillips, pastor of the Church, extends a cordial invitation to everyone to attend.
